GOVERNORS GET HOOVER PLAN ON DROUGHT TODAY

Conference to Decide on Relief.

Vegetables Plentiful

A survey of the Chicago area yesterday showed that there is no shortage of fruits and vegetables as a result of the drought, and therefore price increases will not be justified. Details on page 7.

Washington, D. C. Aug. 13.—[Special.]—President Hoover today will host governors of the most seriously affected states in a conference to determine upon measures for drought relief, and to this meeting will be presented the government's program, determined under the active leadership of the President.

Two of the governors, Harry S. Leslie of Indiana and Henry S. Caulfield of Missouri, arrived in Washington during the day, and the others, seven in all, were expected late tonight and tomorrow morning. Gov. Flem D. Sampson of Kentucky will be the only one missing. He has designated Senator J. M. Robsion [Rep., Ky.] as his representative.

Will Present His Program.

At a round table meeting tomorrow afternoon Mr. Hoover will lay before the chief executives a suggested relief program, upon which he has been laboring for nearly a week. Its principal features are anticipated as the setup of federal, state, and county organizations through which financial aid may be extended to farmers whose crops and pastures have been destroyed by the prolonged dry spell, together with arrangements for emergency means of preventing human suffering.

Profiteering Protests Heard.

While the details of the conference plans were being wound up at the White House attention centered today upon a scare over alleged profiteering by middlemen upon foodstuffs as a result of the drought and demands that the government take a hand to stop it.

Representative F. L. La Guardia [Rep., N. Y.] became the central figure in the agitation over profiteering when he called upon President Hoover and Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde and informed them that food prices in New York have risen "from 10 to 15 per cent." La Guardia proposed that the department of agriculture issue a daily statement of commodities moved into New York and the farm prices paid, declaring that consumers could then protect themselves.

No U. S. Action Now.

The President, La Guardia said, approved the price publicity suggestion, but it was stated at the White House later that, although Mr. Hoover would deplore any profiteering, he does not consider the situation so serious as to warrant drastic government action at this time.

Secretary Hyde informed the New York representative that full information regarding farm commodity movements is now available at his department and open to the public.

"There is no cause for alarm over a food shortage," Mr. Hyde said. "There will be a diminished supply of certain commodities, such as fresh vegetables, and advanced prices in certain localities. These will be justified.

Says Farmers Are Not Guilty.

"No profiteering will be done by the farmer, however. He doesn't know the meaning of the word. But when his live stock feed and truck gardens are wiped out he must have more money for what he sells, and that will be reflected in the retail prices. That is not profiteering. If there is any price gouging, it will be by the middlemen, and, of course, the government would do what it could—which, I am afraid, is little—to prevent that."

Reports from several cities reaching here indicated that housewives, frightened by the drought situation, are rushing to their grocers and stocking their kitchens with canned goods in anticipation of higher prices. This in itself may cause a considerable price boost, it was pointed out.

Although it aroused little official excitement today, the profiteering report probably will be discussed at the governors' conference tomorrow and possibly will bring forth an official White House statement.

Meet in White House.

The governors will formally assemble at 2:30 p. m. in the cabinet room at the White House. Present, in addition to the President and the state executives, will be Secretary Hyde, Paul Bestor, commissioner of the

Gunman Vallo Slain from Ambush

BODY RIDDLED WITH GUN SLUGS IN NILES CENTER

2 Shot Near Moran's St. Paul Haunt.

Danny Vallo, notorious gunman, once affiliated with the Gennas, later with Al Capone, and a suspect in the Moran gang massacre, was shot to death from ambush last night in the business section of Niles Center. He had just parked his car near the café of Charles Landerer in Lincoln avenue, south of Oakton street. Two men, who had been lying in wait in a bed of weeds, riddled his head and body with forty slugs from sawedoff shotguns.

While police were investigating to ascertain whether Vallo's killing indicated a new outbreak in the booze and gang warfare, word was received from St. Paul that a man at first believed to be a Chicago gangster had been found murdered on a lonely road leading to Wildwood amusement park, on White Bear lake, north of St. Paul. Another man, critically wounded, was picked up within fifty feet of him. White Bear is known as a haunt of Bugs Moran.

Vallo Accompanied by Girl.

Vallo, who of late was said to have transferred his allegiance to the Zuta-Moran-Aiello gang, had been motoring about the northwest suburban section all last evening with a young woman describing herself as Miss Vera Wallace of Hot Springs, Ark.

The young woman said she was Vallo's fiancée and knew nothing of his racketeering operations. They had started on their drive from the home of Vallo's sister, Mrs. Viola Burke, 2248 Farwell avenue, she said. She told of Vallo having called a Franklin Park telephone number three times from his sister's apartment. After the last call he said he was going to meet a man in Franklin Park.

Stop at Cafée to Phone.

However, they did not go to Franklin Park. They went to Nile Center, where Vallo stopped at Landerer's café and again telephoned the Franklin Park number. He came out, walked over to the car, where Miss Wallace had remained, and asked her to come in and have a sandwich. She was just stepping to the sidewalk when two men suddenly rose up from the patch of weeds in a vacant lot nearby and opened fire on Vallo at a distance of 15 feet. He fell to the sidewalk unconscious, dying an hour later at the St. Francis hospital.

The police believe he was "put on the spot" through the telephone talk, and are checking the calls he made to Franklin Park. Apparently his killers had waited some time to get him, for witnesses said the car they were seen to drive away in, had been parked near the café for a week. The theory was partly confirmed by his sister, Mrs. Burke. Arriving at St. Francis hospital she became hysterical and cried: "The rats; they had to shoot him in the back. I know——"

Quieted by Husband.

Then her husband, Paul Burke, quieted her. She refused to explain her outburst to the police.

"He didn't have time to draw his revolver," Miss Wallace said. "Vallo had the revolver in his right coat pocket. He told me he carried it for

Police Pledge Aid to Lyle in War on Gangs

Municipal Judge John H. Lyle yesterday enlarged the scope of his campaign against gangsters by recommending to five police captains of north side districts that they engage in a special roundup of the twenty-six surviving public enemies listed by Frank J. Loesch, president of the Chicago crime commission.

These gangsters should always be arrested on sight, Judge Lyle said. He also asked that the police bring before him Peter Von Frantzius, sporting goods dealer. Guns alleged to have been sold by Von Frantzius were used in the Moran gang massacre, the Uale killing and the Lingle slaying.

Care should be taken to keep the campaign within the law, so that action by municipal judges will be upheld if appeals are taken, said Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Municipal court. He pointed out that Acting Police Commissioner Alcock was working upon a program to prosecute Chicago gangsters for vagrancy.

Judge Lyle Tells His Program.

Judge Lyle outlined his plans at a conference with Capts. Patrick Harding, Thomas Duffy, Max Danner, Hugh McCarthy and Martin O'Malley. He told them he would give them the utmost coöperation in ridding their districts of hoodlums and racketeers. The police captains replied with promises to do all in their power to assist in the cleanup.

"I want you to go out," Judge Lyle said, "and arrest every well known criminal character you can find. Throw them in jail. That will bring a flock of criminal lawyers into court. If these lawyers try to make monkeys out of the court I'll throw them in jail, too.

"The public has an idea that judges are technical. Bring the prisoners before me and they will not be turned out. You have not had the proper support of the judiciary. I will take the responsibility. If necessary I will lay my decisions in the lap of the Appellate and Supreme courts.

Not Afraid of Reversals.

"I will show you that the hoodlums can be thrown in cells. I am not afraid of being reversed by the higher courts. Bring in Peter Von Frantzius, the gun seller. He should be questioned.

"Go around to these big north shore hotels where these criminals have been lying about and loafing. Bring them all in. Get their records. Find out from the managers what hoodlums are living at their hotels under assumed names.

"The idea that men like Druggan and Lake should be living under the same roof with decent people is intolerable. Any time captains want to raid a place I'll issue the warrants. If I'm not on the bench you can get me at my home."

Chief Justice Olson's View.

After emphasizing that Acting Police Commissioner Alcock is engaged in assembling evidence to prosecute notorious gangsters for vagrancy, Chief Justice Olson said:

"Judges must obey the laws the same as other citizens. There are ways to bring in gangsters and to prosecute them properly. It is is the duty of a judge to hear evidence and make decisions. He is not the state's attorney. He is not the police department.

"It is the judge's duty not to allow complaints to be filed in court when there is no evidence to support them. Wholesale arrests of innocent people on unfounded or no charges bring the police department and the courts into contempt. Every prisoner is entitled to a jury trial if he demands it. He is entitled to appeals."

HAWKS MAKES COAST TO COAST TRIP IN 12 HOURS

New York, Aug. 13.—[Special.]—Capt. Frank M. Hawks crossed the continent today from Los Angeles to Curtiss airport, Valley Stream, L. I., in 12 hours 25 minutes and 3 seconds, setting a new trans-continental record and lowering Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh's record made on Easter Sunday by 2 hours and 20 minutes.

His whirlwind powered Travelair plane maintained an average speed of more than 200 miles an hour. It was not only the fastest crossing of the United States ever made, but, so far as records show, no machine in the world has ever made such a distance in anything like the time.

Starts by Moonlight.

It was moonlight when the red and white Travelair monoplane left the runway at the Glendale airport, Los Angeles. The moon marked the flyer's path through the Cajon pass, and it slipped down behind the San Bernardinos as he sped across the Mojave desert. Ahead over The Needles the sky began to lighten, and above the Arizona plateau near Flagstaff he met the sun. He looked at it over his shoulder at Wichita, and it was still above the horizon when he shot down over the Long Island airport at four miles a minute. He had left Los Angeles at 6:16:27 a. m., New York time, and arrived at his goal at 6:41:30 p. m.

It was speed all the way. A second after he had waved his hand to the crowd in Los Angeles the low-wing Texaco 13 was rolling sixty miles an hour and five seconds later he was going ninety as the wheels left the ground. Out of Glendale the mountains rise abruptly and the pass itself reaches 4,000 feet within thirty miles. Hawks put his machine into a steep climb and threaded the pass between the mountains. As he shot out over the desert his air speed indicator showed more than three miles a minute and he was still climbing.

Weather Just Right.

With good weather reports, no wind and a beautifully clear sky the flyer sped on his way to his sixth transcontinental record. He pulled the transparent stream-lined cowling tight over his head and settled down to the race against time.

He flew into the morning over the national forest of Arizona. Down beneath him he could see the long freight trains crawling through the hills at twenty miles an hour, still in darkness. Along the horizon, ahead a cream yellow light spread from north to south. Flagstaff passed beneath just as the red sun cleared the ridges ahead.

At this time he hoped to pick up a little wind to help him, but there was no wind. Straight past Mount Taylor over the Navajo reservation the little red and white flyer flew and a few minutes later Hawks cut his gun and glided toward the landing field at Albuquerque, where mechanics were waiting ready to fuel and oil the plane. He struck the gray runway at a hundred miles and hour and pulled to a stop close by the hangar. He had come nearly 700 miles in 3 hours and 24 minutes.

Miles Between Sandwiches.

After a fifteen minute stop in which the flyer did not get out of the cockpit, he was off again, munching one of the sandwiches his mother had made up for him in Los Angeles.

"Then I began to make the real speed," he said last night as he sat on a locker in the pilot's room at Valley Stream and chewed on the second sandwich. "I picked up a thirty-four mile tall wind out of Albuquerque when I reached between 8,000 and 10,000 feet and then we started going to town."

Out of the desert across the tip of Texas, over the ranges and red wheat lands of northern Oklahoma he rode the wind and his engine down into Kansas and Wichita in 2 hours and 20 minutes, the fastest time in which that leg has ever been made. As the plane rolled to a stop again, close to

'COUNTRY CLUB' RAIDED; SEIZE GAMING LAYOUT

An elaborate gambling layout housed in a bungalow known as the Keystone Country club, in Thatcher road near North avenue, was raided late last night by state's attorney's policemen under Lieut. William Blaul. Eleven persons, two of them said to be patrons, were seized with the gambling machines, valued at more than $10,000.

The policemen approached the bungalow from the rear. As they approached their presence was detected by a lookout and a siren mounted on a post outside the door sounded a high pitched warning too late to save the gamblers.

Nine men, croupiers and dealers, were seized and two other men who declared themselves patrons were found in the room. Furnishings of the house, according to the police, were of rich rugs, soft lights, comfortably upholstered furniture. At the rear, evidently in justification of the name of the club, was an eighteen hole miniature golf course.

Five roulette wheels, blackjack layouts, and gilded chuck-a-luck cages were among the paraphernalia seized.

Helen Howell Held Up; Loses $1,400 Gems

Miss Helen Howell, 18 years old, subdebutante of Chicago society, who last May was presented to Queen Mary and the prince of Wales in Buckingham palace at London, was held up with her escort, William Fellowes, a young bond salesman, last night and robbed of jewels valued at $1,400.

Miss Howell is the daughter of Thomas Montgomery Howell of the Chicago Board of Trade. She and Fellowes were sitting in the latter's automobile in front of the Howell home at 2708 Lake View avenue when three men approached. All drew pistols and forced their way into the car.

"This is a robbery, so don't get excited or you might get hurt," one of the gunmen warned. "Just keep still and we'll take what we want."

Helps Robber Get Rings.

The second robber started to take two diamond rings from Miss Howell's fingers, while the third man removed $28 from Fellowes' pockets. But the robber who was trying to take Miss Howell's rings experienced difficulty.

"I saw he wasn't going to be able to take them off without scraping my fingers, so I helped him," Miss Howell said later. "I pulled them off and handed them to him. They were were worth $1,400.

"The robbers were very polite, and when I saw they really weren't going to hurt us I wasn't frightened. After they saw we didn't have any more money or jewels one of the men pushed Mr. Fellowes out of the driver's seat and one of the robbers drove us down in front of the Augustana hospital. There they said they wanted the car for a while. They made us get out and drove away."

Car Not Yet Found.

The robbers promised to leave the automobile in a near-by street, according to Fellowes, but it had not been found early this morning.

This is not Miss Howell's first exciting adventure. She participated in a furor in Lincoln park three years ago when she was thrown by her horse, which dashed riderless for nearly a mile through traffic in Lake Shore drive. Miss Howell is to make her debut in Chicago society this fall.

Fellowes, who lives at 3122 Sheridan road, is employed by the Kent, Grace & Co., Investment Securities, 208 South La Salle street.

KIDNAP A WIFE AS SHE WALKS WITH HUSBAND

While walking with her husband in Sedgwick street, near Sigel street, Mrs. Ingbord Wilbolt, 30 years old, 339 Starr street, was kidnaped last night by two men in an automobile.

The kidnapers stopped their car beside the Wilbolts, leaped out and struck Wilbolt on the head with revolvers, knocking him down. Mrs. Wilbolt was dragged into the car, which proceded north in Sedgwick street.

Wilbolt, a janitor, hurried to the Hudson avenue police station, where he gave a description of the men. Police squads were searching for the kidnapers' car early this morning. Wilbolt said he had been married two years. His wife, he said, came to Chicago from Denmark three months ago.

Buy Shoes Now, When They Are Cheapest

Strawberries can be had in January by those who can afford them. But in June—where's the family, be it ever so humble, that can't buy enough berries for one good case of rash? Everything in its proper season.

August is to shoes what June is to strawberries. It's the time when they are cheapest. In this last full month of summer the stores go through their stocks and find lines that are overstocked or that are to be discontinued. Prices are marked down to where they would appear ridiculous at other times. On certain sizes which have not sold well prices are cut low enough to be certain the excess is sold. And even on standard styles and new autumn stock the price cutting spirit frequently prevails. Offerings of Chicago shoe stores are unusually attractive right now. That's especially so since the new tariff may send up prices of shoes later.

the hangar and fuel supply, Capt. Hawks looked at his watch. Half way across the continent in 5 hours, 47 minutes and 11 seconds. He was already 52 minutes ahead of the Lindberghs' time.

Race Half Won.

Again there was a 15 minute stop and again the pilot sat in his plane. The race was half won.

Capt. Hawks crossed into Illinois at the junction of the Missouri and Mississippi rivers and left the last helping wind of the day behind. A tricky crosswind had taken the place of the westerlies and Hawks had to "crab" into it from the Mississippi east.

"It was hazy, too," he said. "After the clear air in the west I noticed the smoke and haze that was to spread like a blanket all the way to New York. From 8,000 feet the ground was just visible."

It was hard to believe that this bronzed, smiling man sitting there in an open neck white outing shirt and white linen knickers without a travel stain had come 2,510 miles in one round of the clock. He showed less fatigue and his clothes showed less wear than the average golfer back from eighteen holes.

As soon as he could after he landed, Hawks climbed down and his first words were: "Well, when do we eat."

Capt. Hawks will rest for a day or two and then supervise the grooming of his racer for the national air races which open in Chicago next week Saturday.

BREAK ENDURANCE RECORD

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 13.—(AP)—More than thirteen hours after breaking the world's sustained flight record, Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brine late tonight continued to circle leisurely over Lambert-St. Louis field. At 10:11 p. m. [C. S. T.] they had been in the air 567 hours. Their little plane, Greater St. Louis, apparently was functioning well. The record which Jackson and O'Brine this morning regained from the Hunter Brothers was slightly less than 554 hours.

The 126th contact with the refueling plane was made this afternoon delivering oil and gasoline. Approximately 5,120 gallons of gasoline and 225 gallons of oil have been poured into the Greater St. Louis since the flight started.

Crowds Cheer Flyers in Rain.

Soon after word had been spread that Red and Obie had recaptured the record congratulatory telegrams began to pour in.

A small crowd at the airport cheered lustily, standing in a driving rain to watch the Greater St. Louis sweep over the field. The downpour recalled the evening of July 31, last year, when Jackson and O'Brine landed at the same field after 420 hours in the air.

"The Voice of the Little Yellow and Orange Bungalow," short wave transmitter in the monoplane, was heard this afternoon for the first time since the pilots set their record. The voice, which was that of Jackson, said:

"Send up a new battery for the transmitter. You will be able to hear us much better then.

Obie Snores as Loud as Ever.

"We don't know whether we will be down tomorrow, next month, or next year. We could stay up till next August, I think. Obie (O'Brine) is sleeping again, and snoring as loud as he did last year. The rain is sure cooling us off.

"Too bad the folks down there got wet. Tell them not to sit around in the rain till we get down. We appreciated the demonstration more than we can tell you. We are flying at 2,400 feet, if you care to know, and the old engine wants to run away. I guess it's because it is on the home stretch."

Woman Flyer Breaks All Records for Barrel Rolls

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 13.—(AP)—Miss Laura Ingalls, holder of the woman's record for consecutive loops, broke both the man's and woman's records for barrel rolls here today. She landed at Lambert-St. Louis field tonight after completing 714 rolls, 297 more than made by Dale Jackson, who previously held the man's record, and 644 more than by Mrs. Betty Lund, who formerly held the record for women.

R-100 SAILS FOR HOME WITH ONE ENGINE DISABLED

Tail Winds Aid Giant to Make 80 Mile Clip.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, Montreal, Que., Aug. 13.—Twenty-eight minutes prior to scheduled departure time, the R-100, largest airship in the world, which arrived in Canada July 31 on her maiden journey across the Atlantic, pointed her nose homeward tonight. It was exactly 8:32 Chicago daylight time, and darkness had fallen.

The craft shot almost directly into the air. Her motors started with a roar. Making a large sweep around St. Hubert airport, her home for the last 14 days, the mighty dirigible made for Montreal, ten miles away, made a last graceful circle over the city and then swept eastward toward the Atlantic coast. At 9:50 p. m. Chicago daylight time, the dirigible had passed over Three Rivers, 95 miles distant.

Averages 80 Miles an Hour.

Just before 11 p. m., Chicago daylight time, the airship was flying speedily over Quebec, where on its westward trip it stopped in the air to make temporary repairs to its torn fabric. Upon reaching Quebec, the dirigible, counting the detour it made to circle over Montreal, had covered 200 miles. Allowing for the time required in getting up speed at the start this indicated that the airship was flying at a little more than 80 miles an hour.

Expects to Break Record.

The ship is going home with one engine crippled. Only five of the huge engines are being used on the return flight, but, even with one disabled, Commander Sir Dennistoun Burney, designer of the ship and on board as a passenger, believed that a record flight will be made. The best record of the Graf Zeppelin from the American coast to Frederichshafen is 56 hours and 24 minutes.

Aboard when she left were 15 passengers and a crew of 44. Nine men who travelled out on the dirigible were left behind to go back by liner from Montreal. They were replaced by airmen who had come out by liner to await the arrival of the airship.

Ten of the passengers were newspapermen, representing Canadian and British newspapers and services, the others being Group Capt. E. W. Stedman, chief aircraft engineer in the dominion department of national defense; Wing Commander L. J. Twisleton-Wykeham-Fiennes, air attaché at the British embassy in Washington, D. C.; C. Gordon Brown, chairman of the R-100 publicity committee at Montreal; Sir Dennistoun Burney, and A. Norway, engineer.

GERMAN BREAKS OWN RECORD IN GLIDER BY SOARING 97 MILES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GERSFELD, Germany, Aug. 13.—Robert Kronfeld, world champion "birdman," set a new world's record for distance gliding today, soaring from Wasserkuppe to Gersfeld. The distance covered was 97 to 100 miles. The official measurements have not yet been completed.

Kronfeld beat his own world's record by more than 33 miles. He flew the same machine he used last year, the Wein, which has a wingspread of 53½ feet. The flight lasted all afternoon, and Kronfeld maneuvered in a heavy gale between Wasserkuppe and Hof.

SPEED FLYERS ENTER PLANES IN FREE-FOR-ALL

Tiny 72 H. P. Craft to Compete.

BY ROBERT WOOD.

With the opening of the 1930 national air races only ten days away speed pilots yesterday began sending in their entries for the Thompson trophy race, a free for all contest for planes of unlimited horse power, which will be held at Curtiss airport during the plane racing meet to be staged here from Aug. 23 to Sept. 1.

Wide variety marked the first three entries. One of the planes will be propelled by a 425 horse power motor, another, a midget plane only 12 feet in length, is powered with a small 72 horse power engine.

Marine Corps Flyer Enters.

Capt. Arthur H. Page Jr. of the marine corps, winner of the Curtiss marine trophy race last May, was the first race pilot to telegraph his entry to Maj. R. W. Schroeder, director of events for the races.

For the Thompson race Capt. Page has entered a Curtiss Hawk with a water cooled V-type motor. Capt. Frank Hawks, the second entrant, will fly the Travelair low wing monoplane in which he flew yesterday from Los Angeles to New York, beating the existing records by two hours and 20 minutes. The third entry was the Popjoy Phantom, weighing only 355 pounds, which will be flown by Danny Fowlie of Marshall, Mo.

Race for Women Flyers.

The Mrs. Robert R. McCormick trophy race, an unlimited power speed contest for women pilots, is being accepted with interest among feminine flyers, according to messages received by Maj. Schroeder. The prize money for this race will be $2,500. A trophy also has been offered by Mrs. McCormick.

protection as against robbers. The two men seemed to know exactly who he was. They didn't hesitate.

"I have been in Chicago only two weeks. I had come to Chicago to see Danny because we had been engaged since last Christmas. I knew nothing about his business except that he said he was a salesman.

"He did make a lot of telephone calls, but I never paid any attention to what he talked about. Tonight while we were still at his sister's home he made those three calls to Franklin Park, and after the last one said he would have to go out there. He wanted me to go along, and I went.

"When the two men jumped up from the weeds and aimed their guns at him, I yelled at him, but he didn't have time to do anything, even if he heard me. They started shooting as soon as they appeared. It's a wonder I wasn't hit."

License Is Explained.

An automobile license in Vallo's pocket bore the name of Edward F. O'Brien, RFD No. 1, Genoa City, Wis., which is 60 miles from Delafield, where Jack Zuta was killed. Mr. O'Brien, reached by telephone, said he had sold his car six weeks ago to "an Italian fellow from Chicago," and that while he didn't remember the name he thought it was something like Vallo.

Vallo, 38 years old, lived at 1113 North Lawler avenue. He was active in Democratic ward politics on the west side, and his police record extended back to the days of Ed Ammunition Wheed, for whom he often drove a car. He was questioned in the $400,000 Polk street station mail robbery, for which Big Tim Murphy served a sentence in Leavenworth. He had been a suspect in many holdups and gang murders, but never convicted.

The St. Paul Killing.

In the killing near White Bear, Minn., Chicago police were interested because that vicinity has been said to be a hangout for Chicago gangsters. It has been rumored that George Bugs Moran, missing since early in June, has been in hiding there.

The bodies were discovered by Gen. W. F. Phinow, superintendent of the state bureau of criminal apprehension. He had started an investigation to determine just how many Chicago gangsters were infesting the resort. He was driving toward White Bear last night when he found an abandoned automobile. It had two bullet holes in the back.

Using a pocket flashlight, he began searching the roadway. The dead gangster was discovered close to the road, within ten feet of the car. He had been shot through the head. In his pocket was found a card with the name "K. C. Roberts, Kansas City, Mo."

According to an Associated Press dispatch, a cashier's check for $2,000, drawn on the Union Central Bank and Trust company of Chicago, was found in the pocket of the wounded man. It was payable to "A. Myers." In the dead man's pocket was found a list of three telephone numbers—Kenwood 5898, Kenwood 5740, and Kenwood 8459.

The car in which the victims were riding carried a Missouri license number, 383-711, and the records show it was issued to Frank Coleman in Kansas City.

To Review McGurn Gun Sentence.

Supreme Court Justice Frederic De Young issued a writ of supersedeas yesterday in the case of "Machine Gun Jack" McGurn, gangster who was sentenced to one year's imprisonment on a gun carrying charge. Bail was fixed at $10,000 pending a review of his trial by the Supreme court. McGurn was convicted by a jury in the court of Judge E. I. Frankhauser on June 25.

Attorney Frank McDonnell, representing Robert Emmettt Ryan, gangster who was sentenced by Judge Lyle to a year in the Bridewell, after Judge Lyle had denied Ryan bail, continuance, jury trial, or a change of venue, yesterday withdrew his application for a writ of habeas corpus before Judge Daniel P. Trude. Judge Trude had refused to release Ryan on bail pending the habeas corpus hearing on the validity of Judge Lyle's order. Attorney McDonnell notified Judge Trude he would appeal directly to the Appellate court.

BLAST WRECKS GROCERY; ROUTS FAMILY ABOVE

An explosion followed by fire early this morning blew out the front of the grocery store of A. Tribunella at 2955 Wentworth avenue and routed from their beds the family of William Coney, colored, who lived in a flat on the second floor of the two story frame building. After extinguishing the flames firemen were searching the debris in the store in an effort to determine whether Tribunella had been killed. He had rented the store two weeks ago and his residence address was not known in the neighborhood. The cause of the explosion was not determined. The damage was estimated at $5,000 by Chief Francis Burns of the 10th battalion.

GUNMEN SLAY ONTARIO RUM BARON'S WIFE

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 13.—(Special.)—Cut down by a rain of shotgun slugs, Mrs. Bessie Perri, wife of Ontario's king of the bootleggers, Rocco Perri, died in her husband's arms last night. The couple had just left their garage to enter the kitchen of their palatial home. Clad in white silk and heavily bejeweled, Mrs. Perri offered a perfect target for the three gunmen, but Rocco escaped injury. Police hold the slaying as the culmination of an underworld liquor vendetta, believing the Perris were put on the spot by gangsters. Perri declared robbery was the motive.

Clothing Now Offered Near Pre-War Prices

Back in 1912, brewing beer was a leading industry, a fellow made a record by flying to Milwaukee from Chicago, and $30 to $35 bought a suit of clothes fit for a dude. Came the war. Woolens and wages went up. And when Johnnie came marching home he found that it cost a small fortune to buy the civies he was so anxious to get back into. The government made statistics out of the ex-soldiers' experiences and reported that clothing prices were up 216 per cent.

Since then wearing apparel has been getting almost steadily cheaper. According to the government, a dollar now has the purchasing power at the clothing stores that $2.19 had at the peak in 1930. The breweries are gone, 80 miles is no kind of a flight record, but Chicago clothing stores are offering good suits that are right at the pre-war prices. And many is the day since ties, shirts and the miscellany of other things which the stores call haberdashery have been available at the prices now advertised.

FESTIVAL CROWD TO HEAR CHORUS OF 1,000 NEGROES

Spirituals Will Be Feature of Musical Event.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Any one who has ever heard a chorus of Negro singers in a group of spirituals has had the musical thrill of a lifetime.

One of the features of the great program of the Chicagoland Music festival, to be held a week from Saturday night at Soldiers' field, will be a chorus of 1,000 Negro singers of Chicago in a group of these fine, sincere, lovely expressions of their race.

The idea of appearing at the concert has taken hold with great enthusiasm. More than 650 colored singers answered the call for first rehearsal last Monday night, and the directors state that the number will be built up to 1,000 or more before next week. J. Wesley Jones, Edward J. Steiner, and James A. Mundy, three of the leading Negro musical directors of the country, will lead the gigantic chorus.

5,000 to Sing in Chorus.

This is just one high light in a vast program of high lights. The colored chorus will bear its share in another even more mammoth choral performance of the magnificent Hallelujah chorus from Handel's oratorio "The Messiah." In this work all races and all ages will participate, and the total of singers is expected to number 5,000 as they respond to the beat of the baton of Noble Cain.

Any one who has ever sung in "The Messiah," whether as present or past member of a choral organization, and members it with enough fondness to wish to sing the Hallelujah chorus again, is invited to join the Chicagoland Music Festival chorus and take part in this performance. The only reality necessary is to fill out the blank printed in the daily and Sunday issues of THE TRIBUNE and send it to the Music Festival editor. This will automatically enroll singer in the chorus, and notification of when and where to appear at Soldiers' field will be sent in due order. Bring your copy of "The Messiah" with you.

Milwaukee Group to Sing.

Another distinguished singing organization to take part in the music festival will be the Milwaukee Liederkranz. It is a veteran organization dating back to the year 1878, meeting in the old days on the property where the Milwaukee Auditorium stands at present, and now housed at Eleventh street and Juneau avenue.

One of its most notable achievements was the creation of the United Male choruses of Milwaukee and the presentation of a series of concerts for the benefit of the war sufferers of Germany and Austria. The conductor of the Liederkranz, Otto Singenberger, in that position for eighteen years and a recognized authority on choral singing, was largely instrumental in putting together the united choruses of 1,000 voices, and approximately $35,000 was netted by the concerts.

The present strength of the Liederkranz is seventy-five voices.

Two thousand lawyers of America and Great Britain, attending the convention of the American Bar association in Chicago next week, will be present at the concert. Among their number will be several ennobled high judges of the British bench.

THEATER CONTESTS

Bass soloists were in competition at the Tivoli and Paradise theaters last night in the Chicago semi-finals. At the Tivoli Robert E. Phillips, 4201 Drexel boulevard, took the first place in the opinion of judges and audience alike by his performance of "The Mighty Deep."

Mr. Phillips was born in Chester, Pa., and for two years was a student of music at De Pauw university. He was the Indiana winner in the Atwater Kent radio auditions, and this spring was a member of the Civic Opera company's light opera chorus. He is a real estate salesman. Carl Craven, Charles Lagourgue, and Alfred Cowen were the committee of judges.

Close Decision at Paradise.

At the Paradise, a close decision went to Guy Hamilton of 629 Barry avenue, the judges being in session over half an hour in the effort to balance his claims with those of a colored singer, Lewis V. White, 2247 Sawyer avenue. The decision was finally made that Mr. Hamilton's better stage presence weighed the scale on an almost complete equality of vocal ability between the two. He is an usher at the Chicago theater.

The judges were Mrs. Jessie Beers Buck, music teacher and soprano soloist of the Oak Park Methodist Episcopal church; Mrs. Caroline Encell, soloist of the First Church of Christ Scientist of Highland Park, and Mark Fisher, orchestra leader of the Paradise.

Sage

Russell Sage, the internationally famed philanthropist, had this to say: "Real estate is an imperishable asset, ever increasing in value. It is the most solid security that human integrity has devised. It is the basis of all security, and about the only indestructible security." Land is the basis of all wealth.

LINA BASQUETTE TRIES SUICIDE; IS DENIED HER BABY

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—Lina Basquette, who at the age of 22 has been movie star, danced in the Ziegfeld Follies, widow of one movie millionaire, Sam Warner, and wife of Peverall Marley, today was recovering from an attempt at suicide.

The actress swallowed poison early this morning. She was rushed to a hospital.

Police were informed Miss Basquette was grieving because she had not been allowed to see her 3 year old baby, Lina Basquette Warner, for a year, since signing an agreement by which the family of her estranged brother-in-law, Harry Warner, of the Warner Brothers Film company, is raising the child.

Marley visited his wife at the hospital, but declined to discuss possibility of a reconciliation. Miss Basquette is reported out of danger. She recently made a stage tour of the country.

BACCARAT STRIKE ENDS IN FRANCE; SKY'S THE LIMIT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 13.—After a two day strike in protest against the heavy cut taken by the government out of gamblers' profits, the baccarat tables at Deauville and Le Touquet reopened yesterday. The event was celebrated last night in an orgy of some of the wildest plunging ever seen in Deauville casino.

The strike, called by the Greek gambling syndicate, applied only to bacarat tables in the famous Salle Privee at Deauville, and chemin de fer and other smaller games continued. The gamblers complained that they were being ruined by the new government tax. This, combined with rainy weather, has thrown a pall of gloom over the usually glittering Normandy resorts, and the casinos report a sharp falling off of trade.

At Le Toquet business became so bad recently that the syndicate, after losing close to $1,000,000 in one week, stopped the play. At Juan-les-Pins on the Riviera the syndicate representatives went broke, whereupon Maj. Jack Coats, British millionaire, took over the big table and is taking all bets.

ADMITS FLYING BOMBING PLANE IN MINE ATTACK

Illinois Aviator Is Jailed; Bares Details.

Providence, Ky., Aug. 13.—(AP)—Essel Grant, 30, of Clay, Ky., and Ewing Riley, Providence, were arrested tonight by Webster county officers, who said they acted at the request of State's Attorney Fletcher Lewis, of Murphysboro, Ill.

The arrests followed word from Murphysboro that Paul Montgomery, aviator, arrested in connection with the bombing of coal mine properties at Providence, had confessed and implicated others. Both men denied knowledge of the bombing and that they knew Montgomery.

Murphysboro, Ill., Aug. 13.—(AP)—A confession by Paul Montgomery, 25, aviator, that he was hired by two or three men to pilot his airplane in a bombing raid over the Providence, Ky., coal field early Monday, and that one of the men accompanied him on the trip, was in the hands of department of justice and county authorities tonight.

State's Attorney Fletcher Lewis said Montgomery had named two men, but Fletcher withheld their names pending their arrest. Reports from other official sources were that three men had been implicated.

Tells of Death Threat.

Montgomery's story, according to Lewis, was that after he was hired to go on the bombing raid he was told he and members of his family would be killed if he did not carry it out. He said he received no money but was promised financial reward, the amount not being specified.

The state's attorney said Montgomery confessed that the dynamite bombs were made at the local airport by two men, one of whom took them in a sack and accompanied him when he took off for the 90 mile flight.

Plot Laid to Trouble.

Authorities said the bombing was plotted because of the trouble among miners in the Kentucky field.

Lewis said he was expecting officers here from Dixon, Ky., with papers for extradition of Montgomery to Kentucky. The prisoner was being held in jail.

Identification of Montgomery's airplane as the bombing ship led to his arrest and his confession.

Architects Will Review Building Code Revision

A committee of three architects was appointed yesterday by Robert C. Ostergren, president of the Illinois Society of Architects, to review the revision of Chicago's building code made by committees appointed by Building Commissioner Paschen three years ago. The architects named by Mr. Ostergren are Leon E. Stanhope, Victor A. Matteson, and Howard J. White.

YOU MAY HAVE 2 WIVES IN NEW JERSEY IF YOU KEEP IT QUIET 2 YEARS

New York, Aug. 13.—[Special.]—According to the prosecuter in Union county a man can have two wives in New Jersey if he can keep it quiet for two years. The law can't do anything about it, it was brought out today in the case of George E. Davis, 24, and Davis was saved from going to jail for bigamy.

It seems Davis, who lives in Springfield, N. J., had one wife in a house in Meckes street there and another in a house across the street.

The second one gave him two children before she found out about the other wife. Then she charged him with bigamy. Prosecutor Abe J. Davis admitted in Elizabeth that he couldn't add to the man's punishment because the statute of limitations runs on bigamy too, and after two years with two wives a man is immune from prosecution.

Davis was arrested, however, on a charge of nonsupport and went to jail anyway when he could not post a $1,000 bond.

141 MILLIONS IN NEW YORK SCHOOL BUDGET FOR 1931

New York, Aug. 13.—[Special.]—The largest school budget in the history of the city, calling for an expenditure of $141,296,636 in 1931, was adopted by the board of education today in the form of a proposed departmental estimate subject to the approval of the board of estimate. The budgetary estimate represents an increase of $4,383,079 over this year's.

Debts, service expenditures, and expenses incurred by other city departments for various school purposes will bring the total cost of elementary and secondary education in 1931 to more than $175,625,000, a record figure.

TRACKS FOUND ILLEGALLY ON 31 STREETS, ALLEYS

Survey Shows Status of Western Indiana.

An investigation of the right of way of the Chicago & Western Indiana railway by the city map bureau yesterday disclosed that its tracks illegally occupy 31 city streets and alleys in the territory between 95th and 130th streets. Approximately 3,400 feet of trackage is unlawfully on city property, according to the survey.

The report was made at the request of Ald. William A. Rowan [10th] who has urged the railroad officials to complete a grade separation at 95th street. He interpreted the report to mean that the railroad maintains its tracks on city property without any specific ordinance grant and without paying compensation to the city.

Improvements Blocked, He Says.

"The railroad has always stood on its legal rights and has blocked improvements in my ward," said Ald. Rowan. "I determined to see what their legal rights are in the Tenth ward and found that they have none apparently in eleven streets and twenty alleys.

"At 95th street just west of Stony Island avenue the railroad is in default on its grade separation project. The work was started once, and then stopped, forcing motorists to make a rough detour at grade over the tracks on private property. The street is heavily traveled and a subway should be provided immediately.

"Nearly the same situation exists a few blocks farther south at 103d street. There is no ordinance compelling the railroad to provide a grade separation there, but the tracks run on an elevation that effectually blocks 103d street, although the courts have declared the street to be open."

Plan Action Today.

Ald. Rowan is expected to turn his information over to Commissioner of Public Works Wolfe today at a conference in the latter's office to be attended by representatives of a number of south side civic organizations and prominent men who have large real estate holdings in the near south side terminal district. Commissioner Wolfe will be asked at the meeting to demand immediate action by the railroad on Wolfe's notice ordering the railroad's tracks torn up from the Plymouth court and Taylor street intersection.

The ordinance granting the railroad the privilege of maintaining its tracks in those two streets expired in 1920. The continued maintenance of these tracks, William A. Dudley and William J. Maresch, secretaries of south side organizations, charge, will hamper the city in carrying out plans for widening and opening those streets.

G. O. P. LEADER IN NEW YORK STATE SHIFTS TO WET

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—Eberle Hutchinson, one of the most prominent Republican members of the assembly, revealed today his shift from the dry to the wet side of the current discussion of prohibition within the party. His action was asserted by the wets to be indicative of a general trend throughout the upstate regions, hitherto almost solidly dry.

Hutchinson, chairman of the ways and means committee, disclosed he now favored a modification of present prohibition laws.

SUBWAY PLANS SLOWED UP BY LEGAL TANGLE

Await Ettelson Opinion on Council Methods.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The preparation of subway plans for Chicago has reached the point where it may slow down or stop any day. Bills have not been paid, salaries have not been met and other expenditures are being held up. To help the employés and maintain the morale of the city council's subway staff, Chief Engineer R. F. Kelker personally borrowed $10,000 to meet the first pay roll, but the time for payment of another is close at hand and no money has been provided.

The method of procedure in starting the subway plans is the question which applied the brakes. City Controller Schmidt has asked the law department whether he may legally pay out money under the council's action appropriating $500,000 and appointing the engineers to start subway activities.

Call for Ettelson Opinion.

Ald. Joseph B. McDonough, chairman of the council transportation committee, yesterday was seeking the delivery of the opinion. Chief Special Counsel Walter L. Fisher and Attorney Allan I. Gilbert of the subway staff have appealed also to Mr. Ettelson for his expression. It is said that they desire to present arguments and precedents to show that the council action was legal, but Mr. Ettelson has not yet heard them. Chief Engineer Kelker is reported to have conferred at length with Mr. Ettelson's assistants last Saturday.

According to reports Mr. Ettelson's subordinates are inclined to question the legality of the council action. First, they have pointed out that the council action should have been by ordinance instead of resolution. Second, they question the legality of expenditures by the city council for any purpose other than for informing itself upon or preparing legislation.

Thus the city's lawyers question whether the council local transportation committee can expend money for the preparation of subway plans.

Previous Opinion Recalled.

It was reported that these assistant corporation counsels believe it would be legal for the board of local improvements to prepare the plans. It was recalled that before the referendum on the transportation franchise July 1 it was stated that President Michael J. Faherty of the board of local improvements had agreed that the council transit committee might prepare the plans. Faherty obtained an opinion from Ettelson that it would be legal for the local improvements board to accept the plans as drafted by aldermanic authority and adopt such parts or all of them as the board saw fit.

Other Engineers Appointed.

Accordingly, the city council has appointed Robert Ridgway of New York to be chief consulting engineer at $2,500 a month in the preparation of plans and specifications. Kelker has been employed at $100 a day as chief engineer in immediate charge, and George M. Wisner, Edward J. Noonan, David A. Wallace and George C. Lenth have been hired at $1,500 a month each as a board of advisory engineers. In addition a staff of more than 30 engineers has been employed in designing.

Mr. Fisher has been engaged by the committee at $5,000 a month and Gilbert, George A. Mason, and Joseph J. Sullivan at smaller sums as attorneys to aid the committee.

The city traction fund contains more than $60,000,000 available for building subways and the last general assembly passed special enabling legislation to permit Chicago to proceed. Now it is rumored that the city law department is likely to hold that the city has not gone about the matter in a legal manner.

"I do not see why Mr. Ettelson does not say whether our action is legal or illegal," commented Ald. McDonough. "I'm as anxious now to get the construction started as I was before the referendum. Chicago's unemployed need the work and its residents need the transportation.

"If there is some legal defect in the council action, which lawyers prepared, I favor a special meeting of the city council to correct the defect. I cannot seeany reason for this delay.

"The city controller will not pay out any money until his question is answered. That slows down progress. It would be unfair to ask Maj. Kelker to go out and borrow another $10,000 on his personal note. How can we incur liabilities when a question has been raised, and unanswered, regarding the appropriation or method of appointment, although the lawyers for the committee believe that the council action was valid?"

Delay Starts Rumors Going.

Several rumors are afloat regarding the delay, but no one could be found who claimed to have any definite information. One political opponent of Mayor Thompson "surmised" that he desires the starting of subway construction delayed until nearer the mayoralty contest next spring, rather than before the county election in November. Another story was to the effect that the administration desires to control the subway planning, rather than have it done by the aldermen. Still another view is that Mr. Ettelson wants to be certain that the start is made in a legal fashion.

Ald. McDonough said last night that he will confer with other councilmen today in an effort to speed things up. He favors the calling of a special council meeting, hoping in the meantime that Corporation Ettelson will give his opinion.

In 1916 and 1917 the traction and subway commission spent a large amount of money collecting data and information and recommending a transportation plan, which was later embodied into an ordinance. A little later Mayor Thompson appointed a commission which recommended the mayor's district plan and a five cent fare. On that also thousands of dollars were spent. No one questioned the legality of thesee expenditures, although there were criticisms of the recommendations made.

It is contended by the aldermen that these plans were much like the present organization on subway construction.

It is the view of Ald. McDonough's committeemen that they have every right to prepare plans for a subway, because they are obligated to prepare and pass a subway ordinance.

POLICE SQUADS PROVE EFFICIENCY OF RADIO IN FIGHTING CRIME

Seventeen police squads in automobiles equipped with radio receivers yesterday coöperated in a test of the new police radio broadcast station on the order of Acting Police Commissioner Alcock. Calls to police 1313 were sent direct to the radio control room and were broadcast to the squad cars by the police operator.

In test runs made in the last few days the effectiveness of the police radio has been demonstrated. Sergt. John McSween's squad was at Clark and Madison streets at 8:23 p. m. on Tuesday when it got a broadcast message of a robbery at 1531 Milwaukee avenue. The squad reached the scene nine minutes later. Lieut. Andrew Barry and his squad reported they arrested four robbers in a garage at 1073 Fry street before they had a chance to escape, as a result of a radio flash.

Within a few days, when the tests are completed, the radio station will be formally opened, according to Commissioner Alcock.

Suits to enjoin the further collection of 1928 taxes on seven downtown properties, having a total assessed valuation of more than $6,600,000, were filed in the Circuit court yesterday. They were filed by the law firms of Ryan, Condon & Livingston and Keehn, Woods, Weisl & Keeley on behalf of the Bell Building corporation, London Guarantee and Accident company, American Mutual Liability Insurance company, 225 North Michigan avenue Building corporation, Michigan-Lake Building corporation, Mary Howe Straus and Caroline H. KERNS FOUND $900,000 WALLET IN TOLEDO; ARE BACK SAFE IN ST. LOUIS

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 13.—(AP)—Chief of Police Gerk said tonight he had learned from "a reliable source" that Charles Kern, wealthy retired bakery executive, found a wallet purported to contain $900,000 in a Toledo, O., hotel and that when the owner reclaimed it he offered to let Kern and a companion in on a deal that would net a "huge profit."

Mr. and Mrs. Kern returned to their home here early today after causing a police furor by getting off a train on which they traveling to Toledo, at Defiance, O. They disappeared with two strange men.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat said it had information Mr. and Mrs. Kern brought back a $70,000 bank treasurer's check which they obtained before leaving here Monday night to "close a deal." The Kerns, however, refused to say whether the deal had been closed.

ARGUE LEGALITY OF $31,000,000 IN SPECIAL BONDS

The hearing on three suits to test the legality of the issuance of $31,000,000 in bonds for the creation of working cash funds for the county, city and board of education was held yesterday before Circuit Judge Rush. Bills authorizing the bond issues, without referendum, were passed at the recent special session of the legislature. Judge Rush took the case under advisement and will make a decision today.

The suits, filed on behalf of Mrs. Erminie Mathews, a taxpayer, seek to restrain the sale of $12,000,000 in bonds for the city, $6,500,000 for the county, and $12,500,000 for the school board.

Attorney Allan J. Carter, representing Mrs. Mathews, argued that the bills constituted special laws and that the legislature lacked the power to enact such legislation. He said the creation of the funds was illegal because the bills did not specify a definite purpose for which the proceeds of the bond sale are to be used.

Walter F. Dodd, special counsel for the three local governments, declared that the use of the money would become definite as soon as it was transferred to the corporate funds.

Expect Results in 3 Days

Kolynos wins new users by comparison. No ordinary toothpaste can match its effectiveness. It permits the Dry-Brush Technique which keeps the brush bristles stiff enough to do the work they should do.

When Food Sours

Sweeten the stomach—instantly

About two hours after eating many people suffer from sour stomachs. They call it indigestion. It means that the stomach nerves have been over-stimulated. There is excess acid. The way to correct it is with an alkali, which neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

The right way is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia—just a tasteless dose in water. It is pleasant, efficient and harmless. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

It is the quick method. Results come almost instantly. It is the approved method. You will never use another when you know.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

SENATOR NORRIS IS RENOMINATED BY NEBRASKANS

Hitchcock Has Big Lead in Democratic Race.

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 13.—(AP)—The Republican administration candidate for United States senate from Nebraska, W. M. Stebbins, seemed decisively defeated for the nomination by Senator George W. Norris, insurgent, when returns from all but 392 scattered precincts were tabulated tonight from Tuesday's primary election.

On a basis of 1,638 precincts out of a total of 2,030 Stebbins had 64,778, while Norris had 91,395 for a lead of 26,617.

Former Senator G. M. Hitchcock had a commanding lead on the Democratic side of the senatorial race, for he was leading his opponent, Dr. Jennie M. Callfas, by nearly 40,000 votes. Dr. Callfas had bolted the Democratic party in the 1928 presidential election and given her support to Herbert Hoover.

Weaver and Bryan Lead.

In the gubernatorial race Gov. Weaver forged ahead on the Republican side and former Gov. Charles W. Bryan, brother of the Commoner, stood first among the Democrats.

Congressman Willis G. Sears, Republican, was defeated for renomination from the Second district by Malcolm Baldridge of Omaha. Sears polled 20,889 votes to 11,065 for Baldridge.

Nebraska's tempestous senatorial primary had an echo tonight in the threat of a widened breach in the Republican state ranks.

Soon after his opponents conceded the nomination of Senator Norris, announcement was made that Beatrice Fenton Craig, a Lincoln school teacher, would oppose him in the election as an independent Republican, "by petition."

Says Democrats Helped.

Leaders interpreted the move as a bid by the school teacher for support of the "regular" wing of the party, which vigorously fought Norris in the primary. Earlier in the day Walter Kiechel, manager for Stebbins, had described the insurgent leader's victory as "Non-Republican," and due to wholesale Democratic support.

Senator Norris, who denounced the tariff, and criticized other Hoover administration measures, said he regarded his victory as "vindication in my fight for the principles I have supported."

Senator Robinson Wins.

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 13.—(AP)—Sweeping victories for United States Senator Joe T. Robinson and Gov. Harvey Parnell in their races for renomination were recorded in yesterday's Democratic primary, it was shown by returns tonight from all but approximately 300 scattered precincts.

Senator Robinson, the minority leader in the senate, and 1928 vice presidential nominee, had rolled up a plurality of nearly 100,000 over Tom W. Campbell, who waged a vigorous campaign as the veteran congressional leader's first primary opponent in 12 years.

Bankhead Alabama Winner.

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 13.—(AP)—With the nomination of John H. Bankhead of Jasper as United States senator conceded, interest tonight centered on the race for the gubernatorial nomination and the size of the vote cast in yesterday's Democratic primary.

Frederick I. Thompson, Mobile publisher, today sent Bankhead a message of congratulation and assured him of his support for a united front of the Democratic party in the general election in November which will find Senator J. Thomas Heflin running as an independent to succeed himself.

Wet Wins in Ohio.

Columbus, O., Aug. 13.—(AP)—Tabulation of the vote in yesterday's primary tonight showed that the Democrats selected former Congressman Robert J. Bulkley, Cleveland, an advocate of repeal of national prohibition, for United States senator, and former Congressman George White of Marietta, an avowed dry with Anti-Saloon league backing, as their gubernational candidate.

Bulkley had approximately 40,000 more votes than his closest opponent, W. W. Durbin of Kenton, former state chairman, in a five cornered race. The vote was: Bulkley, 80,487; Durbin, 40,580; Charles V. Truax, 36,436; John McSweeney, 35,063; George S. Myers, 19,225.

White defeated his wet opponent, Stephen M. Young of Cleveland, by almost 60,000. The vote was: White, 136,428; Young, 77,964, with less than a half dozen precincts missing.

Gov. Myers Y. Cooper, Republican, unopposed for renomination, led his ticket with a total of 425,250 votes, while Senator Roscoe C. McCulloch, also unopposed, received 345,699 votes.

Murray and Gore in Oklahoma.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 13.—(AP)—As returns from the Oklahoma Democratic run off primary made more emphatic the nomination of W. H. [Alfalfa Bill] Murray for governor, and Thomas P. Gore for senator, their opponents today offered congratulations and support.

Nearly complete returns found the lead of Murray over Frank Buttram, Oklahoma City oil man, swelled almost to 90,000. Buttram announced he would support the party ticket.

The lead of Gore, former blind senator, nominated to the senate once more after ten years, grew to nearly 40,000.

Senator W. B. Pine of Okmulgee and Ira A. Hill of Cherokee will represent the Republicans in the race against Gore and Murray. J. C. Walton will be in the senate race as an independent.

Seen as Bid for Support of Fanatics.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—Selection of Mrs. Ellis A. Yost, militant leader of the National W. C. T. U., as director of women's activities in the Republican national committee, was interpreted in political circles today as a bid for the continued support of the fanatical drys and an assurance to bone dry organizations that the Republican party has lost none of its aridity as a result of the wet agitation of the past winter and spring.

Mrs. Yost, aside from filling the post of national committeewoman from Virginia, is head of the Washington office of the National Woman's Christian Temperance association. White House officials said, however, that undoubtedly Mrs. Yost will resign from her prohibition work and devote all her time to Republican affairs as soon as the resignation of Mrs. Louise M. Dodson takes effect, probably Sept. 1.

For many years Mrs. Yost, an unusually attractive dry campaigner and lobbyist, was recognized generally as an experienced and skillful politician. Her work for the W. C. T. U. before congressional committees and at government departments is well known.

In political circles the appointment of Mrs. Yost is looked upon as in line with the selection of Senator Fess, an out and out dry, for the post of national chairman. Mrs. Yost and Senator Fess have been friends for many years. She was a student of Antioch college in Ohio, while the senator was a professor of that institution.

COPS OBLIGE AS "BOOKIES" FOR WOMEN BETTORS

About 100 Evanston women who yesterday telephoned their bets on the Hawthorne track races to an ostensible cigar store at 1632 Maple avenue, did not have a chance to collect their winnings, if any. They were not talking to the proprietor, Harry Levitas, 1737 Pratt boulevard, Chicago, as they supposed. They were placing their bets with Detectives Anton Schultz and Elmer Sachs of the Evanston police department. These two, suspecting the place, had seized Levitas, and then answered the phone calls. Levitas will be arraigned on Aug. 21 before Police Magistrate Harry H. Porter on a charge of operating a handbook.

ENDS LIFE BY HANGING.

Joseph Weiner, 38 years old, 522 South Spaulding avenue, yesterday committed suicide by hanging himself with his trouser belt in the kitchen of his home. His wife found the body when she returned home after seeking employment.

Ask Charter Today for New All-South Republican Party

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—An appeal for Republican and independent voters of the south to rush to the standard of the All Southern Republican organization set up by Horace Mann, Hoover southern manager in the 1928 campaign, in opposition to the present Hoover Republican organization in the south was issued by the sponsors of the new movement today. The statement followed Mr. Mann's formal announcement a week ago of a rebellion of southern Hoovercrats against Postmaster General Walter F. Brown's administration of southern political patronage and affairs.

In his first statement Mr. Mann outlined plans adopted, he said, by a group of southern Hoovercrats to incorporate a "all southern" Republican organization and throw off the yoke of northern "patronage carpetbaggers" and "designing political hijackers."

Campaign of "Education."

Today Mr. Mann announced that the executive committee of the recently formed southern Republican organization had conferred in Washington yesterday and today preliminary to the application for a charter which it was said soon would be filed at Atlanta, where permanent headquarters are to be established.

Following the granting of the charter, the new organization, Mr. Mann said, will launch an extensive educational campaign, including radio addresses and literature distribution, to secure recruits for a Republican organization in the south which will actually control southern Republican affairs. The apparent purpose of the sponsors is to build up a Republican organization independent of the regular Republican party which will be able to control the solid vote of Republican delegates at Republican presidential nominating conventions.

Flays Both Old Parties.

The Mann statement, which drew no comment from Hoover aids, flayed the Republican and Democratic parties and asserted that the time had come to promote Republicanism in the south "on the basis of principle."

"The Republican party nationally has treated the south as an enemy's country, important only as a means of collecting delegates to national conventions," the statement says.

"Drunkenness Is a Disease and I Can Cure It"
—Leslie E. Keeley, M. D., LL. D.

THE EDITOR of a powerful Chicago Newspaper before his death, challenged this statement of Dr. Keeley that "Drunkenness is a disease and I can cure it." He defied Dr. Keeley to cure the men whom he would send to the Institute. The results were so convincing that, through his great newspaper, he was personally responsible for thousands of men and women taking The Keeley Treatment for Liquor.

GOVERNOR GOES TO PRESIDENT'S DROUGHT PARLEY

Doubts Efficiency of Relief Measures Outlined.

During a stopover in Chicago while en route to Washington Gov. Louis L. Emmerson expressed skepticism yesterday concerning the efficacy of the federal government proposals for the relief of the drought stricken farmers. He also said that the situation in some sections of southern Illinois is extremely serious.

"I am going to the conference called by President Hoover to hear what the government plan is," he said, "and I have no proposals of my own to offer.

"I am not going to Washington in a critical spirit. I do not want to appear to criticize the government plan of relief, but as we understand it now it is proposed to require that farmers who receive loans shall have the guarantees of their communities behind them.

Emmerson's Idea of Relief.

"Such a method of financing, it seems to me, would not be of any benefit to the victims of the drought, because it would not mean a material change in the situation. The farmer still would have to get his credit from his own community. If he can do that—obtain money from the local banker—of what assistance is the government's plan?

"If, on the other hand, the government were to lend the money directly and face the possibility of a loss if it were not repaid, the farmer's problem would be simplified."

The governor said that he felt the northern sections of the state did not comprehend the "terrible drought conditions" that exist below Springfield.

"Possibly they are worst down the eastern and western borders of the state, with the central section not so hard hit," he said. "They are bad from Springfield south to Pana, they are worse from Pana to Vandalia, and below Vandalia, I am told, they are almost unbelievable."

When he boarded the Capitol Limited for the trip to Washington Gov. Emmerson found that Govs. Clyde Reed of Kansas and John Hamill of Iowa also were passengers bound for the Hoover conference.

LEGGE ON WAY TO CAPITAL

Chairman Alexander Legge of the federal farm board stopped for a brief rest last evening at the Curtiss airport en route from Dickinson, N. D., to Washington by plane. He said he knew little of the plans for the presidential conference in the capital today, but had found farm conditions favorable throughout the northwest.

BANDIT SHOT BY POLICEMAN.

Sioux City, Ia., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—A bandit about 25 years old who refuses to give his name was perhaps fatally shot shortly after noon today by Policeman John Diebert. The bandit had bungled the robbery of a grocery store near the home of the policeman. As he ran from the store the officer ordered him to stop, but he sped on and was shot down.

GOVERNORS GET HOOVER PLAN ON DROUGHT TODAY

Conference to Hear His Relief Program.

farm loan board; Judge John Barton Payne, chairman of the American Red Cross, and Chairman Alexander Legge of the federal farm board. Mr. Legge is expected to arrive from Chicago by airplane tomorrow morning.

Most of the afternoon will be spent in an interchange of views between the conferees. In the evening the President will be host to the governors at dinner in the White House, after which the discussion will be continued. It is planned to have a definite program worked out before the end of the day.

On Friday the President will meet the heads of the National Grange, the Farmers' union, and the American Farm Bureau federation. Thereafter he will concentrate his attention upon putting into effect the program agreed upon. Having canceled his vacation trip in the Rocky mountains, Mr. Hoover intends to continue to devote virtually all his time to the drought problem until it is solved.

Freight Rate Cut in Effect.

As one concrete relief step already taken the President will report to the governors his success in securing a reduction of freight rates in the drought areas. A fifty per cent cut in the tariffs on live stock feed and water went into effect yesterday in the northeast section of the country and will be immediately extended to other drought affected areas.

Secretary Hyde today certified to the American Railway association a list of 320 counties in eight states where the half rates will apply. The list includes 86 counties in Kentucky, 72 in Virginia, 44 in West Virginia, 39 in Ohio, 35 in Indiana, 32 in Tennessee, 8 in Maryland, and 4 in Pennsylvania.

Heartened somewhat by scattered showers in certain parts of the drought area, particularly in Kansas, the weather bureau today was slightly more optimistic in its report. Further local showers were forecast in other areas. However, no general rains, which are needed to break the back of the drought, are yet in sight.

Attorney Goodman Indicted on Con Game Charges

Attorney Charles B. Goodman waived examination yesterday by Judge John A. Sbarbaro and was held to the grand jury on five charges of confidence game. The complainants, who declared Goodman had defrauded them of $125,000, went immediately before the grand jury and five indictments were voted against the lawyer, who was then taken to the county jail in default of $12,500 bail. He was arrested last week after his return from Europe, where he had spent six months while clients who had entrusted him with money to invest were carrying on a search for him.

SURVEY REVEALS AMPLE FOOD FOR FARM ANIMALS

No Shortage in Supply of Fruit, Vegetables.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Despite the seriousness of drought damage in many areas of the country, to be considered in a special meeting of President Hoover with governors and farm leaders in Washington today, the nation still has sufficient foodstuffs for farm animals; also a survey of the Chicago situation indicated that there is no shortage in the supply of fruits and vegetables for the local markets.

Citing the United States department of agriculture's figures on supplies of perishable foods, W. H. Hall, Chicago market specialist for the department, declared there existed no reason for boosting the prices of vegetables and fruits here. In the main, he said, the areas of heavy production of these items have suffered little from heat or dry weather. Supplies, both home grown and shipped in, are up to normal in the Chicago area, and selling at reasonable prices, he declared.

Sweet Corn Price Rises.

Some vegetables, such as sweet corn, affected by drought in some territories, have advanced slightly in price. Reports from Indianapolis indicted housewives of Indiana were beginning to feel the first pinches of rising food prices because of dry weather in the central and southern parts of the state.

The apple crop in Illinois, according to the state weather bureau at Springfield, is ripening somewhat prematurely due to long periods of rainless 100 degree heat. Reports to fruit markets in Chicago indicated the apple crop is still above the average of the last five years.

Garden truck and fruits were reported as becoming scarce in many sections of Iowa by C. D. Reed of the state weather bureau at Des Moines yesterday. Late potatoes are nearly a failure in most parts of the state, he said, in a report which declared the state's corn yield had been further reduced by drought since the federal report issued last Monday.

Whole counties in the south and southwest will not average over 15 bushels of corn to the acre, Mr. Reed predicts, while in the northeast there are sections expected to produce as high as 60 bushels to the acre. Cool weather this week has stopped deterioration of the corn crop, he asserted.

Some Cheer for Farmers.

The disastrous drought carries with it some compensations which will reduce the losses of farmers, in the opinion of several Chicago grain merchants, farm products processors and bankers in touch with the situation. Interviews with these men yesterday disclosed an attitude which, in brief, holds that farm purchasing power of the central west, except in seriously injured sections, has not been impaired by drought damage.

"One of the leading bankers in Chicago was surprised yesterday when I informed him that the reduction in corn yield in recent weeks has averted an overproduction of this crop, and that corn farmers are in better humor now in most regions than they were a month ago," said the president of one of the city's largest feed concerns.

He pointed out that a drop of 20 per cent in corn production, between the government estimates of July 1 and Aug. 1, had caused a rise of over 50 per cent in corn values. All feedstuffs the farmer has raised, including small grains, hay and other roughage, have mounted in price.

Other Prices Go Up.

"Bran has advanced $7 per ton in price the last two weeks," declared another Chicago feed merchant. "Cottonseed meal has had a similar increase, based on Memphis quotations in the last month. Flaxseed and soybean meal have almost doubled in value. Alfalfa hay is $2.50 to $3 a ton higher, while other roughage feeds such as ensilage the farmers have on hand will be more valuable under present prospective conditions."

Reports that barley, wheat, and rye, small grain usually more costly than corn, were now being substituted generally over the country for corn as feed for animals and in industrial uses, were noted yesterday. The existing barley crop of 330,000,000 bushels is almost twice the size of any barley crop produced prior to Volsteadism, a former Board of Trade official pointed out. It has increased in value in recent weeks, and is being used to larger extent in dairy feeds and by farmers, chiefly in Wisconsin and Minnesota, millers reported.

Industry Buys Other Grains.

Corn products manufacturers have purchased rye and barley as well as wheat in recent weeks for substitution in making industrial alcohol, local representatives of the industry stated. They will continue to be heavy purchasers of corn, despite higher prices, it was said. At the same time these firms anticipate more than the normal amount of corn being shipped from one section of the country to another, due to the spotted conditions of crop loss.

Live stock feeders have suffered heavy losses during the last year, due to reduced prices, according to Charles Stanton, president of the Stockyards Trust and Savings bank, who declared yesterday it would require another couple of weeks or so to forecast trends in live stock feeding this fall and winter. He does not look for any heavy movement of live stock out of drought stricken areas, he said.

369 Lbs. of Rain Needed for Pound of Corn, Science Finds

Scientists have found that it takes 369 pounds of moisture to produce one pound of dry matter in a corn plant. A study of how a corn plant reacts to the weather has been made, apropos to the recent drought which federal experts claim has reduced Illinois corn prospects to 62 per cent of a full crop.

Under normal moisture conditions the 9,000,000 acres of corn in the state would have been returning to the atmosphere by transpiration of the plans and by direct evaporation about 18 tons of moisture per acre each day, according to agricultural college studies. In six weeks this would amount to about 720 tons of moisture per acre or the equivalent of seven inches of rainfall. During July, according to reports issued by C. A. Donnel, meteorologist of the Chicago weather bureau, Illinois received an average of only 1.22 inches of rain.

Trace Relation to Rainfall.

Direct relationship between deficiency in moisture and lowered corn production can be shown by calculations of Mr. Donnel. For the first seven months of 1930 the deficiency in the five states of Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin was 21 per cent; for July the state received 35 per cent less rainfall than normal; and the government indicates through a cooperative survey with the department of agriculture of the state of Illinois that corn production will be 38 per cent below normal.

Much Water in Corn Plant.

In what farmers call "the milk stage," the entire corn plant contains 78.1 per cent water and 21.9 per cent dry matter. Water in the corn plant carries plant food through the root system through the stalks and to all of the plant parts including leaves, tassels and ears. Evaporation and transpiration carry moisture off into the atmosphere.

The question of how much moisture is required by each corn plant during the growing season was answered recently in an experiment at Akron, Colo., where it was found that it took 369 pounds of water to grow one pound of dry matter in a corn plant.

FIGHT PRICE INCREASE

New York, Aug. 13.—[Special.]—Acting on the theory that there is a "veritable conspiracy" to use the drought to increase all food prices, City Health Commissioner Shirley Wynne organized an emergency board today to fight such procedure.

The board will be known as "the fair price board for foods" and it will give daily information for the guidance of consumers on wholesale market conditions and fair retail prices. Surveys of food conditions reported at a special meeting to organize the board indicated that many merchants had increased the price of food necessities from 10 to 25 per cent. The city's weekly food bill is about $30,000,000.

U. S. Agents Raid Bar Near Police Station

Prohibition agents yesterday raided a saloon at 2626 South Lawndale avenue, a few doors from the Lawndale police station. The agents said they found beer and whisky. Frank Nosek was arrested as the proprietor. Last Saturday prohibition agents seized 72 barrels of beer in a storage house across the street from the Lawndale police station. Other raids were made yesterday on a saloon at 1021 Wrightwood avenue where Rudolph Mayer was arrested, and at Sid's chile parlor, 1604 North Cicero avenue, where Harry Daily and Walter Gordon were arrested.

Farmers Pay $1 a Barrel for Water Near Paris, Ill.

Paris, Ill., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—A dollar a barrel is the price being paid for water by farmers in the southwest part of this [Edgar] county. Streams have dried up and wells are failing.

AUTO COLLISION KILLS 3 WOMEN; TWO CHICAGOANS

Two Men Hurt in Crash in Wisconsin.

Three persons, including two Chicago women, were killed, and two others seriously hurt last night when two automobiles collided near Campbellsport in Fond du Lac county, Wis. The crash occurred after a tire blew out on one of the cars, hurtling it in front of the other machine, approaching from the opposite direction. The dead are:

Mrs. Bruno Filon, 747 Junior terrace.
Mrs. Anna Swidereski, 3111 North Monticello avenue.
Mrs. Frank Lanser, Menasha, Wis.

Filon and Lanser, drivers of the cars, were seriously injured. Lanser's car was thrown in front of the other machine by the tire blowout. Filon was taken to the Kewaskum hospital and Lanser to a hospital in West Bend. Delores Swiderski, 14 years old, daughter of one of the dead women, was not injured.

Mrs. Filon and Mrs. Swiderski were killed almost instantly and Mrs. Lanser died at the hospital in Kewaskum. Mrs. Swiderski was a passenger in the Filon car. Filon was struck unconscious by the impact but revived and extricated himself before help arrived.

Funeral services will be held today at 5203 Lake Park avenue for Willis M. Carlson, 19 years old, 1722 East 56th street, who died in a hospital at Sturgeon Bay, Wis., yesterday as the result of an automobile accident near there last Saturday.

Nathaniel Kurtti, 50 years old, 4812 South Damen avenue, died in the Washington Park hospital yesterday of injuries incurred on Tuesday when he was struck by an automobile while crossing South Chicago avenue at East 70th street. Ernest Kissling, 7127 Euclid avenue, the driver, was released. He told the police that Kurtti ran in front of his car.

This death raised Cook county's motor toll for the year to 602.

William Soroka, 35 years old, a laborer of Whiting, died at the Jackson Park hospital yesterday as a result of injuries incurred in an auto accident in Whiting on Sunday.

Miss Elinor Massen, 920 Buena Park terrace, daughter of Ald. John A. Massen of the 48th ward, will appear today in an Evanston police court on a charge of driving 42 miles an hour in Forest avenue, Evanston. She was arrested early yesterday.

AIRPLANES BOMB 2 REBEL CITIES IN CHINA CIVIL WAR

Red Troops Advance on Nanking.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Aug. 13.—Two Canadian priests and four Canadian sisters escaped death yesterday when the French Catholic cathedral and the hospital dispensary, located at Nanning, capital of Kwangsi province, was destroyed as a result of airplane bombing during a battle for possession of the city between Nationalist government forces and the Kwangsi rebels. The latter are defending the city. The seige has already lasted a month.

The planes were manned by Cantonese and also destroyed barracks and other property, and caused heavy casualties among the rebel troops.

Plane Bombs Tsinan Rebels.

A Nanking airplane bombed Tsinan, capital of Shantung province, today and was heavily fired on by the northern rebel forces within the city. The aerial bombs caused much disorder and minor damage.

Gen. Feng Yu-hsiang's attack on Gen. Chiang Kai-shek's lines along the Lunghai railway sector, forced the latter to withdraw his headquarters from Liuho to Kweiteh.

With the government troops advancing within a few miles of Tsinan, the Japanese residents today adopted emergency measures for their protection and decided to withdraw their women and children to Tientsin. The Japanese men will congregate in the consular compound.

Report New Fall of Changsha.

Communist forces are said to be advancing on Nanking, which is in a weakened condition due to withdrawal of troops to fight Reds in the north and south.

Another report claimed that Changsha had again been reoccupied by communist bands. The recent occupation of this city, capital of Hunan province, cost 1,500 lives and heavy damages to property. Foreigners are said to be safe on warships.

PENNSYLVANIAN NAMED HEAD OF LAW COMMISSION

Judge William M. Hargest of Harrisburg, Pa., was elected president of the national commissioners on uniform state laws at the close of yesterday's session at the Stevens hotel. Judge Hargest succeeds Judge Jesse A. Miller of Des Moines. Other officers elected were George B. Martin of Catlettsburg, Ky., vice president; John H. Voorhees, Sioux Falls, S. D., secretary, and Bruce W. Sanborn, St. Paul, Minn., treasurer.

A draft proposing legislation to prevent the invalidation of divorces in states other than where they were granted was favored by the commissioners in a committee of the whole. The adoption of this proposal is expected today. It was pointed out that many so-called migratory divorces had been held invalid on the theory that the states granting them had no jurisdiction. One year's domicile was recommended as a prerequisite for divorce.

A draft proposing that no person under 14 years of age shall be employed for gain, with the exception of boys between 9 and 14 who sell newspapers or act as caddies, was adopted. Farm labor was exempted.

JURY TO DECIDE ON SANITY OF SLAYER TODAY

Dr. Francis J. Gerty, superintendent of the psychopathic hospital, and Dr. H. Douglas Singer, psychiatrist, testified yesterday that in their opinion Leonard Shadlow, Negro under sentence of death, is sane. Jail attachés called by Attorney Louis Piquette, who was appointed to represent Shadlow, testified that Shadlow had become morose and silent since he was sentenced to death for the murder of Martin French, a bank guard, during a robbery.

Today a jury will pass on the question of the prisoner's sanity. If he is found sane he will be sentenced to die in the electric chair, probably on Aug. 22, when Lafon Fisher, one of his companions in the bank robbery, is to be executed.

JUDGE ABSOLVES THE HUSBAND OF OPERA SINGER

Dr. S. Begart Munns, 69 East Division street, husband of Cyrena Van Gordon, Chicago Civic Opera star, limped out of Town Hall court yesterday, absolved of blame for kicking in a glass door in the Edgewater Beach hotel.

"You should make charges against the policeman who arrested you," Municipal Judge John H. Lyle told Dr. Munns in dismissing the charge of disorderly conduct brought by James McAlvaney, assistant manager of the hotel. The opera star appeared in court with her husband.

INDIA'S REVOLT CHIEFS IN SECRET PEACE PARLEY

Meet with Gandhi in Prison Cell.

BOMBAY, Aug. 13.—(AP)—Out of a remarkable gathering of captives today, held behind the walls of Yeravda prison in Poona, may come decisions of the highest importance to the future of India.

It was a strange meeting, with Mahatma Gandhi, leader of the civil disobedience movement, the central figure. Around him were a woman lieutenant, Mrs. Sarojini Naidu, and three men who long have been prominent in Nationalist activities—Pandit Motilal Nehru, his son, Jawarhalal Nehru, and Vallabhai Patel. All are serving sentences for acts in connection with the noncoöperation campaign.

Talk to "Peacemakers."

Part of the time their conversations were extended to Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru and M. Jayakar, the unofficial "peacemakers," who are attempting to have the Nationalist movement held up pending the outcome of the round-table Indian conference in London in October.

The meetings today lasted five hours and no hint was given as to what happened, but Sapru looked grave when he emerged. Tomorrow morning the five Nationalists will meet again, with the two peace emissaries joining them in the afternoon.

Viceroy Lord Irwin is backing the peace move and authorized the transfer of the two Nehrus from Allahabad jail to facilitate the conversations.

Danger to Peshawar Over.

News from the northwestern frontier was distinctly reassuring to Europeans tonight, and military men considered that immediate danger to Peshawar, the city which guards the Khyber pass and has been under siege by 10,000 hostile Afridi tribesmen, was over. While the Afridis are reported to be drawing away from Peshawar following rough treatment from bombs of the royal air force, the British realize that disaffection may continue to spread among neighbors of the Afridis.

A number of Orakzais, Kuki Khels, Massozais, and other tribes are showing symptoms of unrest.

British planes continued retaliatory measures against tribal raiding parties in the vicinity of Peshawar today and used machine guns on one group hiding in deep ravines southwest of the city.

GIRL FINED FOR SPEEDING.

Miss Hilda Krafthefer, 22 years old, 901 Oakwood avenue, Wilmette, was fined $10 yesterday morning by Justice Harry H. Porter in the Evanston court for speeding at 40 miles an hour.

JURY SUMMONS SENATOR JOYCE TO NAME GUNMEN

State Senator John T. Joyce was subpoenaed yesterday to appear before the grand jury today to explain his charge that gunmen, whom he refused to name, had terrorized voters in the 42d ward on the last primary day. Senator Joyce made the charge when he was called as a witness before County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki last week in the hearing on the petition to oust Fred V. Maguire as chairman of the board of election commissioners.

"He said then that the state's attorney's office sent a carload of gunmen to his precinct during the primary when he was running for renomination against Wallace F. Kirk," said Assistant State's Attorney Charles J. Mueller. "He said they were carrying machine guns and had a state's attorney's banner on their car. When Judge Jarecki asked him who the gunmen were Joyce said a number of people in the state's attorney's office knew who they were. If we did not take cognizance of his false charges we would be remiss in our duty."

A new pleasant way to remove loose Dandruff

Listerine shampoo usually gets results in 3 days— and cools itching scalp

NOW thousands are hailing the wonderful results obtained by full strength Listerine used in connection with the shampoo.

Ordinary loose dandruff is often removed in three days or less—sometimes in one treatment. Inflamed conditions of the scalp which cause itching and burning are relieved almost instantly. The entire scalp is made cleaner, healthier, and more vigorous after only a few applications. We have hundreds of unsolicited letters testifying to Listerine's success against dandruff.

If you have loose dandruff—if your scalp itches, feels uncomfortable or shows any evidence of inflammation, try Listerine and see how quickly you note improvement.

Dandruff is drying sebum forced out by over-active fat glands surrounding the hair roots. This over-activity, many dermatologists claim, is the result of infection.

Listerine used full strength dissolves and removes the sebum, and if infection is present attacks it. You know it is a safe though powerful germicide.* Simply douse it on the scalp full strength and massage vigorously with the fingertips, repeating the treatment until dandruff has disappeared. A little olive oil may be used if the scalp is excessively dry. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

*Though safe to use in any body cavity, full strength Listerine kills even the Staphylococcus Aureus (pus) and Bacillus Typhosus (typhoid) germs in counts ranging to 200,000,000 in 15 seconds (fastest time accurately recorded by science).

Listerine THE SAFE ANTISEPTIC

kills 200,000,000 germs in 15 seconds

SOME PASTORAL ELECTIONS

Nebraska stands by Norris for the same reason which Idaho finds sufficient in making Borah senator for life. If either state switched the change probably would be to some one who never had been heard of and never would be. If Norris is a Republican, then most of the other party representatives and most of the voters who adhere to it are out of step, but distinctions are unimportant in Nebraska. Sometimes Norris is a good Socialist. Last year he was a good Democrat. He has considerably more in common with Norman Thomas than with Simeon Fess, the golden tongued Republican keynoter.

Norris and Borah—a list could be made up by adding Caraway, Brookhart, Frazier, Nye, etc.—are rather social than political representatives of their states. In the least responsible and most powerful representative body in the country they present pastoral ideas in opposition to metropolitan ways which the pastoral people and the smaller town folk pretend not to like. Pretend must be used because most of these folk are horrified only at a distance and are nearly always delighted on closer contact. That, however, is the interest of the visiting vestryman and it does not change the home code.

It gratifies the home folk to have the home code energetically demonstrated in Washington. It teaches the unregenerate city people their lesson and it conveys the very pleasant impression to the wide open spaces that the hardy, virtuous, skin-clad shepherds are always coming down out of the hills to destroy Babylon. These are not political gratifications. They are much deeper than any which could be found in politics. They elevate the smaller constituencies with a sense of their own better moral life and they contain satisfactory intimations of power.

The pastoral scene has been extraordinarily hot and dry and baked during the campaigning and, in spite of the lake paralysis here and there, the disposition has been to make more than usual of the nobler crudities, as in the case of Alfalfa Bill Murray in Oklahoma. Mr. Murray is in a fair way to be governor of that state and not the least of his qualifications is that he can use his knife on his peas and is proud of it. The opposition made the mistake of questioning his manner of handling his groceries and found itself with the sign of Babylon on it. No honest and virtuous man will cut himself with his knife and it is a proof of honesty and virtue to be a competent handler of one. Alfalfa Bill is one of the plain people and his purpose is to trim a little of the velvet off the rich.

Joe Robinson had no trouble in retaining the suffrages of the pre- and anti-evolution people of Arkansas. Why not? They couldn't shake any one else down out of the tree who could be nominated for Vice President or who could be minority leader in the senate. That ought to be another senatorship for life. The pastoral elements send to Washington the statesmen who best satisfy their egotism, which is natural enough. One cannot depend entirely on jake ginger for excitement.

BASICALLY (CONT'D).

We remarked the other day that the word "basically" is not in the dictionaries and it ought to be. A number of correspondents have informed us that it is in the new Standard. They are right; it is.

Still, it might almost as well not be there. The definition given is "In a basic manner; from the base." That is a pedant's definition. The author of it knew that the word "basically" was related to the word "base" and that is all he was interested in. For our part, we know what basically means, but we don't know what "in a basic manner" means, and neither, we venture to suggest, does the author of the definition. We have never seen anything that was behaving in a basic manner and we hope we never shall.

The dictionary formula "in a . . . manner" can suggest only one idea; the description of behavior; and to define "basically" in that way is to define it out of all meaning because basically has nothing to do with behavior. You can say "in an impatient manner" and your words have meaning. Likewise there are pedantic, formal, and absurd manners, to mention only the first that come to mind. There is no manner which can be called basic and not even the editor of a dictionary can invent one.

The first thing which we should expect a dictionary editor to note about "basically" is that, in its common use at least, it generally modifies an adjective, as in the phrases "basically sound," "basically right," "basically good," etc. Next he should note that the adjective modified is generally a description of the character of a person, thing or idea, and the application of the word to character holds even when "basically" is used without an adjective, as in the sentence "I am basically an ass."

Having carried his analysis that far, the lexicographer would not give as his first meaning, "in a basic manner," not only because there is no such thing as a basic manner but more particularly because "basically" does not concern the manner of the soundness, rightness, or goodness under consideration, but rather the extent, or, perhaps better, the intensity of it. In its common meaning "basically" belongs somewhere in the series which contains such words as slightly and mostly. There would be as much sense in defining "slightly" as "in a slight manner" or "mostly" as "in a most manner" as there is in defining basically as "in a basic manner."

Still, we are pleased to learn that there is at least one dictionary editor who has heard and seen the word, even if he doesn't seem to know what it means. We have no complaint with his spelling of it, which is perfect. As much can be said of his division of the letters into syllables and his distribution of the emphasis in pronunciation.

THE UNITED STATES AND RUSSIA.

Soviet Russia finds the United States its best aid in trying to make its economic system work. The communists find technical assistance here. They get advisers, organizers and machinery, preferring the American for several reasons. One probably is a recognition that American private enterprise has produced the best systems that dictatorship can use if it can make them work. American capitalism is virtually impervious to communist attack. It has succeeded, notwithstanding its present uncertainties, in spreading out its advantages and benefits. It is, also, the furthest removed geographically.

Whatever annoyance and aggravation the communists may offer the United States it is certainly the most remote from their most optimistic and credulous ideas of extending the dictatorship of the soviets. If such an ambition is seriously entertained it looks to nearer and more disturbed countries where the lot of the average individual is not so fortunate, where there is less stability of government, less hope for the future and more inclination to overturn what exists.

Any extensive advantages which came to these countries from a profitable trade with Russia would tend to diminish the elements of discontent which the Reds must use if they make any headway. The American public is the least accessible, and if the Russians have any belief in the future of their idea they would consider that trade with America was least injurious to them, being profitable to a distant capitalism into which they could not bore.

What most Americans probably apprehend from the mischief making of communist agitators here is not an attempt at revolution by violence, but a series of unpleasant incidents and disorders. The Chicago experience with the anarchists had nothing serious to government in it, but it involved a great crime. American society is required to guard itself against a repetition of such disorders. Citizens have a right to security against crimes resulting from the intrigues of trouble makers, crack brained or otherwise. It is not fear for the American form of government which justifies the restraint of such intrigue, but a rational objection to subjecting the public peace and security to outrages committed in the name of some futile revolutionary doctrine. The people are not apprehensive of Mr. Stalin's conduct as it would affect their society, but as it might injure some innocent people. The precautions are taken not as against revolutionists, but as against criminals.

The Russians ask for better trade relations. Proof of good faith is the only basis for that and their doctrine is schematized bad faith. Individual Americans have taken the chance. It may be a fairly safe one so long as the Russian need is great. There is no guaranty when the need disappears. There would be reciprocal advantages in an extensive penetration of Russian markets by American industry, but no assurance is offered for any diplomatic arrangements which might promote the trade. The experience of every nation which has had any with Russia is that an official connection soon brings a disturbance at home.

WAR IN THE AIR.

While the British air maneuvers have disclosed new possibilities of effectiveness in air attack, there have been some disappointments in the field of operations on the Indian northwest frontier. In England it has been discovered that a new type of bomber is so fast and formidable that it is virtually impossible for present types of pursuit or combat planes to defeat it. New types will, of course, be developed, but the discovery of the present effectiveness of bombing planes suggests the possibilities of serious damage by air attack to cities and concentrated troops.

On the other hand, from recent accounts, the wild tribes of the Indian frontier seem to have got over their first fears of the bombing plane, which was expected to be permanently especially useful against uncivilized peoples, because not so much of its destruction as of its effect upon morale. An amusing story is told of the device of Afridis, who spread their bright colored coverings on the ground to attract fire and made themselves safe by temporarily seeking cover in the neighborhood. When the bombing planes had wasted their ammunition on the target the Afridis reassembled, doubtless with increased instead of decreased morale.

On the other hand, the planes seem to have been effective in breaking up concentrations and thus accomplished their more important object, which was to prevent massed assault upon Peshawar. As a means of keeping forces scattered rather than as a prompt and inexpensive means of suppressing revolt, it is undoubtedly a valuable new agency of military control. It seems less valuable in guerrilla warfare than was expected.

Editorial of the Day

CENTURY OLD LAWS.

[Philadelphia Public Ledger.]

In the current controversy over Sunday baseball it is a striking anomaly that the legal issues that have been raised all turn upon legislative enactments, one of them a century and a half old and another two centuries and a quarter. The latter, once termed by Judge Fuller of Luzerne county that "antediluvian, cerulean, sabbatical act of April 22, 1794," is the law upon which the police depend to secure a conviction; but there has been talk of invoking an even earlier law, that of 1706, which is said to limit the power of the police to make arrests on Sunday.

It is a manifest absurdity to attempt to interpret and apply, under modern circumstances and habits of thought, a law most of the prohibitions of which are universally ignored. These and other similar proceedings merely emphasize the contention that the remedy for these absurdities and anomalies is to be found by appeal, not to the courts which have already gone very far to take the teeth out of the blue law but to the legislature, which alone possesses the duty and the power to bring the laws into harmony with "common contemporaneous thought and habit."

FIGHTING WHOOPING COUGH

THERE are two diseases of childhood which must be diagnosed early and on suspicion if the other members of the family and of the community are to be protected against the contagion borne by the sick. One of, these, whooping cough, prevails in the summer time. Probably its period of greatest prevalence is the spring, but with it epidemics continue to run without much abatement until September.

Summer heat and sunshine do not suppress it, as is the case with almost all other forms of contagion. In the number of deaths caused directly and indirectly by it, whooping cough leads all other forms of contagion, measles being a fairly close second, the others being little more than "among those present." In the control of whooping cough we are limited to just one agent and that is isolation. Early isolation is most important. It follows that diagnosis on suspicion becomes all important.

The best method of diagnosis is known as the plate method. A plate of specially prepared culture media is held before the sick child's face during a coughing spell. This plate is then covered properly and sent to a laboratory for diagnosis. Most city health departments and some states supply these plates to physicians and make these diagnoses. In the land of good roads and automobiles getting a diagnosis by the plate method should never be impossible.

Signs and symptoms which raise a suspicion of whooping cough are coughing spells, principally at night, occurring in paroxysms followed by loss of breath, redness of the face, and vomiting. Any violent cough developing in summer is suggestive. A history of recent exposure to whooping cough almost settles the matter and calls for isolation then and there.

The second of these twins is measles. It is almost as deadly as whooping cough. Like the latter, it is especially hard on babies—whooping cough in babies less than six months old; measles in those in the second half of the first year. Unlike its twin, measles prefers the winter and early spring. In its control the most effective agent is isolation, and this calls for early diagnosis. It is most contagious before the eruption appears to the unaided eye. However, under the mercury vapor lamplight measles eruption can be seen before it can be detected by sunlight. It appears in the mouth before it can be seen on the skin.

The symptoms or signs which call for diagnosis on suspicion are: History of recent exposure, fever, redness of the eyes, running of the nose and eyes, and eruption seen by special light.

LET IT CATCH PESTS.

Mrs. S. R. writes: I work in a fruit store. The other day while waiting on a man I broke off several bananas from a large bunch. Out jumped a tarantula. I didn't realize what it was and it was only by the quick wit of the man who pulled me back that my life was saved. We tried to step on it, but bounded away under the counter.

Is there any danger in its being around loose in the store somewhere? We can't locate it, but we know it is in the store. Can it do any harm, that is, if it is not bothered? Is there anything I can do to have it killed? I understand its bite is deadly.

REPLY.

Leave the poor thing alone. It will earn its keep catching insects. Tarantulas are poisonous, but so are bees and wasps. There is no particular difference in the severity of the bite of these several insects.

JUST A LITTLE SIDE ROOM.

A. R. writes: A doctor tells me I have a diverticulum. What is that?

REPLY.

An alcove bedroom is a diverticulum. So is a closet. It is a room opening off another room.

A diverticulum of the stomach is a little pouch of the stomach wall with something of an open doorway into the stomach cavity.

Any hollow organ can have one or more diverticulums, but they occur rarely in some organs and often in others.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

ILLEGALLY DOMICILED.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—[Friend of the People.]—A party came to this country in 1923 on a six months' visit and paid the head tax. Circumstances made it such that this party has never left this country and has heard that the party now can apply for citizenship and become naturalized in the regular way.

A. L.

The letter does not contain sufficient information to give accurate advice. If the person referred to never made a legal entry into the United States for permanent residence he is not in a position to apply for naturalization. However, if he was born in Canada and came from Canada the circumstances may be different.

H. L. ROETHE,
Acting district director of naturalization.

HIGHHANDED DOINGS.

Moline, Ill., Aug. 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Federal prohibition agents stumble on to an illicit distillery. They immediately destroy 1,400 gallons of alcohol, mash, etc. Ten hours later, by order of superiors, they turn over alcohol plant to a junk dealer. The junk dealer summons others junk dealers, to whom he sells boilers, electric pumps, and other equipment.

1. Is a court order necessary for sale of this property?

2. Do owners of plant get a hearing before their property (the distillery) is sold?

3. To whom does the money derived from such a sale go? E. L.

Sec. 306 of title 26 of the federal code provides that instrumentalities used in connection with an illicit distillery "shall be forfeited to the United States." In our opinion, this does not authorize destruction in absence of court proceedings any more than the statute specifying execution as punishment for a crime authorizes killing a suspect without a trial, but the authorities appear to have acted upon the principle that if there is no doubt as to the violation of law there can be no harm in destroying the goods first and litigating the question afterwards. We would suggest that you ask the enforcement officials in question to explain how they reconcile their operations with the constitutional provision against taking property without due process of law.

1, 2. In our opinion, the law so requires.
3. To the government.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

Anyhow, It's a Lively Corpse.

They were commencing to say that baseball was dead, or, anyhow, dying. But yesterday it got on the first page. It's been a long time since baseball has seen the first page, and it indicates that baseball is sitting up and taking nourishment. We can't afford to let peewee golf and backgammon and tennis strike down our great American national game. Football is all very well, but your feet get so cold at a football game and you can't throw pop bottles at the umpire. People yell at a baseball game; they're expected to; but at peewee golf when the players yell the people next door have them arrested for disorderly conduct. It is much better for a strong, virile people to jump up and down as they do at a baseball game and holler, "Slide, you fat head, slide!" than to take a little poke with a club as they do in peewee golf and say, "Oh, splash! I foozled again!" Backgammon is just a sort of indoor tree sitting endurance contest, only the players sit in chairs instead of trees. And people can argue about baseball, and it does people good to argue. If baseball passed away there would be nothing to argue about except prohibition, and that would be just too bad.

FANTASY.

I want to go back to the dreamlit ways,
The ways of the early years;
You can have the wisdom that comes with days
Bringing its heartaches and tears.
You can have the victories, they're empty all,
The thrill of the conquest, too,
But where is the voice with as sweet a call
As the voices our boyhood knew?
Over the hill by the pasture land
When the shades of the night were falling,
Only a boy could understand
The note in strange voices calling.
He could interpret the call of the wind
Through the cedars' branches sweeping,
His was the fortunate, happy find
Of the pools where the trout were leaping.
The tasseled corn told its tales to him
And the swish of the golden wheat,
And the shadows that lurked in the forest dim
Held paths for his roving feet.
Days that were new, days that were strange,
High calls and romance lure,
And time for fancy to weave and range
With no hint it could not endure.

CLARENCE P. MILLIGAN.

THESE are, indeed, parlous times. A friend of ours called us up to say that through mysterious agencies he had been informed that we are being shadowed by a private detective, or snooper cop, or something, and that every movement of ours is down in black and white. "Why," said he, "they even got down the fact that you drop into the Congress hotel every night at 10:45 and buy the morning papers and tell the girl at the newsstand how swell you are at playing the banjo." That wouldn't be us; that would be Ashton Stevens.

AND AS SOON as the senators who were nominated Tuesday get through counting their votes they can start in explaining to the investigating committee how much the election cost them and why. Taking one consideration with another, we can't see why people are so keen about getting into the senate.

Meat, the Wise Guys, and Us.

The other day we read a piece in the paper about the price of meat being so low now that it offers consumers the opportunity of a lifetime to put more meat into the family menus. We've been practically a vegetarian for so long now that our mouth positively watered when we read that. This is our chance, said we, to have a nice juicy steak once more and we'll go after it now. We want a steak thicker than THAT, said we to our butcher (or maybe we should say our ex-butcher), but as a smile of ineffable sweetness and light spread over his face our old suspicious nature got the better of us. How much? added we hastily. Ah, well, let us draw the curtain there. But we walked sadly out of that meat shop with two little narrow strips of meat, two-thirds fat, and no thicker than that, and we left two paper dollars that would have wrapped it up well enough to ship to Panama to pay for it. Gentlemen, your ideas of cheapness and ours are something else again. And again and again and again. And again!

THE ST. LOUIS flyers have beat the endurance record. Too bad! Now somebody will have to endure it all over again to beat it. And then somebody will have to endure some to beat that record, and then somebody—oh, you can do it yourself now—you see how it goes.

THE CORN CROP in Illinois is only 62 per cent normal, but garden stuff equals or exceeds the average. Just our luck; we love cornmeal bread and cornmeal cakes, and we loathe from our innermost soul—oh, you know—spinach. But the spinach crop is above the average and the corn crop is shot to hellengone.

INTERLUDE.

So sweet to cheat this loneliness again!
As in dream, your dark head bends above . .
Your kisses dry upon my smile's lined strain—
Simulating love

But, winged no more, the silence comes to rest.
Like death, the quiet closing of a door.
I fold my arms across my stricken breast—
Emptier than before.

THE NEWSPAPERS yesterday contained items about a Mr. William Hohenzollern of Doorn, Holland, writing a letter to an Italian author complimenting him on articles proving that Germany was not to blame for starting the great war. Tut, tut! The name sounds familiar—now, who in the world is Mr. William Hohenzollern? R. H. L.

THE WHALE AND THE MINNOW

SENATOR FESS, NEW CHAIRMAN OF THE REPUBLICAN NATIONAL COMMITTEE, IS CONCENTRATING ON THE TARIFF AS THE NEXT BIG POLITICAL ISSUE

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 14, 1914.

HEADQUARTERS, BELGIAN ARMY.—The German invaders who renewed their attempt today to penetrate the Belgian defensive zone which shields Brussels were again repulsed with severe loss. Yesterday a large force of German cavalry, estimated at 5,000, flung itself upon Diest and Haelen. A murderous fire was opened on the Prussian dragoons, who were without cover of any kind, and under the rain of Belgian bullets the force was speedily cut down.

LONDON.—Conflicting reports reach London of the results of yesterday's fighting between the Germans and Belgians in the vicinity of Liege. A Rotterdam dispatch says that Hasselt, St. Trond, and Tongres, all northwest of Liege, were occupied by the Germans. A report from Maastricht says that all the resisting forts at Liege are now systematically besieged and bombarded. The Germans have abandoned the idea of taking them by storm. They believe they will sweep on to Antwerp, taking Brussels on the way.

LONDON.—The Daily Citizen, the organ of the Labor party, says it has learned from reliable authority that Dr. Karl Liebknecht, the German Socialist leader, has been shot for refusing military service.

HALIFAX.—For half an hour H. M. S. Bristol, the smallest British warship in the North Atlantic, fought a long range duel with the Karlsruhe, the largest and fastest of the German cruisers which have been trying to intercept British shipping in the Atlantic. The Karlsruhe fled and escaped. The battle occurred off Bermuda.

ST. PETERSBURG.—A Russian force has taken the town of Sokal, Austrian Galicia, by assault, inflicting heavy casualties on the Austrian garrison.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 14, 1900.

WASHINGTON.—Gen. Chaffee and American soldiers with the army of the allies tonight may be looking upon the walls of Peking. Unofficial advices coming by way of London are that the allies were within 20 miles of the imperial capital at noon on Aug. 11.

LONDON.—The British consul at Canton, the Daily Telegraph's correspondent there says, has received a message, dated Aug. 6, from Sir Claude Macdonald, British minister in Peking, which says: "Our situation here is desperate. In ten days our food supply will be at an end. Unless we are relieved a general massacre is probable. The Chinese offered to escort us to Tientsin, but, remembering Cawnpore, we refuse the offer."

CHICAGO.—Charles Richter of Chicago was elected president of the Saengerbund of the Northwest at its convention in Burlington, Ia.

CHICAGO.—Dr. Walter Dill Scott, newly appointed instructor in psychology and pedagogy at Northwestern university, returned with his wife to Evanston from Germany, where they spent the last two years in travel and study.

CHICAGO.—Miss Katherine Hutchinson, 299 Erie street, and Harry Wells will be married this afternoon at St. James' church, the Rev. W. G. Blossom performing the ceremony.

WASHINGTON.—The trial of Capt. Wirtz, commandant of the prison pen at Andersonville, where Union prisoners of war were so brutally treated, is set for July 15. The evidence for the government will be quite lengthy Ex-Congressman Hughes of Indiana, Gen. Denver of Kansas, and Attorney Peck of Chicago are counsel for Wirtz.

MEDICAL FEES.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—Asa S. Bacon's suggestion of endowments, the income from which shall be used for providing special nurses to care for critically ill patients in free or part pay beds in hospitals is an excellent one. It might well be carried further. The average registered nurse does not make over $1,200 a year. A charitable organization might employ a group of nurses at $1,200 to $1,500 a year and agree to provide nursing service in hospitals and homes at $3 to $6 a day, depending on the patient's ability to pay. The difference between the amount paid to the nurses and the amount received from patients would have to be taken care of by contributions or by income from endowments. The Chicago Medical society conducts a nurses' registry and might undertake the furnishing of nursing service on this basis if some one could be persuaded to underwrite the cost.

Another "form of practical philanthropy" that might well be considered is the devising of ways and means for paying physicians for the medical services rendered the poor gratis, or for fees way below the minimum of the fee table of the Chicago Medical society. The county of Cook pays nothing for the services of the attending staff of the Cook county hospital; it offers one-half of the minimum fee of the fee table of the Chicago Medical society for the making of house calls at its request. The income of hospitals that is used for the support of charity beds pays for everything except the services of the attending physicians; in most instances it pays for special nursing by a senior pupil nurse or graduate nurse when that is required, and also for a private room during the most critical period of an illness. The physicians caring for those patronizing the free clinics and dispensaries are, as a rule, not paid.

If the physician were paid for the service he now renders gratis, fees charged those able to pay could in many instances be materially reduced. The physician is not seeking great wealth; he just wants an income sufficient to enable him to live comfortably, educate his children, and to enable him to save enough to provide for his needs when age and infirmity make retirement from active practice a necessity.

The Chicago Medical society would be only too glad to cooperate with those interested in these problems, which, its members feel, are of vital interest to all.

Secretary, Chicago Medical Society.

THE CONSTITUTION IN IOWA.

Creston, Ia., Aug. 7.—Your editorial "The Bar and the Constitution" prompts me to ask if you have seen that particular animal, cyclept a constitution, running around lately. If it is in Chicago, please send it back home to Iowa.

For we have concluded that it is best irrevocably since our courts have decided that a man must pay for a payment that literally started to go to pieces before the job was finished—as showed up in the evidence [174 N. W. 380—179 N. W. 617]; also when it is ruled that the officers of a franchise-seeking corporation may count their own ballots in the crucial precinct before the judges do, and not affect the validity of the returns from that precinct [191 N. W. 390]; also that a man can murder his mother and acquire the property that was the motive of the murder [185 N. W. 327].

These things happen in Iowa, where the law could not have been more favorable for a defendant in a libel suit if they had been written by a professional scandal monger and where law makes it the duty of the Supreme court to correct the errors that a local court is about to make.

RELIEF FOR CITY MEN, TOO.

Oak Park, Ill., Aug. 9.—The prompt action of our government towards the relief of the drought stricken farmers will be approved by all who believe that the perfect government should not only give opportunity and outlet for enthusiasm in times of prosperity, but should also extend a helping hand in times of adversity.

President Hoover knows, with the rest of us, that there is and long has been widespread unemployment and consequent distress in all the industrial centers. Conditions have to become very bad before the farmer is threatened with hunger or lack of shelter, but the city man is soon reduced to that condition. We would not have President Hoover love the farmer less but the city man more. J. W. FARR.

THE PLIGHT OF THE UNMARRIED MAN.

Chicago, Aug. 11.—I wish somebody would explain why it is that in this great city just because a man happens to be single and not have a home or family he is apparently not entitled to any assistance or consideration from any institution or organization when he gets up against it. The intention must be to make him become a real hobo or I. W. W.

PRINCE OF WALES 'SHOT DOWN' IN BRITISH AIR 'WAR'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 13.—The prince of Wales took an active part in Great Britain's "air war" today. He arrived by airplane at the general headquarters of the "Blue colony" at Andover and, donning a flying suit over his Welsh guard uniform, accompanied a "Blue" bombing raid against the "Red" forces established at Cranwell.

He took his seat in the gunner's cockpit of a huge day bomber of an attacking squadron, which raided the capital of the "Red colony" 130 miles away, witnessing and taking part in the hectic aerial battles and much theoretical slaughter.

"The raid was carried out satisfactorily," the official air ministry communique read after the attack.

Bring Down Wales' Plane.

Earlier in the day the prince, while merely observing the air "war" from his plane, was mistaken for one of the "enemy" by six fighting machines. One by one the planes dashed in to attack, forcing the prince's pilot, Squadron Leader D. S. Don, lower and lower. The planes continued the assault as the relay machine landed.

Theoretically hundreds of bombs were dropped in today's operations, and several airdromes and depots were destroyed. The "port" of Catterick was wiped out by the "Blue" bombers, and at least 16 air centers were bombarded by both sides.

First blood was scored by the "Blues" in the destruction of Catterick during a 400 mile flight, which crossed the Pennine range of hills, followed by a series of raids by fast bombers flying in formation over Cranwell. The prince of Wales participated in this battle.

"Casualties on Both Sides."

"Lively engagements with casualties on both sides," a communique said later.

The "Red" forces were the most successful in the day's offensive, committing great havoc to the "Blue" airdromes at East Church and Andover up the Avon. The "Reds" claimed 34 "Blue" aircraft destroyed and 47 damaged, while the "Blues" reported 23 "Red" machines destroyed and ten damaged.

A feature of the day's fighting was the bombing by the new "robot" planes, in which the automatic pilots gave "amazing" performances.

"Laid Off" or Jobless? Not Made Clear.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—Complete unemployment figures announced by the census bureau today for Greater New York showed that out of a total population of 6,959,195 in the five boroughs, 234,855 persons usually gainfully employed, or 3.4 per cent of the whole people, were "without a job, able to work, and looking for a job."

The percentage ran higher than the 2 per cent average indicated for the entire country in a preliminary survey June 26 by Secretary of Commerce Robert P. Lamont.

Reviews Controversy.

The announcement renewed the controversy over the significance of the census calculation. The unemployment census includes two schedules—one in which persons capable of work but having no jobs are listed and another which includes persons having jobs but laid off as a result of business depression or for other causes. The figures announced thus far include as unemployed only those listed under the first schedule and do not include persons who claim to "have a job" but are not actually working.

When the reports are expended to include those who are temporarily laid off as well as tramps, hobos, and persons who say they "have a job but were not at work" on the last regular working day, it is expected the unemployed percentage will run higher.

Highest in Manhattan.

The New York report showed the percentage of unemployment was highest in Manhattan, where 86,299 persons were reported out of work out of a total of 1,859,925, a ratio of 4.6 per cent, and was lowest in Queens, where the jobless numbered 25,142, or 2.3 per cent of the population of 1,079,857. In the Bronx, the percentage of unemployment was 2.9; in Brooklyn, 3.1, and in Richmond 3.2.

KLAN RAIDED RED CHILDREN'S CAMP, ROOSEVELT TOLD

New York, Aug. 13.—(AP)—A protest was sent today by the international labor defense to Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt against a raid which the organization said was made yesterday by the Ku Klux Klan on the children's camp maintained by the workers' international relief at Van Etten, near Elmira, N. Y.

"The camp was raided by state police Tuesday night after a threatening demonstration by the Ku Klux Klan and the American Legion, during which hundreds of klansmen burned a huge cross," the labor defense telegraphed the governor.

Mabel Husa and Alli Halmeen, two teachers, and two children were taken in a motor car belonging to the camp held for two hours, then carried to the city hall and forced to kiss the American flag, it was asserted.

Persia Calls Out 60,000 Reserves to Fight Kurds

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 13.—Shah Riza Khan of Persia has called out 60,000 Persian reserves, in three districts, from Teheran to Tobriz, to deal with the warring Kurdish tribes, it was learned today. The troops will be added to the regular army of 26,000, but whether they will join the Turkish punitive expedition, which has already crossed the Persian frontier, is not known.

When this happens, high-powered salesmanship usually takes on an extra head of steam.

But don't be confused when the tire dealer with something "special" to sell backs you into a corner.

Just remember the one fact — after years of experience, after testing this value and that, "more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

There must be a valid reason for this.

There is: Goodyear Tires are definitely superior, in the two main parts of a tire.

Any Goodyear Dealer will be glad to demonstrate the facts.

Now is the time to get YOURS

The facts certainly are: Goodyear Tires do give greater value.

As far back as 1916, it became a fact that more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

Every year since that time it has been increasingly true that more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

Today this preference for Goodyears runs into millions: millions more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

There can be only one conclusion: Goodyear Tires must be better—and at present prices they are a matchless bargain.

MARTIN INSULL DEFENDS PUBLIC 'EDUCATION' PLAN

Debates Policy of Power Interests.

Charlottesville, Va., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—In spite of the recent federal trade commission's inquiry into their propaganda activities, the power interests have "every intention" of continuing their efforts to "educate" the public, Martin J. Insull, president of the Middle West Utilities company declared in the course of an address before the Institute of Public Affairs here today.

The Chicagoan came here to debate the subject of ownership and operation of public utilities with Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for congress from New York.

Mr. Insull said that in his opinion "the education of the public has become more necessary since the inquiry by the trade commission than it was before."

Finance One Problem.

Asserting that the two greatest problems of the power industry concern finance and public relations, Mr Insull said "the latter is the most important," for "unless we create a favorable public opinion we cannot raise money."

Denying that there was anything questionable about the public relations program of the power companies, Mr. Insull added: "We are being criticized now because we have told the people too much."

Mr. Thomas took issue with arguments in favor of private ownership and operation advanced by Mr. Insull and challenged particularly the effectiveness of regulatory commissions, which he described as "putting one set of men to work watching the other with the watchers less well equipped with experts than the corporations they watch."

"If you admit that government regulation has fallen down, how do you expect government operation to succeed?" Mr. Insull asked

Successful, He Says.

"Where we have had a chance at government operation the results have been more successful than commonly supposed," Mr. Thomas replied "Government operation of railroads under very unfortunate limitations during the war succeeded when private operation failed

"The propaganda to the contrary, insofar as it doesn't arise from deliberate misrepresentation arises from the fact that the government wisely preferred to pay a deficit out of taxes rather than to accelerate rising prices by raising rates. The interstate commerce did raise rates for the private operators after the war."

Mr. Thomas also cited the hydroelectric system of Ontario and the municipal systems of Los Angeles, Seattle, Tacoma, Jamestown, New York, and elsewhere as examples of public agencies which can and will give domestic and farm consumers better rates than private industry "even in the field which is still regarded as peculiarly one for private management, namely the electrical industry."

OFFICIAL TELLS OF PROGRESS ON POSTOFFICE PLAN

Reconstruct Design of Floor.

Progress toward the realization of Chicago's long deferred new postoffice was reported yesterday by Fourth Assistant Postmaster General John W. Philp, who is here to confer with Postmaster Lueder and the building's architects. Tentative floor plans are now being reconstructed, the officials reported.

But the question as to where the building will be erected is no nearer a solution than it was several weeks ago, Mr. Philp said. This is due, he said, to the illness of Vice President Hume of the Pennsylvania railroad, who has been head of a committee negotiating with the government on a price for the air rights above a portion of the tracks entering the Union station—a site strongly considered.

Working on Plans.

Mr. Hume has been unable to resume these negotiations for three weeks, Mr. Philp said, and Mr. Philp could give no date for the probable resumption of the discussions. Meanwhile, the postoffice department engineers and the Chicago architectural concern of Graham, Anderson, Probst & White, are going ahead with preliminary drawings.

The shift in the site would transfer the postoffice from the original plot purchased by the government, which is bounded by Canal, Harrison, Clinton, and Polk streets, across Harrison street north and to a location partially over the Union station tracks.

Discuss Street Problem.

Blocking the extension of Congress street, as it would, part of the negotiations now being conducted bear on the cutting through of that thoroughfare, Mr. Philp said. He said that an archway through the building to accommodate Congress street would not complicate the building of the structure.

TWO NEW WITNESSES CHARGE MOONEY CASE TESTIMONY PERJURED

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 13.—(AP)—Stories of Estelle Smith and John Crowley, prosecution witnesses in the preparedness day bombing case here, were branded as perjurers today by new witnesses, unexpectedly introduced at the Supreme court hearing on the pardon application of Warren K. Billings.

Crowley, since dead, identified Billings as one of two men he saw at Steuart and Mission streets at 1:45 p. m. the day of the bombing.

Miss Smith, former dental nurse, testified Billings visited her office with a suitcase before the parade began.

The surprise witnesses, summoned by the defense, were Dr. Shane and W. L. Claybourne, Oakland attorney and former Steuart street garage owner, in whose establishment Crowley was employed on the day of the explosion.

Dr. Shane denied having seen Billings or any other man with a suit case in his office that day.

Claybourne told the court it would have been physically impossible for Crowley to see any one at Steuart and Mission streets for at least 45 minutes previous to and ten minutes after the bombing.

WALKER TELLS JURY WHY EWALD WAS APPOINTED

Tammany Chief Healy Also Witness.

New York, Aug. 13.—[Special.]—Mayor "Jimmy" Walker spent twenty-two minutes before the New York county grand jury today assuring the jurors that, so far as he knew, there was no truth in the charge that George F. Ewald traded $12,000 for an appointment as city magistrate.

The mayor was the first witness in the grand jury investigation to learn the reason for the selection of Ewald as a proper recipient of Tammany patronage.

Mayor Walker presumably told the grand jury the same story he told District Attorney T. C. T. Crain yesterday—that the Ewald appointment was the result of the backing of a mutual friend, Victor Ritter, publisher of the Staats Zeitung, and of the Steuben society.

Other witnesses before the grand jury included Martin J. Healy, the Tammany district leader, who has admitted that he borrowed $10,000 from Mrs. Ewald about the time her husband was appointed to the bench; Mrs. Ewald, herself, and Thomas T. Tommaney, characterized by Healy as "just a pal of mine" who acted as go-between in the $10,000 transfer of Mrs. Ewald's money to Healy's pocket.

Just before the grand jury session got under way Mr. Crain announced he had obtained circumstantial evidence indicating that Ewald knew that his wife gave a $5,000 certified check to Healy in April, 1927, at the time of the appointment.

KILLER BEATEN BY BROTHER OF SLAIN POLICEMAN

Harry Yetter, who shot and killed Policeman John J. Guiltanane of the Morgan Park station a month ago when surprised in the act of holding up a garage at 2345 West 111th street, was ordered held to the grand jury on a charge of first degree murder by a coroner's jury yesterday. During the inquest the policeman's brother, George Guiltanane, a chauffeur, leaped at Yetter and pummeled him severely before he could be restrained.

The jury also recommended that the police continue their search for William Neveraski, 4916 South Lincoln street, Yetter's alleged accomplice, who escaped. The two also wounded Policeman Anthony Wistort, who was with Guiltanane, and he is said to be permanently paralyzed.

Yetter, who has a police record as a holdup man, was paroled a year ago from Joliet penitentiary.

RITES TODAY FOR MRS. PROUDFOOT, CHICAGO PIONEER

Funeral services for Mrs. Ellen A. Proudfoot, 85 years old, member of a pioneer Chicago family, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at a funeral parlor at 316 West 63d street, with burial at Mount Hope cemetery. She died Tuesday at the Hyde Park hotel.

Mrs. Proudfoot, last of a family of six, was born at Wells street and the Chicago river in 1845. Her father, Elihu Granger, emigrated here in 1838 from New England in a prairie schooner. He engaged in the iron foundry business. He was commissioner of public works for 30 years and a member of the city council when it numbered but six aldermen. Mrs. Proudfoot remembered the first steam locomotive that ever ran over the Illinois Central railroad, and when the waters of the lake reached to the west side of what is now Michigan avenue.

Her husband was a pioneer Chicago realty man. She is survived by two daughters, Mary A. Proudfoot of the Hyde Park hotel, and Mrs. Frank M. Welch of Stillwater, Minn., and three sons, Fred, an attorney of MacGregor, Ia.; Frank G., retired, of Chicago, and Alfred G., a contractor of Hammond, Indiana.

N. Y. C. PASSENGER AGENT ENDS FIFTY YEARS IN SERVICE

Clare Hartigan, assistant general passenger agent of the New York Central railroad, yesterday completed his 50th year of service with the railroad.

The veteran recalled the celebrities who had been among his 3,000,000 passengers, including Presidents Roosevelt, Taft, Wilson, Harding, Coolidge, and Hoover. He recalled that Roosevelt had shown interest in locomotives and liked to ride in the cab so that he might talk with the engineer.

Mr. Hartigan began railroad work on Aug. 13, 1880, as an office boy in Watertown, N. Y., with the Rome, Watertown and Oswego railroad, now a part of the New York Central lines. He was made a clerk in 1883, a traveling passenger agent in 1891, general agent of the passenger department at Montreal in 1907, and later general agent at Rutland, Vt. He became assistant general passenger agent here in 1912.

The Nine Hundred Block

BY KATHARINE HAVILAND TAYLOR

SYNOPSIS.

To the nine hundred block, with its deteriorated dwellings, moved gentle, lovely Theresa Ames and her mother, Mrs. Colt, under the watchful eye of Mrs. Baum, neighborhood gossip. Theresa makes friends with Katie Warner, who lives upstairs, and B. Jones, a reporter; also Johnny Deane, who left a home of wealth to make good for the girl to whom, he reports since meeting Theresa, he is engaged. He has found employment painting automobiles. Theresa does typing at home to support herself and her mother, who has known better days. Mrs. Colt wants Theresa to marry Billy Treadway, a rich bachelor beau of her own girlhood.

Theresa's father, Arnold Ames, married again after Theresa's mother divorced him to marry Barrington Colt, who recently died. The father now has a belated desire to help his daughter, but his wife threatens to leave him if he does. He arranges with Harold Gale, a friend, to secretly give Theresa work. For Christmas he sends her a thousand dollar bond.

Johnny Deane had determined not to tell Theresa of his love for her until he had broken his engagement, but does not keep his vow. When he confesses Theresa feels he has deceived her and she will not forgive him. He breaks his engagement, and the girl, infuriated, sells his letters to a newspaper. Johnny returns to his father's home. Theresa tells her mother she will marry Billy Treadway and writes to her father, who calls and tells Theresa it would be criminal for her to marry Billy.

Johnny, in New York, keeps informed about Theresa through Katie. He tells his father about Theresa. The elder Deane communicates with Arnold Ames and, together, the fathers scheme to bring about their children's happiness.

Mrs. Colt dies.

ANGER.

Katie was looking at her probingly. "Never, never, never!" Theresa added. Katie was smiling.

"Never's a long time, kid," she said, "when you care like you do."

"I don't, Katie," Theresa combated, and close to hysterically. "You don't understand. I hate him—I loathe him. He's—he's abominable. My father tried to urge me to see him. I said I never—never would, I said——"

"Look here," said Katie, "I understand, an' a darned sight better'n what you do, and there ain't no sense in your whippin' yourself all up in a lather——"

"I'm not excited, Katie! It's simply that I want you to understand; I'm really not at all excited, Katie, but I do want you to understand that——"

Katie broke in. "O, no," she remarked, ironically, "you're not excited! You're just about as calm as Mrs. Baum is when somebody new moves into the neighborhood. I never seen so much calm! Look here, Theresa, I know yuh. They ain't no use tryin' to bunco me. Look here, you can't think of Johnny without thinkin' 'I hate him,' can yuh?"

"I certainly can't!" [This with even more heat.] "I'll admit that!"

"Well, take it from me, baby [and I haven't saw no incubator for some long winters, and I'm purty well seasoned], when a woman begins to repeat too regular, 'I love him' her heart's threatenin' to wander, and—when she has to say, 'I hate him! I hate him! I hate him!' she's just a doin' it to spunk herself up to hatin' him and—she loves him."

"That's perfect nonsense! And—Katie, I don't like it. I'd rather, please—and I'm sorry to say this—but I must not talk of this again!"

"Why, sure, kid! It's all right with me; suits me fine. I never was stuck on that young Deane and I never seen what you could see in him. He was an ugly faced fellah anyway——"

Theresa's cheeks grew warm. "I don't like him, Katie," she said, with heavy dignity, "but he wasn't ugly. In fact—he's very handsome."

Good afternoon, Katie——" "Come again, Dearie——"

"Him?" Katie inquired scathingly. "Six lanky feet tall and more—and fallin' over his own big feet——"

"They weren't larger than should be for his height," Theresa stated.

"They musta been fourteens——" Katie contested.

"They were tens."

"Well, they looked bigger'n Detwiler's."

"Why, Katie!"

"Yeh—and his eyes—kinda pig colored, wasn't they?"

"No!"

"What color was they then, if they wasn't greasy dishwater or pig?"

"They were blue, dark blue."

"He had a sickly skin——"

"He hadn't!" [This violently.]

"He was yellah skinned."

"That was tan, Katie."

"The first time I seen him I thought, 'Well, if you ain't the ugly face,' I thought. I was real surprised you'd look at anybody so ugly faced as him," Katie went on impiacably.

Theresa started a hot denial and then she pulled herself up. It didn't, she reminded herself, make any difference whatsoever to her what any one thought of Johnny Deane, but—she was really disappointed in Katie, whose judgment she had heretofore respected.

"Herman thought he was awful funny lookin', too," Katie continued loudly. "Herman was kinda jealous of his bunkin' up here along with me, t'll he seen him; then he wasn't jealous no more, he just laffed."

Theresa's chin was high and her cheeks were hot and her eyes were hard as they could get.

"Herman called him 'That there guraff,' Katie confided, "and honest to Gawd if that didn't hit Johnny off. I never seen Johnny that I didn't think, 'You ole guraff,' but his feet was more like a St. Bernard puppy's, wasn't they?"

"No." [Level, cold, final, that "No."]

"Why, Theresa! He had awful big feet on him! He says so his self! Don't you mind that day he says the room where he had to spritz paint on motors was big enough—if he could leave his feet outside?"

"I have—work to do; I must go down," said Theresa, chilly, and as she moved toward the door. Chin even higher! Cheeks even hotter! "And—Katie—I'd rather not ever talk again of—Mr. Deane!"

"It's the same to me, dearie," Katie answered, adding, with an assurance of speaking for both that maddened Theresa, "Me, I don't like him none, either! No girl with a right brain on her could. Herman, he says, 'My Gawd, Katie, you don't tell me that pretty little girl, Miss Ames, she's settin' up and walkin' out with that there guraff!' I couldn't hardly make him believe you was——"

"Good afternoon, Katie——"

"Come again, dearie——"

Silence.

A little girl, rigid from anger, shaking from it, stalking down the stair. Katie, her door closed, sagged against it and "laughin' fit to bust." Tears, started by laughter, were upon her cheeks when she could sober sufficiently "to get at it"—writing to Johnny.

She hunted the lined tablet and envelope. She hadn't, she saw, "no stamp." Maybe Mrs. Lambert would sell her one. She "guessed" she'd write the letter with pencil, using ink only on the envelope. Ink "kinda got on" Katie.

She murmured, settling, a resigned but mournful "Well, here goes——"

"Now" she'd "forgot" the Complete Letter Writer which came in handy" at odd moments on hard, uphill stretches in Katie's letters. The Complete Letter Writer was under the bed, she remembered, after a somewhat protracted search for it. Salvaging it, she opened it to that section marked "Courtship and Marriage." This seemed to Katie apt and wholly correct.

Then—"My gosh, it's allus sumpin!" she murmured, complainingly, after which she thrust her head from her window. Mrs. Detwiler was in her back yard fuming about having no room "fer to stretch a piece of carpet what with the dogs and all."

"Mrs. Detwiler," Katie squawked, "what's the date? Ain't it the twentieth?"

"Wait a minute, I'll look fer yuh," Mrs. Detwiler barked back shrilly. Mrs. Baum put her head out of her back door. "Writin' a letter?" she squawked. But she couldn't make Katie hear. "Ain't that annoyin'?" she muttered.

"Twenty-first," Mrs. Detwiler screamed, returning from her Evening Herald calendar.

"I'm writin' a letter," Katie explained.

"Well, now I can get back to my work," thought Mrs. Baum.

"Friend John:

"Say, it's time you got back hear. Your shirts is all wore out and you can't do nothing about that if you do get them back, but anyway that ain't what I'm writing about. Mr. Sipe is awful hard on shirts, and Mrs. Sipe has been renting them, too, besides his wearing them which is hard on shirts. I'm real sorry about them shirts. If you come back I guess you can get fixed up with her if you want to. I was saying how ugly you was and she got mad. You come here and to my room and I'll send her up. She don't do nothing besides standing around and saying how she hates you. You know what that means. It means she loves you. A postcard will do it if you write the hour on. Don't write nothing more. If you write on more Mrs. Nulman will read whats wrote like she always does, and maybe tell Theresa."

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning!

If you saw the play or have shrewdly observed the smiling baby in the movie ad columns, you're not in doubt as to what is the "Little Accident."

This film you will find an amusing adaptation of the successful stage farce comedy by Thomas Mitchell and Floyd Dell, doctored a bit to soothe the censors. The story unfolds easily and humorously; the players are pleasing and put over the dialogue in good shape. The director and photographer did their part with intelligence and a will. Therefore, adults [they're the only ones admitted] are pretty sure to enjoy a visit to Woods while "Little Accident" is on that theater's screen.

The hero is a young Mr. Overbeck, who learns on the eve of his marriage to Madge that he is the father of Isabel's baby, just born in a Chicago hospital. [Isabel and he were married and "annulled" a year or so before, according to the picture.] In the play they hadn't bothered about getting married.

Norman dashes to Chicago, where he finds the only girl he has really ever loved preparing to give out HIS SON for adoption! He steals the child for which he has conceived the most violently paternal feelings, with assorted results. Happy ending? Yes. Obvious and not very snappy—but happy—ending.

The good acting of young Douglas Fairbanks, who, bless his heart, has had a haircut and looks so much prettier! is upheld by some more good acting on the part of an able and personable cast. The piece sports several good, rousing laughs.

Think you'd like to see it? I think so.

THE CAST.

Lee	Pauline Stark
Kendall Phillips	Ben Lyon
Betty	Barbara Kent
Howard	Robert Ellis
Bunch	Hallam Cooley
Mabel	Carmelita Geraghty

WHERE have they been keeping Pauline Starke and WHY have they been keeping her where they've been keeping her?

She has it all over half the screen femmes in both looks and ability, but they hide her under a bushel as if she didn't cost a cent, until they find some limp drayma like this piece with the stupid title that means just exactly nothing, and then haul her out to save the day. It would be to weep if, really, such lack of discernment weren't funny. This film is for adults only. Why, I don't know, but it's a break for the young.

Miss Starke portrays a gay and beautiful lady who sends away the man who has been caring for her for years, when she falls in love with an open-faced youth [Mr. Ben Lyon who is that in very truth!] who, she hopes, will propose honorable marriage.

Unexpectedly, her gurgling college-bred sister arrives for a visit. Sister and young Phillips decide that they have much in common. After considerable hi lee hi lo, things are ironed out as you've suspected all along that they would be.

Miss Starke does much with nothing, and the players supporting her play up nobly. Direction is too good for the story, which is nil. The sound is AWFUL! You can barely distinguish what the players are saying for fully three-quarters of the time.

See you soon.

Amelia Earhart Urges Women Aviators Gain More Flying Skill

New York, Aug. 13.—(AP)—Vice President Amelia Earhart of the N. Y. P. & W. Airway corporation, swung around in her swivel chair, tucked one foot under her, gestured at some flies in an unfinished office, and remarked that things would look differently by the first of September.

First woman to fly the Atlantic ocean, she is to have charge of the New York office of that corporation, that is to start hourly airplane service from New York to Philadelphia and Washington in a few weeks.

She expects, too, to get out of her office and pilot a plane over the line once in a while. She is the only woman in the United States who is licensed "to carry paid passengers in closed single engine planes weighing up to 7,700 pounds."

"The feminists of aviation are doing women a great deal of harm," she said, "by taking credit which doesn't belong to them, by having their pictures taken in front of planes they can't fly. By trying to break down racing barriers they're only retarding their own progress.

"Women's accomplishment in the air is not sufficient to warrant their entrance into every type of race. There are some races they should stay out of for a while.

"Already women are serving as airport hostesses, saleswomen, and demonstrators.

"Women haven't had the same break in aviation that men have had. Planes are too large for many of them, and therefore are hard to handle. Airport facilities aren't designed for them, and they haven't had the advantage of army and navy training.

"They'll have to make progress despite those difficulties—and they are."

Chinese Check Yankee Mission Zeal in Schools

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Aug. 13.—The Chinese government has definitely and firmly rejected a petition signed by twelve leading foreign missionary organizations, asking governmental revision of a law passed some time ago prohibiting the teaching of religious courses in primary and middle schools.

The Chinese rejection of the petition contained the signature of Moting Chang, minister of education, a graduate of Columbia university and a former student of the well known American philosopher, Dr. John Dewey.

Missionary organizations which signed the petition to the government included the Church of Christ in China, Methodist Episcopal church, American Baptist Missionary society, Protestant Episcopal church, United Lutheran church, Swedish Missionary union, Evangelical church, Church of the Brethren, Rhenish Missionary society, Methodist Protestant church, Basel Missionary society, and the United Methodist society.

As a result of the government's rejection, which concludes with the sentence, "Let this be considered final and not subject to further review," the heads of various foreign missionary organizations, who occupy a large office building here, are considering whether it is really worth while to attempt to carry on their work in China. Many are actually threatening a withdrawal from the Chinese field, particularly in view of the fact that the missionary organizations also have, for a considerable period, been experiencing diminished contributions from home church organizations in the United States.

China's rejection of the petition for a reconsideration of the so-called "anti-religious" laws passed sometime ago by the National government consisted of four paragraphs and a final summary.

The summary is of greatest significance due to its blow at sectarianism, a chief characteristic of western Christianity as it has been propagated in China by numerous religious denominations for more than a century. The Chinese statement on this point was as follows:

"There is not only one religion. If we allow each religion in the name of education to vie one with the other to propagate religion, the natural tendency will be to create divisions and strife. The ministry of education, in order to guard against such a possible future calamity, is obliged to impose these restrictions, which do not apply only to Christianity, but to the other religions as well.

"Hence, to have elective courses in religion in junior middle schools and to have the privilege of worship in primary schools, embody obstacles too difficult to permit the ministry to grant the request. We hope you will consider in a sympathetic way this our humble opinion regarding the restriction upon propagation of religion in schools. Let this be considered final and not subject to further review."

In its reply to the statement in the petition of the missionary organizations that "religious teaching is necessary in the training for life work," the minister of education admitted that this statement "was not far from the truth." But he countered with the further assertion that the truth of the statement in the petition "depends upon whether you utilize in your teaching the ideals of all religions, such, for example, as the teachings of equality and mercy in Buddhism, with the universal love and service of others in Christianity. One cannot limit religious teachings exclusively to one religion. Furthermore, religion cannot be taught by outward forms and practices. If you limit religious teachings to one religion only, it becomes a mere formality and from an educational point of view is not essential in the training for life."

In the second part of his reply to the missionaries' petition, Dr. Chang declared the teaching of particular brands of religions in the missionary schools, "Would preempt their minds and deprive them later on in their years of maturity of the ability to exercise freedom in the choice of their religion, in other words, would amount to placing shackles upon their liberty of thought."

In reply to the statement of the missionaries that it was necessary to provide church schools for the children of 200,000 Chinese Christian converts, the minister of education declared, "This seems to us to be on a plane with the attempt to view the world from one's own doorstep, a contention which we cannot accept."

Fourthly, the minister of education declared that if the missionaries proposed to experiment in education, basing the experiments on projects related to science and social conditions, that would have the government's heartiest approval and support.

In specific reference to religious experimentation, he declared that "religion is one type of abstract intangible imagination and is outside the category of educational theories, hence there is no reason why the government should permit religious schools for the purpose of experimentation."

New Handling of Credits at Crane Junior College Told

New rules for the opening of Crane Junior college under its new administration were announced yesterday. Classes will open Sept. 2, opening date for all schools under the jurisdiction of the board of education.

"Incoming freshmen will be admitted only after their credits have been evaluated," Kenneth W. Duncan, registrar, said. "Hence any students desiring to enter the college for the first semester must have their credits on file by Sept. 2. All students coming from other colleges must submit past high school credits and a statement of honorable dismissal."

PERSHING ASKS FRANCE TO WRECK YANK WAR SHAFT; PRESS IS ANGRY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 13.—The controversy over the monument erected by the 316th Infantry regiment at Sivry, near Verdun, has flared up again and is attracting a great deal of attention in the French and even the British press. It was learned today that Gen. John J. Pershing has twice called on Premier Tardieu, demanding that the French government tear down the monument, which was erected without the permission of the battle monuments commission. The ultimate fate of the monument depends on Premier Tardieu.

Meanwhile the French press has shifted the issue from a purely private row between the veterans of the 316th and Gen. Pershing to a "distressing Franco-American incident." The newspapers regard Gen. Pershing's attitude as an insult to the French war dead and the wartime leader of the American forces has been bitterly attacked in several papers.

It is recalled that the veterans were refused permission to erect the monument because of a rule of the battle monument commission forbidding a monument to any unit smaller than a division. The veterans technically obeyed the rule, but turned over the money raised for a memorial to a Hospice de Verdun, which promptly erected the monument to its American benefactors.

Europe's Noted Jurists Meet with Canadians

Will Come Here for Bar Convention.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 13.—Sir John Simon, who is entitled to use about twelve letters after his name, signifying his fame as a British lawyer and politician, prominent in the public eye as chairman of the Indian statutory commission, headed a group of Europe's leading lawyers into Canada today. They landed at Quebec on board the liner Duchess of Atholl.

The party, which included judges and lawyers from Great Britain, the Irish Free State, and France, numbering, with their wives, about 300, are on their way to Toronto for the Canadian Bar association annual convention, Aug. 15 and 16. Many will go on to the American Bar association convention in Chicago later this month.

R. B. Bennett, new prime minister of Canada, is president of the Canadian Bar association, and will be the main speaker at the opening meeting Friday morning.

The party reached Montreal from Quebec late this afternoon and visited McGill university, where a special convocation was held. Honorary degrees were conferred upon Sir John Simon, Lord MacMillan, and Sir Frank Boyd Merriman of the British group, and Henri de Cugis of Paris, law expert for the league of nations.

The bar of Montreal tendered a dinner tonight.

Tomorrow Ottawa is providing a day of entertainment. Among the visitors are Viscount Dunedin, keeper of the great seal of the principality of Scotland; Sir William Jowitt, British attorney general, and Justice Hanna, judge of the Irish high courts.

Coming to Chicago.

Delegates from the British, French and Canadian bar, as well as distinguished lawyers and jurists of the United States will not be limited to consideration of legal matters during the time the American Bar association is in session.

Among the Americans attending will be Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes of the United States Supreme court who will be here for the opening meeting next Thursday night at the Civic Opera house. Justice and Mrs. Hughes will be the dinner guests of the Silas H. Strawns that night and others in the same party will be Viscount and Viscountess Dunedin. The Noble Brandon Judahs will give a dinner for visiting French lawyers at the same time and other delegates will attend a dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hamill and the Amos Millers, and dinners given by the Nathan W. MacChesneys, the Kellogg Fairbanks, the Williams P. Sidleys, the Sidney Gorhams, the Frank J. Loesches, and by Col. and Mrs. George T. Langhorne.

These affairs will be given before the association's meeting which will be followed by a reception at the Stevens hotel. During the time of the sessions, other social affairs will include a dinner dance at the Woman's Athletic club, given by Mrs. Harry Upson Sims of Birmingham, Ala.

BELGIAN QUEEN VISITS AT RESORT FAMOUS FOR WEIGHT REDUCING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 13.—The arrival of Queen Elizabeth of the Belgians at the fashionable spa of Brides-les-Bains has started a lot of tongues wagging in this haunt of international nobility.

Brides-les-Bains is famous for its reducing cure and the presence of the Belgian queen is attributed by gossips to worry over increasing avoirdupois. Queen Elizabeth has long been noted for her graceful figure and is said to be greatly distressed over a tendency toward obesity.

Let Your Child Learn Failure Is Not Ignominy

Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans

A booklet on "Sex Education" will be sent by Mrs. Bevans on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Your child needs success.

So say all of us who are writing and talking and thinking about children. And it is true. Children must have success to have a sense of accomplishment. Especially when they're little their playthings and activities must be difficult enough to stimulate them, but not so difficult that they discourage them. Most of their efforts must be crowned with success.

But—and this applies more to when they're older—children must learn to fail as well as to sucess. They're going gradually to be confronted with a greater variety of work and play—and not all of it is going to be presented to them in gradations of difficulty as it is when they're small. Consequently, many times they're going to fail.

Now, some natures seem to be automatically equipped so that when they fail they do one of two things. Either they take failure in a perfectly matter of fact way with a fine sense of proportion, or they are stimulated by failure to greater effort. You know that kind of person. When he is grown up he become conscious of this quality and says to himself. "The more obstacles there are, the better I like it." He will fail in business and come back, and fail again and come back again.

But this is not true of all grown people nor of all children. Some children take even small failures very hard. They are either dispirited or discouraged by them. And if they fail so that the failure is known or seen, they are badly upset.

Notice failure is as everyday an experience as reciting in a classroom. Some children fail and forget it. Others will show every time they fail real chagrin. The same thing is noticeable in children who are learning something like tennis or dancing.

To fail in the eyes of the world seems to be much worse than to fail unnoticed. As they get into college to fail in an examination is a tragedy and to fail in a job seriously affects their self-confidence.

When your children are little watch them, and help them not to take failure too hard.

In fact, teach them how to fail. Get the idea across that there's no disgrace in failing, that the only harm is in failing to challenge you. If you fail, go to it again and try harder. Or if you don't have a second chance, notice what you did that was wrong and profit by it.

Vaccine Treatment Discussed in Norway

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OSLO, Norway, Aug. 13.—The international tuberculosis conference here today discussed Prof. Alfred Calmette's much disputed "Bacille Calmette-Guerin," or "BCG," a vaccine against tuberculosis. It was declared that none of the objections made against the practical use of the vaccine have been proved, while clinical experiments had shown the objections were without foundation.

Many notable foreign specialists debated Dr. Calmette's method, all approving, including Prof. William Park of New York. He stated that he had made many experiments with animals and that properly produced vaccine administered through the mouth was totally harmless. He also stated that statistics in New York showed that vaccination reduced the death rate. Insurance experiments with the vaccination of children showed that the vaccine gave greater resisting powers against contagion.

The conference elected Prof. Froelich of Norway as the next president of the union.

Tavern Club to Dedicate New Addition

The mail yesterday brought announcements to Tavern club members of a dinner dance to be held Aug. 28, two weeks from tonight.

This affair will mark the formal dedication of the new addition to the club on the 26th floor of the 333 Building. The new rooms occupy the entire floor above the club proper and include a men's lounge, a solarium, and three private dining rooms.

The invitations from Charles Collins, the club scribe, bear convincing promise of a pleasant evening:

"On Thursday evening, Aug. 28, the Tavern will introduce its members only to the new club rooms on the floor above. The stock market may recede and the corn crops wither—but we expand.

"At 7:45 p. m. or thereabouts the inspection party will begin, with hors d'oeuvres served in the new environment aloft. Then, eye and palate stimulated, you may choose your favorite dishes from the buffet in the dining room.

"Dancing will follow, indefinitely. The entertainment committee also promises professional amusement.

"A group of aces, eagles and birdies participating in the national air races that week—the fine flower of aerial chivalry—will be guests of honor."

The marriage of Miss Natalie Ogden Frees, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Edward Frees of 5450 East View Park, to Harry Hooper Simpson, son of Mrs. Margaret Simpson of Centerville, Md., will be solemnized at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. William Bradshaw Egan at 2440 Lake View avenue. Only the immediate families and a few close friends will attend the ceremony and the reception following.

Mrs. Egan will attend her sister as matron of honor and John Hurley of Oak Park will be best man for Mr. Simpson. The bride and groom will go to Bermuda for their wedding trip and after their return some time in September will reside at 5940 Stony Island avenue.

The annual Lake Geneva men's invitational golf tournament will be held tomorrow and Saturday at the Lake Geneva Country club, with the qualifying round to be played this afternoon.

There will be a stag dinner at the club tomorrow evening and a dinner dance on Saturday night. Among the residents giving house parties over the week-end are the Ralph Ishams, who will have Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Winter as their guests, and Dr. and Mrs. W. P. Finney, who will be hosts to a group of doctors from the Mayo Brothers clinic.

Many of the Chicago summer colonists in the vicinity of Harbor Point, Mich., attended the annual sale for the Vocational Society for Shut-Ins on Tuesday afternoon at Birchwood farm, the estate of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Otis at Harbor Springs. Mrs. Otis opens her residence every summer for some charitable cause and the events are always large and successful.

Mrs. Laird Bell, president of the Vocational society, officiated at the sale, and was assisted by Mrs. J. Sidney Burnet, Mrs. Harold Eldridge, Mrs. Joseph B. Woodruff, Mrs. James Offield, Mrs. William Waller Jr., Mrs. Frank Wells, Mrs. Robert C. Wheeler, Mrs. Edward L. Hersey, Mrs. Byron Gifford, Mrs. Robert Hyman, Miss Emily Otis, Miss Marian Smith, and Miss Margaret Sinclair.

Mrs. Frank Pierce gave a dinner for twenty-five guests on Tuesday evening at the Little Harbor club and Mrs. J. Sidney Burnet was hostess to twelve dinner guests on the same evening.

Frank Pierce Jr., who heads the club racing committee, announces that the Yacht club ball will be held at the Harbor Point club on Saturday evening, Aug. 30. Trophies for the sailing events will be awarded.

Mrs Otho Fisher Ball, who is spending the month at Hot Springs, Va., with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Quentin H. Gilbey of London, gave a dinner last Sunday evening at Fassifern farm, taking her guests out by motor. The Gilbeys will come to Chicago with Mrs. Ball in September.

The George A. McKinlocks, who are at Bar Harbor, Me., for the summer, gave a dinner for Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury of Philadelphia on Monday evening at the Bar Harbor club.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph M. Thayer of Hinsdale sailed on Tuesday from Montreal on the Duchess of Richmond for a trip to England and France. They will return in late October.

Mrs. R. Townsend McKeever of 1500 Lake Shore drive, who has been traveling in the east for about five weeks, is in New York for a few days at the St. Regis hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Black of 229 Lake Shore drive and Mrs. Frank Hibbard of 191 East Walton place are at the Savoy-Plaza hotel in New York. Mrs. Hibbard will remain in the east for about a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Street Stevens have returned from a two months' motor tour of the west and are residing at the Stevens hotel. Mrs. Stevens is the former Miss Dorothy Louise Moulds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Moulds of 5739 Kimbark avenue.

Lawsonia Country club at Green Lake, Wis., is to have a Spanish costume party on Saturday evening. The feature of the program will be a series of Spanish dances by Mrs. Mellen C. Martin of Winnetka. Mrs. Martin has appeared frequently at benefit performances in Spain and in this country.

Tailored Ensemble of White Marquesette

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS. —[Special.]— Paris creators at the moment are making and selling more white than anything else. White is always the best possible bet for the summer resort; it fits in with any background or any milieu. It may be ever so simple, but it is always distinguished.

Smart Parisiennes are choosing white frocks for every occasion, from morn till midnight, this summer. They wear with them accessories of bright navy blue, rich red, or bright yellow. Nine out of every ten women at Deauville, one recent week-end, were dressed in one of these combinations.

Worth makes the tailored ensemble, sketched above, of white marquesette, a particularly delectable summer material that is thin, but not too transparent, and has the extra matte surface the couturiers say will be more and more fashionable as fall draws near.

The simple, long sleeved frock is bloused at the natural waist over a plain band of marquesette. Its slightly flaring skirt is finished with eight bias folds of itself, notched in the center front.

The wrist length jacket of white marquesette is sleeveless. It is slightly bloused by a rather wide separate belt of royal blue velvet fastened with a clear prystal buckle. Velvet belts, trimmings, and sashes are, by the way, the last word in Paris chic. This belt may be worn with the frock when the coat is slipped off. It forms the sole touch of color in this ensemble.

A scarf of the white marquesette, trimmed with white silk fringe, adds smartness on cool days. The hat is white felt and so is the handbag.

Autographed Books for Best Letters on Jack and Jill

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Here's a pleasant surprise for all the boys and girls who have written letters to win invitations to our Jack and Jill party. Miss Frances Cavanah, author of "Li'l Black Heliotrope," one of the plays in the program being planned for us, will give two autographed copies of one of her books to the writers of the best letters I receive. One will be given to a boy and the other to a girl. The title of the book is "The Treasure of Belden Place," and it sounds like a most interesting story. It's a mystery story about Patty and Patsy, cousins, who spend the summer in their grandmother's old home and discover her lost jewels. Isn't that exciting and isn't it a delightful prize to receive in addition to an invitation to the party?

All the letters should be in this morning, for I am going to read them and decide which of you will be my guests at the aerial theater on Saturday afternoon, Aug. 23. The names of the winners will appear in Sunday's paper and there will be news of another grand party, so don't miss it. I shall tell you later, too, the names of the boy and girl to whom Miss Cavanah's book will be awarded.

Today is a big day not only for the boys and girls who have won invitations to our party at Wrigley field this afternoon but for every baseball fan in the city. Our Cubs will meet the Brooklyn Robins in the decisive game of the series and we'll be there rooting for them and cheering them on to victory. Are you all set for a thrilling and exciting game?

I shall be seeing you!

Kaiser Thanks Author for Book Disclaiming Germany's War Guilt

GENOA, Italy, Aug. 13.—(AP)—Wilhelm Hohenzollern, the former emperor of Germany, today telegraphed Baron Alberto Lumbroso thanking him for copies of his articles on origins of the war. The articles recently were published in Giornale di Geneva. They favored Germany's disclaimer of the war guilt.

The former kaiser praised the baron's "objectiveness and documentation," and declared that the Italian nobleman's conclusions "reveal convincingly tendencies leading to conflagration of the pre-war policy of Russia, France, and England."

The ex-kaiser said that he hoped proof of German innocence of war guilt finally would be attained.

Mexico to Distribute Vast Farm Areas in Colonization Project

[Copyright: 1930: By The Chicago Tribune.]

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 13.—President Ortiz Rubio has decreed that government lands, of which the nation possesses a great number of acres, shall be surveyed and subdivided and colonized or given to peasant farmers who desire lands. He stated today in a semi-official decree, that this would be the first move for the solution of the agrarian question in so far as taking further lands from the land owners was concerned.

During the last 15 years, especially since 1920, many farms have passed into the hands of the government because their owners have refused to cultivate them or pay the taxes. Among these lands are some of the best agricultural tracts in the republic. In every state of Mexico there exists a superabaundance of government lands which makes feasable the proposal to fulfill all the necessities for the distribution of lands to the peasants.

The president ordered the appointment of a commission today to make a complete report on all government lands with regard to location, adaptabilities for agriculture, cattle raising, vegetable raising, etc. Local conditions of peasants and the progress already made on the lands previously distributed will be recorded on the report. The removal of the fear of loss of the lands from land owners, including ranchmen, if farmers are expected to recreate agrarian credit which has been lacking for 15 years.

LAWNS "SUN SCORCHED."

Hundreds of thousands of lawns in Chicagoland are showing the effects of scorching suns and insufficient rains, yet a fertilizer company points to science instead of sun for a cause of this dead and burnt appearance.

Insufficient plant food, it is said, is the general reason for brown areas in lawns as much as other causes such as excess heat from the sun and a deficiency in moisture in the soil. A fertilizer mulch, properly applied in spring and shortly after midsummer, is recommended for developing strong extensive root systems which will go deep enough into the soil for moisture and food.

Less watering which may be limited to a thorough soaking once each week even during comparatively dry periods is said to be the result of a lawn feeding practice. Complete fertilizers, or especially prepared plant foods, where soil tests reveal some one of two elements especially lacking, and stimulating chemicals, such as ammonium sulphate, which will discourage weeds are suggested by S. W. Decker of the floriculture division of the college of agriculture in the University of Illinois at Urbana.

The latter product, he says, should be applied at the rate of three pounds to every 1,000 square feet of lawn. Fertilizers should be applied dry and watered in, as all of the readily available fertilizers are likely to burn if they are not washed into the soil. Lawns should be mowed as long as the grass keeps on growing, but it is better to mow often and leave the clippings on the lawn rather than to mow less often and remove the clippings, which serve as a self-fertilizing mulch.

This advice is being followed by scores and hundreds entered in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S $5,000 home lawn contest. Entries closed early this spring, all the lawns have been surveyed and final judging will occur in September, after notices have been mailed to the contestants in the 40 mile radius from The Tribune Tower.

Martyrdom Is Not Called For in Ethics of Marriage, Girls

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"If you were very fond of a man but did not love him would you marry him? If you knew he was deeply in love with you and would go to ruin if you said you were through? Can you be happy with a man who loves you and you are only fond of? Yes, there is another man. I love him, but he does not love me. Funny, but true. I know the one who cares for me would be ruined for life if I don't marry him. I don't want to spoil any one's life. I want to do right because I am that kind of girl. FRANCES."

Also, a bit of a romantic you are, too, Frances!

Clear the decks of the sentimentality about rejected suitors becoming wrecks. They don't unless they were weak enough to be wreck bound any way. Their usual procedure is to turn right round and be caught on the rebound by some nice girl who manages to make them quite agreeably happy.

So for the betterment of your life decision, Frances, get the drama out of the scene. You won't make the mistake, then, of taking the man on as a sacrificial duty, a great mistake in marriage partner considerations. Martyrdom is not called for in marriage ethics. And if the pose were adopted it would eventually put a terrible damper on the husband's affections, it is feared.

No, if you're thinking about taking him on for life, judge him solely for what he is and what he represents as a highly agreeable companion. Marriage does ask that in order to insure its success. If you like to spend time with him, find him interesting and agreeable and sweet and lovable the crown of victory will be more becoming than the thorn insignia of martyrdom. Get that all straight in your mind first. Just what does he mean to you? Companionship, security, a pleasant life?

In order, however, to get an unbiased opinion you might just as well cast out the one in whose life you are meant to play no part. If you know the second one does not love you, that's the end of him so far as you are or should be concerned. His existence is over in your scheme of life.

No telling how many couples have married on fondness to find it a not distant relation at all of love. Lives have been worked out most agreeably on the plan. But not by carrying into the union the feeling that one has been cheated of the great consuming emotion, love. It has been observed by thinkers on the subject that it is lucky for a woman to be the more deeply beloved in a union.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Mother Objects.

"Dear Miss Blake: My boy friend is 21 and I am 18. My mother objects because he is older. Does age matter? BROWN EYES."

It seems to me he would make a suitable companion for you, as girls usually like boys who are somewhat older than themselves.

His Fault.

"Dear Miss Blake: My boy friend and I had a quarrel. It was his fault, but I still love him. Do you think that I should make up with him. "DIMPLES."

He should be man enough to admit he was in the wrong, Dimples.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Telling the English.

Tired from the day's sightseeing, I dreaded the three flights of steps I must climb to my room on the fourth floor of a comparatively new hotel in Germany.

The manager was an Englishman and, with his daughter, was at the desk, so I remarked, "It is strange they did not put a lift in so new a hotel!"

"Why," asked the daughter, "do the hotels in America have lifts in them?"

Then I told her something about the height of some of our large ones, the number of rooms they contain, and also the number of lifts in some of the largest ones.

She listened silently until I had finished, then said: "I have a brother in the States now and we expect him home in about a month. I wonder if he will be as big a liar as you are?" "E. G. M."

The Chinese eat more rice than any other people. They have had to, but through that necessity they have learned a thing or two about rice that many Americans do not know. Those of you who have been so fortunate as to eat rice at a real Chinese restaurant know the superiority of Chinese methods of cooking this cereal. Every grain is separate from the other. They are all dry, are tender, and yet they are chewy and waxy with a nutty flavor so different from the wet mass of broken soft grains we usually encounter on our American tables.

Here is the Chinese way of cooking rice. Try it, and you will understand why these oriental people live without bread and get along without potatoes.

Put the thoroughly washed rice into just enough cold water to cover. Cover closely and bring to the boiling point. When the steam and foam begin to escape from underneath the cover, lower the flame to a simmering one and continue cooking at this low temperature for about 20 minutes. This steaming finishes cooking the rice, the small amount of water is completely absorbed, and the result is a dry rice with every grain remaining separate. Polished or unpolished rice may be cooked in this way.

What is meant by the terms polished and unpolished rice? Unpolished rice is the natural rice obtained when it is threshed out. Polished rice has the bran, the germ, the gluten layer, and some of the outer layers of starch removed from it. A common practice in the rice mills in this country is to coat polished rice with a small proportion of glucose and talc. This makes rice white and lustrous.

Thorough washing removes this coating, and there is no evidence to show that coated rice when properly washed and cooked causes any digestive disturbances. But polished rice lacks the food value of the unpolished. Get acquainted with the brown, unpolished variety. It is worth eating, both from the aesthetic as well as the nutritive point of view.

Trying to Be Flapper on Mature Wings Is Foolish Ambition

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

In a recent exposé in a metropolitan daily of the minds of some dozen celebrated gentlemen toward the ideal woman, one noted member of the distinguished group was given an opportunity to explode on something one sensed, from the tone of his remarks, was his particular irritation from women.

It involved the lady of some 50 or 60 summers who refuses to be her age or anywhere near it. The coy and kittenish grandmere, to be exact. The little girl who refuses to grow up, although her granddaughter is involved in an altar-leading romance. His "pet peeve" is a mild interpretation of the gentleman observer's reaction to this particular type of femme in which quite an army of folk unite to form a hearty consensus of opinion.

Now, nobody is asking any member of the beauty pursuing sex to act her birthday. But acting her age is something else again.

In an establishment dedicated to the great god we're all chasing for one favor or another, a woman put on quite a scene the other day. I happened to be among those present. The reason for the scene was the sudden realization that the course of beauty treatments paid for was up. And as the woman gazed upon her face that hadn't been young for many a day she discovered it was pretty much the same face she had brought in at the beginning of the course.

O, it was better kept looking, better groomed. Possibly it was a little bit younger, but the poor darling had by some process of self-hypnotism, believed she would emerge from fifteen treatments a young bud. Or, from her conversation, that was what one gathered.

What she said did not matter, but the fact that a person nearing 50 expects to duplicate the twenties with any kind of treatment is important because it is an all wrong way of approach to mature beauty. Not by face lifts, peelings or by consistent massage do you ever get an exact duplicate of youth. You may get a young whatever-age-you-ate. You may be a brilliant, blooming 40, but you're never a girlish 20. There is beauty—enough for any woman—in the blooming forties to do her for another good forty years if she has the good sense to act her maturity and keep it groomed and trimmed down to the last notch. But there is nothing more futile, more puerile than trying to be a flapper on mature wings.

GEN. SUMMERALL GIVES PRAISE TO NATIONAL GUARD

Reviews Illinois Troops at Camp Today.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—The quality of commissioned leadership in the National Guard was described as of unusually high caliber today by Gen. Charles P. Summerall, army chief of staff, prior to his departure for Rockford, Ill., where he will review the 33d division at Camp Grant tomorrow.

Gen. Summerall said inspection trips and study of the records of the various division commanders and other commissioned officers disclosed that the control of National Guard affairs was on the whole in the hands of unusually efficient and capable officers.

All but One Saw Line Service.

An analysis of the records of the seventeen division commanders in the present National Guard establishment reveals that fourteen served at the front during the world war and that twelve were cited for the qualities of leadership exhibited under war conditions.

All but two were overseas during the war. With but one exception all of the major generals commanding the seventeen active guard divisions saw service in the line, either with the infantry, cavalry, or artillery, prior to their appointment. All seventeen have been federally recognized and hold both National Guard and reserve commissions.

The need for a high quality of leadership is revealed by war department plans for future emergencies, which contemplate that National Guard organizations should be able to move at peace strength for the field of operations within three days after general mobilization is ordered.

Most Commanders Experienced.

The command of National Guard divisions is almost wholly in the hands of division commanders who began their military career in the National Guard or who entered the state militia following the world war. Maj. Gen. Ephraim G. Peyton, in command of the 30th division, holds a commission in the regular army. Two others, Maj. Gen. William N. Haskell, in command of the 27th division, and Maj. Gen. Quincy H. Gillmore, commanding the 44th division, graduated from West Point, but later resigned from the regular establishment.

Of the seventeen division commanders fifteen had all line experience prior to appointment to command divisions. Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn, commanding the Illinois National Guard division, the 33d, rose to the rank of division commander without previous service in the line. Before his appointment he had served as a major and lieutenant colonel in the judge advocate general's department of the Illinois guard.

The three division commanders with regular army experience prior to the world war were line officers. Of the fourteen who began their peacetime service in the National Guard, either before or after the war, thirteen had line experience, although one served several years in an administrative rather than a line capacity.

Twelve Won Decorations.

Qualities of leadership exhibited on the field of battle won decorations for twelve of the fourteen division commanders who served in the A. E. F. Maj. Gen. William G. Price, assigned to the 28th division, won the distinguished service medal while commanding the 53d field artillery brigade. His citation states that he "proved himself a tactical leader of extraordinary ability" and commanded his brigade "with marked distinction."

Maj. Gen. Peyton, commanding the 30th division, composed of troops from Georgia, Tennessee, North Carolina, and South Carolina, was awarded the distinguished service medal for displaying "a high order of leadership and superb qualities as a commander" while commanding officer of the 320th infantry, 80th division. He was gassed in October, 1918.

Maj. Gen. William N. Haskell, 27th division commander, wears the distinguished service medal and has decorations awarded by the Rumanian, Polish, Grecian, and French governments. His D. S. M. citation states that he rendered "exceptionally meritorious service during the organization of the second army and in the operations north of Toul."

Maj. Gen. Alfred E. Foote, commanding the 26th Massachusetts division, who began his army career as a private in the National Guard, wears French and American decorations. He saw service at San Juan, at the siege of Santiago, at Apremont, the Champagne-Marne defensive, the Aisne-Marne offensive, and in the Meuse-Argonne.

Maj. Gen. John A. Hulen of the 36th Texas division participated in the Philippine insurrection and the world war. He was awarded the distinguished service medal.

33D DIVISION ROUTS "ENEMY" IN MIMIC WAR

Gen. Summerall to Review Guardsmen Today.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

Camp Grant, Ill., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—The mythical enemy which had menaced this region was reported fleeing in confusion this noon after the 10,000 troops of the 33d division, Illinois National guard, had met the invaders and driven them back.

Having won the victory, the guardsmen marched back to camp and celebrated this afternoon and evening with a polo game, boxing contest, track meets, and baseball games. Tomorrow they will wind up their two weeks' encampment with a review of the division by Gen. Charles P. Summerall, chief of staff of the United States army.

Planes Bomb Camp of Foe.

The invading "red army" had attained an advantage over the defending blue army [33d division] during the night. Then the planes of the defenders discovered the camp of the reds and dropped bombs which, the umpires decided, caused heavy casualties.

When the blues marched out in the morning their infantry steadily drove back the enemy troops, while their cavalry raided the flanks of the invaders and their airplanes bombarded them from the skies. The artillery units poured a heavy fire into the enemy ranks. More than 123,000 rounds of blank ammunition were fired in this engagement, and the countryside rocked to the booming of the cannon.

Everson Praises Division.

Maj. Gen. William G. Everson, chief of the militia bureau of the United States army, and James Simpson of Chicago witnessed the engagement. Maj. Gen. Everson later addressed the headquarters staff of the division.

"We at Washington," he said, "regard the Illinois National Guard as a well trained and equipped unit. Our plans, in time of emergency, are based upon the assumption that these 10,000 troops can be mobilized and ready for the field in three days."

Among the guests who will attend the review tomorrow, according to an announcement at headquarters, are Rear Admiral W. S. Crosley, commandant of the Great Lakes Naval Training station; Maj. Gen. Milton J. Foreman, Samuel Insull, Lawrence Whiting, George F. Getz, William N. Pelouze, Judge George Fred Rush, Lieut. Gov. Sterling, S. E. Thomason, Anton J. Cermak, James Hamilton Lewis, Brig. Gen. John V. Clinnin, State Senator James J. Barbour, Col. A. A. Sprague, and former Gov. Edward F. Dunne.

JACK SHARKEY'S MANAGERS ACCEPT CARNERA BOUT

AGREE TO FIGHT IN CHICAGO ON SEPTEMBER 29

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 13.—Jack Sharkey's managers, Jack Conway and John Buckley, late tonight accepted terms of Promoter Mique Malloy to fight Primo Carnera in Chicago on Sept. 29. The agreement came at a time when it appeared negotiations had fallen through. Conway and Buckley had conferred with Malloy early in the day and couldn't get together on terms. Meanwhile Frank Bruen, manager of Madison Square Carden corporation, invited Sharkey's co-pilots to his office to discuss a bout with Vittorio Compolo under the garden's auspices.

Bruen kept the fight managers in his quarters until 10 o'clock tonight, less than an hour before they were scheduled to return to Boston. But Malloy was on the job. He met them at the station and persuaded them to renew negotiations for the Chicago match.

The terms, as announced by Malloy, will be a $100,000 guarantee to Sharkey with a privilege of 30 per cent of the gate. Malloy convinced Conway and Buckley that he had enough financial support in Chicago to handle the bout.

HOW IT'S DONE

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 13.—The business of arranging a heavyweight prize fight is a good deal like my conception of the nomination of a machine candidate for governor or President. A lot of practical men, mostly fat men, gather in a hotel room. A kid brings chairs. Another kid comes in with mineral water and cigarets. A couple of pints appear, with fake revenue stamps on the bottle necks.

One fat man says, "This any good?" And another says, "Sure. Shake it. See them bubbles? That's Oke."

"Bubbles don't mean nothin'," says some one. "You can make them bubbles with a few drops of liquid soap. That don't look good to me. Label's all crooked. But don't let me interfere."

However, those who are going to drink pour drinks and down them with the reckless fatalism of the modern drinker, and those who don't drink take water.

Then to business.

Malloy Opens Negotiations.

Today it was Mique Malloy of Chicago who was trying to close a deal with the managers of Jack Sharkey for a Sharkey-Carnera fight in Chicago. The fighters were nowhere around. Sharkey was fishing in New Hampshire. Carnera was in Chicago. The business men of the prize fight trade believe this fight would draw $750,000 in Chicago. Carnera's four managers had accepted the match for 33 per cent of the net receipts, provided, however, that Sharkey's terms should be no better.

John Buckley, a fat man with a red face, and Jack Conway, a medium thick man, had come down from Boston to negotiate for Sharkey. Conway's interests are curiously mixed. He holds some sort of job on the sport staff of a Boston newspaper, but he is not a newspaper man in the recognized sence. He is also some sort of lawyer, and, always, he is co-manager of Sharkey, with Buckley.

Sharkey had been invited to fight some one, either Willie Stribling or Vittorio Compolo, for the Garden firm and had demanded $100,000.

Buckley Boosts Demands.

The Garden had refused to guarantee him any such sum; so Malloy had offered him $100,000, guaranteed, or 33 per cent of the net receipts, to fight Carnera.

But today when the boys got together in the hotel room, Buckley said, well, this was a different matter and they would have to get $125,000, guaranteed, with an option on 30 per cent of the net.

In the meantime, a block away, Pa Stribling, just back from Europe, was stopping around for some work for his boy Will. His boy Will is the support of a numerous clan of Striblings and Pa looks after Will's business. Pa talked for some time with Will Carey, the president of the Garden firm, and then walked over to the hotel where the boys were trying to get together on the Sharkey-Carnera fight.

After several hours, the door of the hotel room opened and Buckley and Conway said they were going out for a walk. Malloy's offer had been raised to $125,000 guaranteed, or 30 per cent, one or the other, but not with the option of either. They had to make a choice in advance.

Go to See Carey.

They walked straight down to Will Carey's office at the Garden about the same time that Pa Stribling walked into the hotel room from the Garden. Pa said he would like to take the work for his boy Will, but there was something wrong with Will's left hand and anyway Will wouldn't land back in the U. S. A. for a few days yet and he wouldn't care to close any match

BRITISH-YANKEE MEET.

AN EVENT soon is to be held in Chicago which deserves public support, not alone because it will be a good show in itself but also because it has an international character, and furthermore is purposed to arouse renewed interest in track and field sports locally. That event is the British Empire-United States track and field meet to be held at Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 27.

The Wake is not familiar with performances of all the Britons who will be chosen after the empire games at Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 16-23. We know Lord Burghley, hurdle champion, and Percy Williams, Olympic sprinter, will be among the invaders, with the remainder of the squad drawn from athletes coming from all parts of the British empire. It may be assumed it will be a formidable aggregation.

That the strongest team Britain could muster will vanquish our American track and field performers The Wake may be excused for doubting. It has been Yankee custom to win Olympic track and field meets in the past, even when held in distant climes. Sometimes that has been largely through force of numbers. In the coming meet we will have not only numbers to choose from but home environment as well.

American representatives will be selected from the A. A. U. champions in the contests at Pittsburgh, Aug. 22-25. That insures a good squad, the best in the country now in training.

So whatever the result of team championship, spectators at Soldiers' field will see many of the world's greatest track and field performers. That the games are held at night no doubt will contribute materially to the attendance.

LIPTON YACHT ENDS LONG TRIP TO U. S. SHORES

New London, Conn., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—Shamrock V., Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger for the America's cup, dropped anchor just opposite the Old Fort in the harbor here this afternoon at 4:50 o'clock, completing a long voyage across the Atlantic in quest of the international yachting trophy.

The yacht Erin, which convoyed the challenger, towed the Shamrock into the harbor after it had reached the entrance about 5:30 o'clock.

A huge crowd gathered at the waterfront to greet the Lipton boat and the harbor was dotted with sailing and motor craft of all descriptions. Two airplanes zooming overhead saluted the British yacht.

AUDREY GRUBBS KEEPS NATIONAL ARCHERY CROWN

Hoogerhyde Leading in Men's Division.

Drawing bows for two days at Grant park with leading feminine exponents of the longbow, Mrs. Grubbs duplicated her brilliant shooting of last year and won first honors in the annual tournament of the National Archery association. Her total for the double national rounds was 127-631 and for the double American, 143-965.

Mrs. Elizabeth Rounseville of Pinehurst, N. C., big game hunter, placed second and Miss Dorothy Druggan of Connecticut captured third place. All three shot brilliantly, but Mrs. Grubbs was the most spectacular.

Miss Hunt Has Perfect Score.

Miss Betty Gene Hunt, winner of the intermediate girls' round, shot the only perfect score made so far, placing six arrows within the gold. Her total of 74 hits and 462 points was enough to outscore Miss Kathleen Thornton of Los Angeles, junior champion last year.

Russell Hoogerhyde, Michigan champion from Coldwater, won the double York shoot and took a commanding lead in the men's national tournament, which will be concluded today with a double American round. Two of the leading contenders for the men's championship, Capt. Cassius Stiles and Lieut. Fidelis Harrer, were aviators during the world war, fighting on opposite sides of the line. Lieut. Harrer served in the German army, while Capt. Stiles was in the American air service. Yesterday these two were shooting at the same target, friendly enemies. Harrer, Chicago champion, is making a determined bid as representative of the Lincoln Park Archery club.

Another interesting sidelight is the participation of Homer S. Taylor, champion in 1882, who is here this year, at the age of 79, "not to win but to contest."

Case Leads Boys' Division.

Roy Case of Racine, Wis., by winning the double Hereford round for intermediate boys, became a favorite to win the national title in this division. Harris Palmer, young Chicago entrant, was close behind the leader and still in the running.

The tournament will continue today and tomorrow at the Grant park range, just north of the Field museum.

LOOKS EASY, BUT—

Johnson Ill

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—Just before the start of the Washington-Chicago White Sox game today, Manager Walter Johnson of the Senators was taken ill and sent to his home. Officials reported the indisposition was slight and that Johnson, who has been under a strain since the death of Mrs. Johnson a fortnight ago, would resume his managerial rôle soon.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13.—This was just another day in the lives of the oppressed White Sox. They tried hard enough, but were in arrears at the conclusion of the afternoon's labors against the Senators, 7 to 4, and as a result slid back to seventh place. The game ceased to be a battle after the first two innings, during which the hostiles made themselves comfortable with a five run lead off Garland Braxton and Dutch Henry.

One thing the Sox did remarkably well was to avoid scoring, despite a great amount of hitting. In the first six chapters they turned loose nine hits against Irving Hadley and yet no runs crossed the plate. They collected 14 hits during the game, as compared to the Senators' 11. The Chicagoans finally counted four times in the seventh.

Caraway and Jones will toil in the third of the set tomorrow.

Senators Score Two in First.

Braxton probably figures that he was lucky to escape with only two runs against him in the first inning. Myer led off with a hit. Rice also singled. Manuah doubled past third base and both runners scooted home. After Cronin's infield out Kuhel drew a pass, but Braxton pulled himself together and retired the next two batters.

The Senators needed only two hits in the second inning to add three runs to their total. Spencer opened the round with the first of the two hits. Hadley tried to bunt and the ball went into Braxton's hand on the fly. Myer scratched a single to Kerr. A pass to Rice filled the bases. Braxton was so worried about Manuah that he couldn't get the ball over the plate and Manuah walked, forcing Spencer to score. Henry, the man of many defeats, relieved Braxton at this stage. He walked Cronin, thus letting Myer score. Rice carried home the third run of the round while Kuhel was forcing Cronin.

Henry then managed to get along without being scored on for a couple of innings, but in the fifth the Senators got a run. A pass to Bluege started this slight disturbance. He stole second and went to third on Hadley's wallop, which hit Henry on the shins and bounced straight back into foul territory between home and first base. Myer followed with a sacrifice fly on which Bluege romped home.

Kerr Starts Sox Rally.

A single by Kerr put the Sox on the trail of four runs in the seventh. Watwood also hit safely, but was forced by Barnes. Jolley hit a two base drive down the left field line, Kerr and Barnes scoring. Kamm, who was in the game because Bill Cissell had to go away after disturbing Umpire Nallin with some uncomplimentary language, then doubled to right and Jolley registered. A bad relay of the return throw on Myer's part let Kamm go to third, whence he tallied on an infield out.

Thomas appeared in the rôle of pitcher in the eighth, and Washington pushed home another run on a triple by Myer and a double by Rice.

BROWN WISDOM FOOLS 'EM AGAIN; 2D TO 23-1 SHOT

BY FRENCH LANE.

Brown Wisdom may be a great horse, but surely he is the most inconsistent fellow running on the American turf.

Last Saturday he won a $25,000 stake at Hawthorne and ran like a champion. Dropped into a $2,000 overnight affair yesterday and backed so stoutly that he was a 7 to 10 shot, he folded up in the last strides and let Martinique, at 23 to 1 in the betting, beat him home by a neck.

This happened after Brown Wisdom had been in front all the way. During most of the journey his stablemate, My Dandy, was just a head back of him. Mantinique, which sported the white, black, and red jacket of Johnson N. Camden of Kentucky, was next to last as the field rounded the lower bend. Only Display was behind her, and Display was showing signs of a rally.

Martinique Wins Going Away.

Coming down the stretch Brown Wisdom was a length in front. My Dandy was quitting badly. Then came the great rally of Martinique which carried her past Brown Wisdom a sixteenth of a mile from the finish. She was increasing her advantage at the end under Jockey M. Rose's fine ride. Islam was up to be third. Cog Air finished fourth, Display fifth, and My Dandy was last in the small field.

There was a nine minute delay at the post caused by the old rogue, Display. And when the start finally came it was one of the worst Morrisey has made here this season. Display was standing crosswise in his stall when the barrier lifted. He came out of it running sideways. He didn't get into good stride until the field hit the clubhouse turn. Then he was so far back he didn't have a chance to overhaul the leaders, although he moved up with his old time determination on the last turn, and was running fast near the end. By that time, however, four of the others were so far in front of him he didn't have a chance to catch up.

It is possible the weight package of 124 pounds and the long delay at the post stopped Brown Wisdom. But it shouldn't stop a horse that can win a $25,000 stake.

Depeso Rides Three Winners.

Martinique ran the mile and a sixteenth in 1:44 2-5, after Brown Wisdom had carried him over the first mile in 1:37 4-5. The mutuel price on Martinique was $48.58 to win, $10.46 to place, and $4.68 to show. Brown Wisdom paid $2.40 to place and $2.16 to show. Islam was at $3.04 to show.

It was a great afternoon for Jockey Depeso, a 90 pound apprentice lad who hails from Chicago. He won three races, starting with King Kelly, a 33 to 1 shot, in the second race. He came back in the third and won by a wide margin on the favorite, Taddywawa. His third victory was in the fifth race at a mile and a sixteenth when he got Searington, another long shot, up in time to beat Ormonbird by a neck, with Suitor third. In the betting Searington paid $18.98.

FIVE PITCHERS UNABLE TO STOP HERMAN ET AL.

Wilson Hits Fortieth Home Run.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Our Cubs still are in first place, .595 to .593, but goodness how they are smarting from the lacerations they received in yesterday's encounter with the Brooklyn Robins! The brutal visitors had no mercy whatsoever, as testified by the staggering score—15 to 5.

In this humiliating fashion came an end to the Chicagoans' chain of four straight over the Flatbushers. And thus the handsome run of six straight victories acquired in the last week was broken. There was no solace in the fact it was only the fifth victory the Robins have scored in 17 games with the Cubs this season.

There was only one bit of balm for the 38,000 spectators who jammed the stands in the vain hope they would see a masterpiece similar to the Cubs' 3 to 2 eleven inning triumph of Tuesday. They got to see Hack Wilson smack his 40th home run of the year, a noteworthy sight even in so dark a moment, for never before has Hack socked 40 homers in one season. And he has 43 more games in which to make four more homers to set a new National league record.

Five Throwers Toll.

Yesterday's collapse was due to poor pitching. Five McCarthy throwers tried their hands, and Bob Osborn, No. 2 on the list, was the only one who had enough to vie with such vicious gents as Uncle Robbie employs. Osborn had to give way to a pinch batter, after which the visitors put Nelson, M. Moss, and Shealy on a merry-go-round for a nine run whirl in the eighth and ninth innings.

Guy Bush, the starting pitcher, went into the contest, it soon developed, with nothing much but a pleasing southern drawl, an affable nature, his uniform, and a drug store glove. This equipment was not sufficient to prevent the Robins from making three doubles and two singles in the third inning, which, coupled with a wild pitch and two bases on balls, produced five runs. The ball game was wrecked right there, although the Wilson homer led to enterprise which for a time deceived the McCarthys into believing they still were contesting the ultimate verdict.

Malone vs. Clark Today.

But today is another day, as the optimists say. The Cubs must win or flop back into second place. And there also is the inspiring menace of the Giants, who yesterday gained a game and now are only three games back and going strong. Pat Malone and Bill Clark will do the pitching today.

Nothing much happened in the first two innings of yesterday's game, so right here's the detail of that distressing Robin third: Frederick opened with one of his specialties, a double to center. He paused while Gilbert flied to Stephenson, but scored when Herman singled to left. Bissonette singled to right and Babe stopped at second. The pair moved up on a wild pitch, and Wright was given an intentional pass, filling the bases. Lopez countered this strategy with a double to left which scored Herman and Bissonette and put Wright on third. Bressler walked, again filling the bases. Moore doubled to left, scoring Wright and Lopez and putting Bressler on third. Osborn relieved Bush. Phelps flied to Wilson and Osborn threw out Frederick.

Double Play Halts Robins.

The Robins made it 6 to 0 in the fourth and seemed in a fair way to make more, when the Cubs executed a double play and narrowly missed a triple killing. Gilbert pushed off with a single and stopped at third on Herman's double. Bissonette walked, filling the bases. Wright sent a sacrifice fly to Cuyler, which scored Gilbert. Grimm cut off Cuyler's throw to the plate and threw the ball to Blair in time to head off Bissonette's attempt to reach second. Blair returned the ball to Grimm to trap the back pedaling Bissonette. At this point Herman started for home, so the play was diverted by Grimm's throw to English and English overtook Herman in the dash for the plate. English made a quick throw back to Grimm and Charley narrowly missed getting Bissonette. Lopez followed with a single, but the inning was over when Farrell threw out Bressler.

It was at the outset of the Cub fourth that Hack Wilson revived the latent interest by driving his homer over the right field screen. It was a low sock, ably designed to cheat the brisk wind that swept across the field from the lake. The shot did not inspire Stephenson and Grimm, who supplied easy infield outs, but Hartnett singled to left and stopped at second when Farrell also singled to left. Osborn singled to deep short, scoring Hartnett. Farrell went to third when Wright made a wide throw to the plate. Blair singled to right center, scoring Farrell and putting Osborn on third.

The Cubs made a run in the seventh to make the score 6 to 4, when Cuyler got around after leading off with a double. But from this point the affair ceased to be a ball game.

With Nelson pitching, the Robins made three runs in the eighth on a double, a walk, two singles, and a sacrifice fly, and in the ninth they made their cluster of six runs off M. Moss and Shealy on four walks and four singles.

SETS NEW BOAT RECORD, BUT IS DENIED TROPHY

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 13.—(AP)—E. G. Koenig of St. Louis, donor of a Mississippi river speed trophy for motorboat races from New Orleans to St. Louis, announced today that Dr. Louis Leroy of Memphis will retain the cup, despite the faster dash of C. N. Mickler of New Orleans.

Mickler established a new time record for the trip in an outboard motorboat this week. Sportsmen who met him here said he had changed his motor and Dr. Leroy protested that this invalidated Mickler's achievement.

Late August Is Best Time for Canoe Camping

BY BOB BECKER.

Late August is a good month for the canoe cruiser and the camper to set up a tent in the north woods and live the back to nature life. Most of the insect pests have disappeared from the woods and the days are hot but nights are cool in the north country.

This assures the right kind of weather for the outdoorsman living in a tent. We found this out a couple of summers ago when we camped on the banks of the Nipigon river. Although the days were typically August as far as temperature was concerned, as soon as night came to the highlands of Ontario, a fire felt good and a bough bed with a sleeping bag was needed at night.

For the August camper we recommend a couple of waterbags to hold the camp's supply of drinking water. Invariably when we have camped and canoed through the north country we haven't had much luck in finding springs. As a matter of fact there aren't a great many in the rocky country that we have visited. Therefore, one must turn to the streams and lakes for drinking water which, if dipped directly from the source of supply isn't as cool as it should be for drinking.

The old fashioned, tried and proven waterbag which permits part of its contents to seep through and evaporate, thus cooling the water inside, is a handy gadget. One can hang up a couple of these filled bags in the breeze and secure cool drinking water without much trouble. On a canoe trip in hot weather we usually hang one of these small bags at the stern so that there will be cool water to quench one's thirst during the hot paddling hours.

Another suggestion for the August camper [this year especially] might be properly given regarding cooking fires. The country is so dry that the camper using a wood fire for cooking purposes had better build a rock fireplace or do his cooking over a trenched fire to reduce the hazard of a timber blaze. Another safety first suggestion is to clear the ground around the cooking "range" so that there will be little or no combustible material on the ground.

Macks Win Third Straight Game from Indians, 7 to 2

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 13.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics won their third straight game from the Cleveland Indians here today, 7 to 2. George Earnshaw held the Indians to eight hits and won his eighteenth game of the season.

Roxie Lawson, rookie right hander from Terre Haute, Ind., made his first big league start for the Indians and was effective until a two base muff by Dick Porter paved the way for two runs in the sixth inning that broke a 1-1 tie. Score:

Larry Johnson Asks Court to Recover Withheld Purse

New York, Aug. 13.—(AP)—Larry Johnson, Negro light heavyweight from Chicago, filed a motion in state Supreme court today for a preemptory mandamus requiring the New York state athletic commission to pay him at once $1,292. He claims the sum has been withheld unwarrantedly from him as part pay for his bout with Pete Latzo at Ebbets field, June 18. The commission ordered half of Johnson's purse withheld when the Negro fouled Latzo. The motion will be heard Thursday by Supreme Court Justice Bernard L. Shientag.

AFTER 2,000 SCORCHING MILES SO GOOD IT SEEMED A "SHAME TO DRAIN!"

During the recent blistering-hot weather, car owners reported using one filling of the New Waxfree Havoline for 1000, 1500, yes, even 2000 miles, and finding it so rich and oily that "it seemed a shame to drain!"

Waxfree Havoline gives you unheard of mileage because it possesses far greater heat resistance than any other summer oil of the same body under extreme motor temperatures. The only 100%-distilled unblended paraffin-base oil refined by the revolutionary Govers Process, it contains no volatile elements to "go up in smoke"; no wax to turn water-thin with heat.

Drain and refill with this great heat-defying oil today. You will note an immediate new smoothness in your engine, a quicker power response that lasts long after an ordinary oil would be worn out. At intervals, if necessary, just add enough to maintain full level. You will cut your oil expense in two—while your engine receives far better lubrication at all temperatures, at all speeds.

MEDALIST LOSES IN FIRST MATCH OF CITY TOURNEY

Andereggen Succumbs, 2 and 1; Thomas Wins.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Match play for the city amateur golf championship began with a jolt yesterday at the Jackson park course, as the first encounter, Al Andereggen, the medalist, was eliminated, 2 and 1, by Ray Patterson, who had finished the qualifying round in 17th place. With the exception of Barney Lucas, matches had hard sledding, but most of them managed to get through. George Thomas, defending champion, won 18 holes before he was able to beat Sammy Samuelson, 2 up. Ted Lloyd, who has been runnerup four times, eliminated Sam Binder, 2 and 1, and Gus Fetz, Illinois state titleholder, finished 2 up on W. R. Anderson.

Hart Takes His Match.

Eddie Hart, the 18 year old player who led the field with a 69 on the first day of the qualifying round, beat George Hilton, manager of the Jackson park course, 5 and 4, while Barney Lucas, semi-finalist in the national public links tournament, was putting out Phil Lubin, 4 and 3.

Patterson's accurate approaching and putting brought about the overthrow of Andereggen. The latter's game was ragged going out, and he took several 5s to reach the turn in 38 and go 3 down.

Shots into the bushes also cost Andereggen the eleventh, but he won the twelfth and fifteen when Patterson's putter failed to work with accuracy. The match ended when the next two were halved.

Thiltges Scores Victory.

Lee Thiltges, who is one of the old timers at Jackson park, and Percy Swanberg, one of the young players of the same course, went through a bitterly fought engagement which ended with Thiltges one up on the seventeenth hole.

Father, Son Win Games in Tribune Golf

Five hundred golfers now are competing the fourth round of THE TRIBUNE'S public links tournament. Most of the matches are closely fought because the system used in making the pairings sends duffers against duffers and experts against experts.

Among the early scores to be received in the fourth round were those of Judge Joseph Sabath and his son, Milton. The judge defeated Erwin Beyer by one stroke while Milton was winning from Martin O'Connor by two strokes.

If you are a contestant, play your part of the match as soon as possible and mail your card to THE TRIBUNE golf editor after writing on it your name and address and that of your opponent. Unless you send it in by Monday you will lose by default.

Fourth round results follow:

SUN MEADOW, 5-1, WINS BY NOSE IN GRAB BAG STAKE

Finishes Fast to Beat Ladder at Saratoga.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 13.—(AP)—The comparatively unknown Sun Meadow, owned by Mrs. Katherine E. Hitt, and pretty much of a minus quantity until his good race in the Saratoga Special back of Jamestown and Equipoise, captured the Grab Bag handicap here today by a nose, and paid 5 to 1. Sun Meadow had to come from far back in a large field to take the prize of $3,450.

Walter J. Salmon's Ladder, the early leader by a big margin, was the second horse, saving the place by a length and a half from Surfboard, the 7 to 2 favorite. Then in order finished Condescend, Blenheim, Seafox, Polydor, Chief John, Sir Ashley, Blind Bowboy, Beau Jolie, and Deedie.

Eddie Watters was up on Sun Meadow and from a slow break he guided his horse like a veteran around and through a good deal of crowding without once having to take back.

The time was 1:12 1-5 for the six furlongs.

Another nose finish occurred when Gifford A. Cochran's Polygamous, beaten a nose in each of his two previous races, had a change of luck and this time finished in front.

Polygamous ran one of his best races to gain his victory in the Wilton purse, for he was off slowly and had to close in at a blazing pace to beat Sun Mission by a nose. Sun Mission only a head in front of Black Majesty, which in turn beat Sarazen by a head

SEEDED PLAYER LOSES IN CULVER TENNIS UPSET

Culver, Ind., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—Charles Hunt, Pacific coast junior champion, upset Jack Cosgrove, his fellow townsman from San Francisco, 7-5, 6-4, in the fourth round of the national junior tennis championships today on the Culver Military academy courts. Cosgrove was seeded three in the draw and was the first of the select men in the junior competition to fall by the wayside.

Both Karl Kamrath, Austin, Tex., seeded one, and Wilmer Hines, Columbia, S. C., the second seeded junior, were forced to the limit to reach the round of eight. Bill Rese of Atlanta extended Kamrath in the first set, but lost, 8-6, 6-1. Bill Doeg, Santa Monica, brother of John Doeg, Davis cup star, made Hines play his best to win, 7-5, 6-3.

Kamrath will meet Donald Morrison, Washington, D. C., southpaw who trimmed Harry Jens, Milwaukee, 6-3, 6-2. Hines will play William Jacobs of Baltimore, western junior champion and national indoor junior titleholder, who outsteadied Bernie Friedman, Philadelphia, 6-2, 6-2. Hunt is paired with Ray Palmer of Long Island, who swept through Eddie Sutter of New Orleans, 6-1, 6-2. In the other bracket James Bobbitt, Pasadena, Cal., will play Kendall Cram of Nashville, Tenn. Cram won from Hal Surface of Kansas City, 1-6, 6-2, 6-1, and Bobbitt eliminated B. F. Kready of Philadelphia, 8-6, 6-1.

WHICHONE MADE CHOICE TO BEAT 'FOX' IN TRAVERS

In the early beeting on the outcome of the Travers stakes, to be run at Saratoga on Saturday, Whichone has been made the favorite to beat Gallant Fox.

There was quite a brisk business among the race players on the outcome of the famous old stake in Chicago last night. Whichone was at 4 to 5. Gallant Fox, which hasn't been beaten this year, was at 6 to 5 despite the victories he has rolled up in the Woods Memorial, Preakness, Kentucky Derby, Dwyer stakes, Belmont stakes, and Arlington Classic.

The only defeat Reigh Count suffered as a 3 year old was in the same Travers, which was won by Petee Wrack.

U. S. TRACK COACH EXPECTS STRONG BID FROM BRITISH

Invaders Pick Talent from Large Territory.

An American triumph in the coming track and field games with the British Empire at Soldiers' field on Aug. 27 is far from being assured in the opinion of Johnny Behr, athletic director of the Illinois Athletic club and one of three coaches appointed to pick Uncle Sam's athletes for the meet.

"Britain, with her vast territories and dominions from which to select men is placed in an advantageous position in the coming meet," Coach Behr pointed out.

English Athletics Improving.

"Athletics in England and her dominions has been constantly improving during the last few years and while I do not mean to convey the impression that we are at the mercy of Britain, I am satisfied that we must steel ourselves for an occasional drubbing from the empire countries in future contests. In the past we merely had to concern ourselves with how great or small our margin of victory would be.

"The British-American meet here," Behr continued, "is something new for the American track public. It is the one chance the British have to slip over a victory on us. We seem predestined to win the six field events, which gives us six points to start with.

"But we must win two of the eight track events or we will be tied or defeated. Judging from the showing made by Empire athletes in their tryouts in Canada this appears at times like an almost impossible task.

Different Than Olympic Games.

"In the Olympic games we could let Percy Williams win the 100 meter dash and still outscore Britain by taking a second or third. But if Williams comes home ahead of Tolan in this meet it is one point for the visitors and nothing for us.

Behr contemplates difficulty in selecting a team. The character of events, all of which are relays, makes it necessary to pick four men for each race. Most of the American runners have been schooled to run individually and may not be able to handle the baton at the exchanges as well as they should.

"In the steeplechase, for instance," he explained, "we have never had a real good man. In the Olympics it has been necessary to make over a distance man who could run 3,000 meters and clear the jumps. We have each Olympic year managed to get one to run the event. This time, however, the event is a relay affair and where we will find four good steeplechasers is a question right now."

BLUES, 5; MUDHENS, 4.

Toledo, O., Aug. 13.—(AP)—Kansas City defeated Toledo, 5 to 4, in the third game of the series today. The winning runs came in the eighth through a walk, triple by McMillan, and sacrifice fly off Nicholson's bat. Jack Scott was charged with the defeat.

SHARKEY BOSSES AGREE TO TERMS FOR FIGHT HERE

Accept Offer to Meet Carnera Sept. 29.

until Will himself were present to say "yes" or "no."

During the hours, a number of other fight managers had been drawn to another room, adjoining the conference room. One of them was Dan Carroll of Boston, an ex-policeman, who went out with the rest of them that time when Calvin Coolidge called out the troops. That strike made both Coolidge and Carroll. Coolidge went to the White House and Carroll became the manager of a young laborer on the Boston fishing wharves named Jimmy Maloney.

Maloney made a lot of money and, of course, Carroll made a lot, too.

Carroll Considers Bid.

Some of the boys poured drinks and the smoke and the talk were growing thick and rank in the room. Bill Duffy, the night club promoter, one of Carnera's managers, sat by in yellow golf knickers, blue stockings and a dark blue polo shirt.

"Well," Mr. Malloy said to Carroll, "it looks like them dirty Boston burglars have went right down to Carey's store to do a little shopping. They give me their word they're coming right back as soon as they telephone Sharkey. Do you want this work?"

"How much?" said Mr. Carroll, sighting down a walking stick.

"Give you $25,000," said Malicy.

"I like to work on percentage," said Carroll. "Anyway, Maloney's got a bum back. He grounded a speed boat on a shoal and had to swim a mile and hurt his back. And, I say, I like percentage myself."

"No; no percentage; straight $25,000," said Malloy.

"I'll wait," Mr. Carroll said. "You'll come back to me."

Swiderski Is Offered.

Solly Harris, a little bookmaker, fight manager, and tourist, teetered on the arm of a chair. He had the only room with bath in Shelby, Mont., at the Dempsey-Gibbons fight some years ago. Solly nudged a big, square built man with gray temples and a gray countenance, saying, "Why don't you take him, Harry?"

"I'll fight you, Bill," Harry said, sweetly, to Mr. Duffy.

"With who?"

"Why, with Swiderski! My Paul bars nobody," the big square-built man was chewing gum rapidly and, as he chewed, his temples swelled and his straw hat bobbed.

It began to grow dark outside. The boxing writers brushed the ashes off their vests, made a few final notes on old envelopes, and left by ones and twos.

Mr. Duffy, Mr. Carroll and Pa Stribling went down together. "Them burglars will come back to me," Mr. Malloy said. "Carnera's the card and I've got him. They can't get no hundred thousand fightin' anybody else. Don't anybody want a drink?"

MORE CONFIDENT NOW OF EARLY TRADE UPTURN

Better Days Coming, Is Prediction.

While there is little concrete evidence to show that business is on the mend, it is pointed out in the August issue of the Chicago Tribune Survey that sentiment has grown more confident in the last month about an early improvement.

"The psychological improvement was shown," it says, "by the tone of the press and the periodic letters of the business forecasting agencies which have veered around to the belief that better days are coming—some say soon—and by that weather vane of business feeling, the stock market."

The Survey thinks that the extent of the summer lull is not ground for astonishment. "In quiet years," it says, "business in the off seasons is off more. In hectic years business in the off seasons is off less."

Cites General Belief.

Summarizing conditions the review says: "Although July business was very quiet, business sentiment has been growing more confident during the month. There is a general belief that the bottom has been passed and a turn for the better will come fairly soon. Steel operations have been low, but rail and pipe orders have picked up. Many of the automobile factories were shut down for vacations, and the output is expected to be very small during the month. Building contracts during July did not hold the June gain, and were considerably lower than in any July of recent years. Permits in Chicago showed a gain over June."

The drought and the resulting crop damage has been instrumental in postponing the recovery of the steel business from the midsummer stagnation, according to Iron Age's weekly review of the steel industry.

"Steel production for the country at large is not above 52 per cent this week, compared with 54 per cent a week ago," it says. "With the major part of automobile production centered on low priced cars, for which there is ordinarily a large market in rural communities, the outlook for retail sales is clouded.

"Can manufacturers already face the possibility of smaller packs of vegetable crops, and moderate holdups of tin plate shipments have brought a decline to 60 per cent in the output of this product from an average slightly above that figure a week ago. Wire fencing and galvanized sheets are adversely affected."

Building Boosts Orders.

Building construction in the Chicago area is contributing to larger bookings of structural steel, with an increasing tonnage of pending work, the review finds. Another encouraging feature is that farm machinery manufacturers are ordering steel a little more freely at Chicago as the result of export orders which have been received by some of the companies.

A further reduction in the composite prices of the Iron Age brings that for steel to 2.156 cents a pound and of pig iron to $16.88 a gross ton. The pig iron composite is the lowest since 1915.

Statistics released yesterday by the department of commerce show that while the shrinkage in United States foreign trade during June was the most apparent in American-European commerce the greatest relative decline was in the South American trade.

Off $30,000,000 in June.

Imports and exports to Europe were approximately $30,000,000 less than in June, 1929. American imports from Asia dropped off about $34,000,000 during the month. South American exports declined from $49,646,172 in June, 1929, to $27,635,856 in June, 1930, while imports from the same continent dropped from $50,749,479 to $35,553,553.

HEAR CANADIAN POOL MAY DROP COARSE GRAINS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 13.—Banks have decided to finance the Canadian wheat pool's 1930 crop, but will fix the amount of the initial payment the pool will pay its members for wheat delivered.

Based on October wheat at $1.02 at Liverpool today, this makes wheat worth 86 cents at Fort William.

In western Canada the price would drop another 10 cents, making it 76 cents on prairies for Canada's No. 1 northern wheat, the best grown in this country. The pool promised members 70 cents a bushel a month ago, but before the pool can get the necessary bank advances the initial payment must drop to 65 cents a bushel, it is stated.

All governments in the west and the federal government support the banks' stand. Sound business only must govern the pool's orderly marketing policy in the future, the banks and governments declared today. Pool officers and directors are meeting in Winnipeg tonight and the result of deliberations may be that the pool will drop marketing the coarse grains—oats, barley, and rye—from its farmers so that members may sell on open market and get what they can.

[Moffett Photo.]

A better margin of profit on the business handled enabled the United States Gypsum company to show a gain in net earnings for the first half of its fiscal year ended June 30 over the corresponding period of 1929. Net profits for the six months amounted to $2,891,750, compared with $2,513,948 in the first six months last year.

In his report President Sewell L. Avery points out that the gain was made in the face of a substantial reduction in the volume of construction. The report, he said, reflected the results of better prices and low costs.

Equals $2.24 a Share.

Net income for the period is equivalent to $2.24 a share on the 1,170,370 shares of common stock outstanding compared with $2.70 per share on 765,027 shares outstanding in the first half of 1929. On the basis of the June 30, 1929, capitalization the earnings for the first half of 1930 would be equivalent to $3.43 a share.

The consolidated balance sheet as of June 30 shows total current assets of $16,550,813 and total current liabilities of $1,621,617, compared with $15,545,293 and $10,008,746, respectively, on June 30, 1929.

Surplus resulting from the issuance of capital stock amounted to $697,209. The net increase in surplus after distribution of dividends was $2,291,041, as against $1,638,879 in the 1929 period. Surplus on June 30 stood at $33,075,805, compared with $28,832,152 on June 30, 1929. The balance sheet shows net working capital increased to $14,929,195 from $11,528,697. Net worth was placed at $64,526,945 and total assets at $77,755,890.

AUTO PRICE CUTTING GAINS MOMENTUM WITH HUDSON SLASHES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 13.—Price cutting in the automobile industry gained momentum today with an announcement from the Hudson Motor Car company of reductions on Hudson and Essex models to the lowest prices ever quoted for these cars.

At the same time Wall street heard other manufacturers were considering further downward revisions in line with price declines in commodities and other items. The Ford company was mentioned as one of the leading producers which might join in marking down prices.

General Motors has announced sharp cuts in Oakland and Pontiac models and a smaller reduction on Chevrolets, with the suggestions that other lines might be altered.

INSULL DENIES UTILITY COMBINE REPORT FROM N. Y.

Reports received from New York that the Insull interests are planning to combine the utilities companies serving Chicago and surrounding territories were characterized here last night by Samuel Insull as "absolute rubbish."

"There is absolutely no truth in the story," Mr. Insull declared. "We have never considered any such plan and I do not contemplate that we will. The report is absolute rubbish."

The New York dispatch said that reports in Wall street yesterday were to the effect that the Insull group would combine the Commonwealth Edison company, Peoples Gas, Light and Coke company and the Public Service company of Northern Illinois and had been acquiring additional blocks of stock in the three companies preliminary to the transaction. Combined assets of all three companies amounted to $758,000,000 at the end of 1929.

BULLS IN GRAIN PLUCK PROFITS; PRICES DECLINE

Corn Off Around 4c from Early High.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Eleventh hour bulls in wheat and corn started to liquidate recent purchases of futures yesterday and found the markets poorly supported, causing a break of 3¾@4c in wheat and 3½@4c in corn from the early high. Many local longs also went out of their lines during the day and the undertone was heavy a good part of the session, a break of 4c in wheat in Winnipeg adding to the uncertainty.

Press reports indicating that the Canadian banks and the government were not giving full hearted support to the pool in their efforts to advance 70c per bu to the members for No. 1 northern wheat delivered at Fort William or Port Arthur had considerable effect on sentiment and tended to restrict buying of wheat. The status of the coarse grain pool is in doubt.

Europe Buys Winter Wheat.

There was nothing in the general run of the news to account for the selling movement in wheat other than the uncertainty and the relative weakness in Winnipeg. The latter closed 3¼@3¾c lower for the day, with October there off 1¾c as compared with Chicago September in the last two days. Net losses on the Chicago Board of Trade were 2⅝@2⅝c, with September finishing at 88⅝c@88¾c; December, 94⅛@94¼c; March, 98¾@98⅞c, and May, $1.01¾@1.02.

Harvesting of wheat is well under way in the Canadian northwest and the pending movement is commencing to make itself felt in the futures market. Foreign news was decidedly bullish and Europe was credited with taking 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 bu wheat from North America, largely hard winters. The latter are quoted somewhat under Manitobas, which some operators felt explained the relative weakness in Winnipeg, as they claim it is essential that the Canadian grain move abroad in heavy volume.

See Smaller French Crop.

A French wheat crop of around 180,000,000 bu, or 40 per cent less than an average, and around 200,000,000 bu under the private estimate on last year's yield, is estimated, and there is increasing talk of a reduction in the excessive import duties of a number of the leading European countries due to the smaller crops than in 1929. Wet weather prevailed over a good part of western Europe, which is delaying harvesting and causing a reduction in quality. Liverpool closed ⅞d lower for the day.

Wheat prices in Chicago have closed lower for six consecutive days with a decline of around 8c per bu during that period, and are now the lowest since Aug. 2. Omaha and Kansas City offered hard winter wheat to come here in round lots within ¼@½c of buyers' views, but no sales

Midget Golf Courses Now Becoming Business Factor

BY SCRUTATOR.

The little acorns that grow into big oaks are nowise more remarkable than the idea, first developed in Tennessee by an innkeeper, that little golf courses could be made to pay.

The word little is used here because almost all other synonyms meaning small seem to have been appropriated and trademarked by various companies making equipment for such courses.

In the Chicago area growth of the putting links has occurred within a year. There are no official figures on the number of them, as no licenses have as yet been required. The most dependable estimates, made by men in the business, are that 600 have been installed within forty miles of the loop in that time.

Absorb Capital, Labor.

Cost of installation runs from $2,500 up, exceeding $3,500 for many courses. If the estimates are anywhere near correct, a million and a half dollars has been spent in installations around Chicago and with a normal split of the income labor would have obtained nearly a million dollars from the courses before they were played on.

In addition operating expense absorbs a considerable amount of labor. A minimum of four employés is set for a well patronized establishment; a manager, assistant manager, and two groundkeepers. In the aggregate that would mean nearly 2,500 wage earners employed during the playing season, or as many as would be found usually in city of 12,000 to 15,000 population.

Linked in Chain.

Managers often are owners, buying their installations from manufacturers. One organization, however, conducts two dozen on the chain principle. The inventor of one set of devices recently was reported to have sold his patent rights for $200,000. A representative of an operating company asserts that the purchases of putting clubs for a time created an acute shortage of them in this section.

A surprising number of people play over these courses. Statistics of their income are vague. It is claimed that some take in up to $150 or more a day, others range to $40, or even lower. Some undoubtedly have been failures as money makers.

Their future is uncertain. Legislation to regulate them is projected. They are not a tremendous factor financially, but probably are serious competitors of motion picture theaters. Their present popularity signifies at least that there is no shortage of spending money for amusement. That is as true of the dry rural belt as of Chicago.

Attend Opening.

An item in a small town paper related the other day that 500 people had attended the opening of the town's first course. That community incidentally, was so drought beset that its drinking and bathing water was being shipped a distance of twenty miles in railroad cars.

One of the remarkable things about the present low state of business is that it has been accompanied by a great deal of prosperous business for amusement enterprises. Three large amusement companies listed in the stock markets showed increases of 45 per cent in their profits for the first half of 1930, compared to the same period in 1929. Evidence points to pay scales as having within them about 15 per cent that is available for recreational purchases, even in these times.

SHIPMENTS OF GOLD TO FRANCE ARE RESUMED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 13.—Gold shipments to France were resumed today after a lull of a week with a consignment of $3,000,000 by Lazard Freres going forward on the Europa tonight. This makes the total outflow $70,500,000 on the present movement, but offsetting imports have aggregated more than $15,000,000, making the net loss since the middle of July, when the export movement started, about $55,000,000.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 13.—The stock market braced up in the late trading today after some thirty or more of its active issues had been beaten down to new low price levels for the year under fresh bear onslaughts.

Recoveries were general and in some sections quite vigorous, with the result that closing prices were irregularly higher all along the line. United States Steel replaced an early loss with a net gain of 2⅝ points. American Can came from behind to register a net advance of nearly 4 points. Consolidated Gas scored a 2 point gain after dipping more than a point under last night's closing level, and Radio rebounded more than a point above the dividing line.

Gains among the more volatile shares ranged as high as 5 and 6 points.

In Face of Bad News.

The improvement was made in the face of a series of unfavorable developments, including continued pessimistic reports on the crop outlook, further cuts in automobile prices, and an all-round "blue" summary of conditions in the steel industry as given in the weekly steel trade reviews. There is no doubt that speculative sentiment was just as pessimistic as ever, but the bear side is becoming a bit overcrowded, due in part to the lack of any extensive liquidation to facilitate a short covering movement.

The late afternoon rally was led by Steel common, which has offered stalwart resistance to all efforts to break it, much to the embarrassment of the bear faction. Sturdy support was forthcoming for Consolidated Gas, "big

ENGLAND'S JULY TRADE' FIGURES SHOW DECLINES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 13.—All industries in England, with the exception of automobiles, are still skidding downward, the official trade figures for July reveal. There was a slight improvement over June, but the unfavorable trade balance is growing worse, with the basic industries of the country wading in deeper water.

The adverse balance for July is more than $132,100,000 and for seven months exceeds $1,076,000,000. Imports for July show a fall of approximately $8,250,000 and exports reveal a decline of more than $85,000,000.

Steel, textiles, and coal are all sliding. The slump in exports of manufactured textiles accounts in part for the decrease in the imports of raw materials.

CHICAGO STOCKS AMBLE ALONG TO UNEVEN FINISH

Day's Thrills Provided by Foote Bros. Gear.

Another irregular finish occurred on the Chicago stock exchange yesterday, with rather more stocks selling off than making gains.

However, there were few changes of any importance and in view of conditions the market might be said to have been fairly firm at the close. As the closing time approached prices tended to improve. Trading was moderate and the day's turnover totaled 262,000 shares.

Foote Brothers Gear provided a sensation, taking to itself the interest that has been centering on Majestic Household since last week. Shortly after the opening the stock slipped 4½ points to 5 as heavy selling developed. On receiving reports of the low, President W. C. Davis of the company issued a statement in which he said that the financial condition of the concern was good; that business during the last four weeks has been better than during the same period last year, and that for the last six months business has been conducted on approximately the same level as last year.

Higher at Close.

After this statement the price improved and just before the close the price was boosted to 11, a gain of 1¾, on important buying orders. Interests back of the issue attributed the break to present market conditions, and stated that the six months' report now being prepared by the company will be favorable.

Majestic Household gained 2¾ to close at 47½ on a turnover of 35,000 shares. An official of the company stated that the firm's new electrical icebox is now in production and distribution is scheduled to start the middle of next week. He stated that the output will be at the rate of 1,000 iceboxes a day with the start of shipping, and this is to be increased to 2,000 daily.

Auburn in the automotives was up 2 points, while Bendix gained ¼. Borg Warner and Cord sustained fractional losses, and Noblitt Sparks was off 1 point.

Insull issues were improved over Tuesday's market. Middle West and Insull Utility each gained ½ point in fairly active trading. Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line picked up 2¼, to finish at 20⅝. North American Light and Power gained 1¼.

Increases Budget.

The Associated Telephone Utilities system increased its 1930 construction budget for service extensions and improvements 40 per cent to a total of $7,000,000, according to Marshall E. Sampsell, president of the company.

Air Reduction Company, Inc., following a meeting of its directors, announced it has incorporated in Texas a subsidiary under the name of the Magnolia Airco Gas Products company. The latter company has acquired the assets and business of the Magnolia Gas Products company with oxygen and acetylene plants in Texas cities.

Super Maid, in the general list, was off 3 points at 11, and Bastian Blessing slipped 2 points to 34. Jefferson Electric lost 1½ points. Hall Printing gained 1 point.

The governing committee of the stock exchange approved fer new listing first lien collateral gold bonds of the Dominion Gas and Electric company and common stock of the Southern Gas Utilities company. Additional issues approved were issues of the American Commonwealth Power corporation, the Middle West Utilities company, the Midland United company, Q. R. S.-De Vry corporation, and the National Family Stores, Inc.

NEW YORK CURB CHANGES

Chicago Curb exchange issues behaved in an irregular fashion yesterday, with declines somewhat overshadowing the upward changes. Though the drops were moderate in most cases new low ground for the year was reached by Walgreen, American Superpower, and Detroit Aircraft.

BULLS IN GRAIN PLUCK PROFITS; PRICES DECLINE

were claimed. Cash handlers expect that there will be liberal purchases made before long, much depending on the elevator storage room situation.

Corn Traders Ignore Drought.

The corn market paid little or no attention to the continued reports of drought over the corn belt and steady deterioration in the crop outlook as shown by the government weekly weather crop summary. Highest prices of the day were made shortly after the opening, while the finish was within a fraction of the bottom with net losses of 2¼@2¾c. September closing at 96⅛@96⅜c; December, 91¾@91⅞c; March, 94c, and May, 96c.

Commission houses were inclined to press the selling side on all the minor upturns, and the pressure of long grain caused local bulls to act with caution. The forecast suggested show ers over part of the belt, but the only moisture of consequence received Tuesday night was in Missouri. Crop Expert B. W. Snow, after a trip into central Illinois, found the crop badly damaged, with many fields where ears were so small or completely missing that the final yield will represent only a small fraction of a crop.

Statistician R. O. Cronwell, with Lamson Bros. & Co., figures that the shortage in feed grains and hay this season is equal to 622,000,000 bu corn compared with 1923, and with a shortage of 670,000,000 bu as compared with the 5 year average. In his opinion there is only 75 per cent as much old corn in all positions at the present time as there was a year ago.

Oats Sell Lower.

Northwestern hedging pressure, liquidation by longs and uncertainly as to the Canadian pool position in coarse grains resulted in a break of 1⅝@ 2¼c in oats with the September finishing at 38⅝c, and December at 42¼ @42⅝c. Commission houses bought on scale orders.

A cargo of 250,000 bu Duluth rye has been bought by a Chicago cash house to come here, and there was talk of another cargo being worked. Northwestern houses were hedging cash grain in Chicago, and support in futures came mainly from shorts. Final trades were at losses of 2⅝@ 3c, with September finishing at 58⅛c and December at 64⅛c.

PIT NOTES

Eastern and western holders of wheat and corn were said to be well out of their lines and possibly some of them short of wheat at the close. There were a few wheat traders, however, who bought on the closing break regarding the decline sufficient for the time being. News regarding the Canadian pool is exerting an important influence in wheat and until uncertainty as to its position Winnipeg news is expected to be important in swaying wheat prices in all big markets.

A Paris cable to J. S. Bache & Co. said that French crops are declining daily, with rainy weather interfering with harvesting.

Old timers say that around 40 years ago there was a fair business in barley futures, but that it gradually died out. Recently a few trades in December barley have been made here.

BUTTER AND EGGS

Butter futures scored a sharp advance on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday. Trading again exceeded the 300 car mark. November storage standards opened ⅝c higher and advanced to 41⅛c, and closed at the top with a gain of ⅝c, prices being at a new high for the summer. Egg futures held steady, the statistical information containing both bearish and bullish items. November refrigerator standards closed at 28¾c. The government storage report, showing 6,000,000 lbs less butter on hand Aug. 1 than on the same date last year, was the principal bullish factor behind the day's advance, in addition the four principal storage markets showed 14,000 lbs less butter moved into storage than a year ago, while the Land o' Lakes Creameries reported the make to be 10 per cent under a year ago and 25 per cent under a week ago. Sales: Butter, 303 cars; eggs, 43 cars. Receipts: Butter, 4,753 tubs; eggs, 8,434 cases. Prices follow:

CASH·GRAIN NEWS

Country offerings of all grain to arrive have fallen off sharply as the result of the decline in prices, with local handlers buying 5,000 bu wheat, 38,000 bu corn, and 5,000 bu oats yesterday. Charters were made for 75,000 bu oats to Buffalo. Shipping sales were 10,000 bu wheat, 115,000 bu corn, and 62,000 bu oats.

A big export business was put through in hard winters overnight and yesterday with sales in all positions estimated at 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 bu, including some Canadian durum and Manitobas. The basis at the gulf on No. 1 hard advanced ¼@½c with last half August quoted at 5½c over Chicago September with first half September 6c over. At Omaha No. 1 hard sold at 9c under Chicago September, the basis there being ½c higher as compared with the future. St. Louis basis on red winter was easy.
